FOREWORD . .

O record on the pages of history in a manner worthy of our Alma Mater, her progress during the college year of 1921-22, to put into these pages something of the spirit of Lehigh, to strengthen the bond of fellowship among Lehigh's sons and thereby strengthen the ties which bind us to Lehigh, to crystallize the pleasures of college life, to keep alive the precious memories and intimate friendships of our college days; this has been our trust. We present our attempt at its fulfillment.

To the memory of

Charles Lewis Taylor

a man true to the ideals of Highest Manhood;

a citizen ever ready to do his duty for his country;

a faithful and true Alumnus of Lehigh —

ever devoted to the task of bettering his Alma Mater,

We respectfully dedicate this volume of the EPITOME

Charles Lewis Taylor, '76

Born April 3, 1857. Died February 3, 1922

HE University was greatly shocked and grieved last February when it learned that Charles L. Taylor, '76, friend of the University and students, had died at his home in Santa Barbara, California.

Mr. Taylor was born in Philadelphia on April 3, 1857. He was the son of John D. and Sarah Potts (Rutter) Taylor. He entered Lehigh University in 1872 and was graduated in 1876 with the degree of Engineer of Mines. He made a brilliant record while here in college as was evidenced by the fact that he was awarded the Wilbur Scholarship, which is given annually to the student having the highest rank in the Sophomore Class.

Immediately after graduation from the University, Mr. Taylor secured work with the Cambria Iron Company, of Johnstown, Pa. Later, he assumed a position with the Bessemer Steel Company and then moved from this company to employment with the following companies: The Continental Tube Works, The Hartman Steel Company, Carnegie, Phipps and Company, and the Carnegie Steel Company, all of Pittsburgh, Pa., where Mr. Taylor made his home.

Mr. Taylor retired from active business in 1901, and after that devoted his time and energy to philanthropic work. He was president of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission since its foundation in April, 1904, and Chairman of the Carnegie Relief Fund.

Mr. Taylor was always an active alumnus of Lehigh. He was Secretary and Treasurer of the Alumni Association from 1877 to 1880; President of the Association, 1881-1882; Honorary Alumnus Trustee, 1882-1886, 1887-1895; and Trustee of the University from 1905 until his death.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Engineering was conferred on Mr. Taylor by Lehigh University in 1919.

Although Lehigh University has lost a loyal and true friend in "Charlie" Taylor, many long days will pass before he will go out of the memory of the college authorities and the members of the student body who had the pleasure of being here when "Charlie" made his visits. The students will fondly recall his frequent trips to his Alma Mater. They will long remember that jovial laugh, that cheery smile and that hearty greeting which was always present, no matter where "Charlie" was.

"Charlie" Taylor expressed his love for his Alma Mater in more ways than one. His greatest material gift was the donation of Taylor Gymnasium and Taylor Field. It was through his efforts, too, that Taylor Hall was erected. Andrew Carnegie, in donating the dormitory, did so with the agreement that the building would be named after his business associate and life-long friend.

But beyond and above all of these material evidences, "Charlie" Taylor has left us an intangible something—an ideal toward which we aspire—the vision of a true Man. His death involves a loss to industrial, educational and philanthropic circles, for he was at once, engineer, educator and public benefactor. To Lehigh, however, he will always be remembered as just plain "Charlie" Taylor—Man of Lehigh.

Our New President

THE editors of the "Epitome" take great pleasure in presenting to the student body and friends of the institution the new president of Lehigh University, Dr. Charles Russ Richards.

Dr. Richards comes to Lehigh to fill a gap which has been open for almost two years, caused by the resignation of Dr. Henry S. Drinker as president of the University. Since that time, the Board of Trustees has been on the lookout for a man to ably fill Dr. Drinker's place. After so long a time, the Trustees feel that they have secured the right man in Dr. Richards.

Dr. Richards, at the time of his election, was holding the offices of Dean of the College of Engineering of the University of Illinois and Director of the Engineering Experiment Station at the same University. After a career of over thirty years of instructing and executive work, Dean Richards comes to Lehigh as a man capable to assume such a large task as our University presents. Dean Richards has an enviable record for distinguished services in the educational and technical worlds and his knowledge gained in the past should enable him to be of greater value to Lehigh.

Dean Richards was born at Clarksville, Indiana, on March 23, 1871. After receiving the usual preliminary education, he entered Purdue University in 1886. He graduated from this University in 1890 with a degree of Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering. The following year he received the degree of Mechanical Engineering from the same institution, and in 1895, the Master's degree in Mechanical Engineering from Cornell University. In 1920, the University of Nebraska conferred on him the degree of Doctor of Engineering.

He was an Instructor in Mechanical Engineering in the Colorado Agricultural College during the year, 1891-1892. From 1892 to 1911, he taught at the University of Nebraska, holding successively the positions of Adjutant Professor of Manual Training, Professor of Practical Mechanics, Professor of Mechanical Engineering, Associate Dean of the Industrial College and Dean of the College of Engineering.

In 1911, Dr. Richards went to the University of Illinois, where he has held in succession the positions of Professor of Mechanical Engineering, Acting Dean of the College of Engineering, and Dean of the College of Engineering and Director of the Engineering Experiment Station.

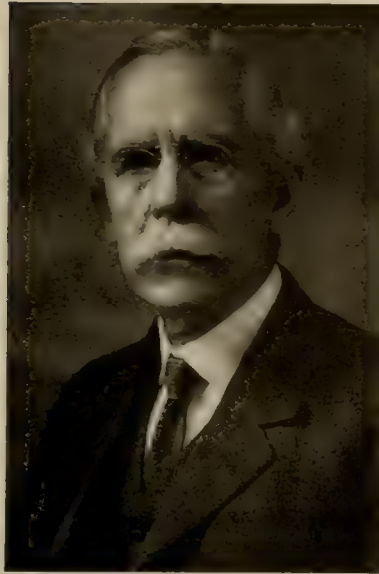

He is a member of numerous societies including The American Society of Mechanical Engineers, of which he held the position of Manager from 1918 to 1921; The Western Society of Engineers; The Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education; Sigma Xi, Tau Beta Pi, Sigma Tau and Sigma Chi.

President-elect Richards will take charge of the University next September and his assuming of the office will be greatly welcomed by the college at large.

On behalf of the student body, the editors of the "Epitome" welcome Dr. Richards into his new office with an assurance of whole-hearted co-operation in his efforts to better Lehigh.

Class History

It was upon the memorable 15th of September, 1918, that a straggling gang of young aspirants to knowledge climbed up upon the breast of old South Mountain and amid the gathering war clouds and the murmuring of armies being assembled for the Grand Squeeze originated the renowned Class of 1922. To get to the point briefly, our band of warriors paid their tuition.

To say that the first few months were the hardest would be no exaggeration, for the army took full possession and the "dear old place," as we girls say, became a military camp. Every morning the sound of the bugle called our class with the older and more experienced warriors to the table for chow and then to the books for a tedious few hours, made all the more terrifying because there had been little or no chance for preparing them. This ended, finally, in December, after the horrors of a devastating epidemic of the fluenza, during which several members of the class succumbed to the attack of the dread disease.

Then began the real college work and our training to the estate of Freshmen. It was a tough road to travel, but one which we now look back upon with delight.

The next year we were full-fledged Sophs and with the sense of the importance of that exalted position which they should have, for we were the trainers of youth. It was a glorious sensation to feel that supremacy which we had seen exercised over us the past year. Yet, as in all things, the Class of 1922 used their authority wisely and well and turned out a banner class of Freshmen.

Then came our Junior year and the influx of men from every class who had been unable to complete their courses because of the war. They reinforced the now dwindling ranks and helped nobly to make the class the greatest one in the history of Lehigh. It was now that we began to show our real strength and to make our importance felt in the world which was ours to conquer, and the men of the class did not hesitate to do their best. It was a good best, too.

At last we reached that exalted state which brings with it the mingled emotions of happiness and regret. We were Seniors and endowed with all the dignity of that clan. How we learned to strut across the campus making believe that we were the center of attraction and condescending to speak to those who pleased us. Yet the class never lost that good spirit of good-fellowship and camaraderie that was typical of the time in which it took its origin. No matter what its achievements, there will always be the influence of this to last in the memories of all Lehigh men of this period.

It is all over now and we go forth in the world to do what we were made to do, and no matter what our several lots may be the Class of 1922 will go forth with a praise for the old University and a determination to aid it in all ways possible to continue to do the great work which has been begun. May our prayer always be, "May the Alma Mater continue its glorious way, true to its purpose, firm in its convictions, and with unending success." What more glorious thought could we have for it?

ROY DAWSON ALLEN

Belvidere, N. J.

"Al" "Doc"

M.E.: Mercur Scholarship, '21-'22;
M.E. Society

ROY DAWSON ALLEN, listen, oh, gentle reader, to the strains of the beautiful name. There are things that we allow because they must be, and there are other things that we let live because we like them. The only reason that we let Al live is because his name suggests the harmony of a wound-up alarm clock going off at Three G. M. Then, too, there is his name which accounts for the permission to draw a few more breaths of the air of old South Mountain.

Roy was another one of the loyal rooters of the class who came in with war, uniforms, and other things. He did not make such a bad mistake when he came here, either, as he will tell you, for he thinks that Lehigh is more than a place to get an education. Since he has been here he has been a student getting the best out of his work, but at the same time giving that co-operation to every thing which those who do not actively indulge do not often give. Whenever there is some one needed to root for the team to win, Roy is always there and ready to give his best.

"What Are You Selling."

JOHN DUFFIELD ALRICH

Bethlehem, Pa.

"Johnny"

E.E.

JOHNNY, or John D., was born at Scranton away back in 1900, but having a premonition of Baldy's disgust for Scrantonians, moved to a small town called Easton. While attending Easton High School he heard that Lafayette was a professional sportsman's club and decided to sail up the river in search of a college and the fountain of youth. This latter he found on Fountain Hill and Lehigh University not far away. He entered Lehigh in 1918 with the firm conviction that he could prove to the Mechanical Engineers that the steam locomotive is on its last legs. On this subject and many other subjects he knows all that is to be known and willingly helps his classmates and the professors in their work. Johnny is a famous R. O. T. C. man and his love for the army is rivalled only by his fondness for electric railways. He satisfies his desires by weekly trips to Easton, after which he makes detailed reports on the system. We firmly believe that he will have a great future and we surely wish him the best of luck.

"When do we eat."

WILBUR TRIPPLE BACHMAN

Allentown, Pa.

"Bachy"

Bus. Adm.: Delta Upsilon

OUR little Wilbur is a true native of Allentown. To be sure he has become Americanized to some extent, for who could struggle through Lehigh for four years without getting some ear marks of civilization. Yes, he is almost human now and does almost speak English, although that accent will always accompany him through his trials and tribulations.

Bachy came here in the memorable year of 1918, when the S. A. T. C. held forth as the arbiter of our fate. He survived the strain of that year so well that his father agreed to let him stay if Baldy would. Thanks to his father's religion (that of being a follower of the beloved T. R.), Wilbur stayed in college. The Lord only knows how.

Since he has been here the little Dutchman has made many friends who are always cheered when they hear his merry and very friendly hello with which he salutes all of his inner circle. He is a hard worker for the things that he likes and has aided the band in the past years with faithful service.

"Now I Ask You."

FRED ELLIOTT BAILEY

Cazenovia, N. Y.

"Bill"

Naval Eng.; Class Relay 1, 2; Track 1, 2, 3, 4; Relay Team 2; Wrestling Squad 1, 2, 4; Arcadia 3, 4; Naval Society 3, 4; Phi Gamma Delta.

THOSE of us who know Bill best are always glad of the day when he packed his grip out in the wilds of Cazenovia, secured his passport, and munched his way to Lehigh with his dog-team.

Bill came to Lehigh with the idea that he wanted to be a Mechanical Engineer, but was soon convinced of his folly and changed his course to Naval Engineering, in which he has been much happier. His scholastic record is good as his list of student activities. He has had a place on the track team for four years and is a mean man to handle on the mat. In addition to which he has helped the Arcadia over the rough spots for two years and helped push the Naval Society into prominence.

Bill is a hard worker and a "regular fellow," and if you ever decide to build anything marine, from a port-hole to a port, get him to design it—then you'll know it's right.

"Well, I'll be dog-goned!"

SETH KEENEY BEATTY

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"S. K."

Bus. Adm.; Cotillon; Scimitar; Swimming Squad (1); Mustard and Cheese (1); Freshman Banquet Committee; Phi Delta Theta.

SCOTCH? Yes, indeed, through and through, bottled and bonded. All he needs is kilts. He likes La Parisienne, Vanity Fair, and House and Garden, dreams of a mud pond back in the hills of Pennsylvania, and his one ambition is to see Baldy in a pair of kilts. He does not sing, go to the gym, or pass up a "red head."

Seth came breezing in, sea legs and all, on the last train in the month of September, 1918, from the salt and brine of the New England Coast. His little heart beat as carefree as a new-born babe's and his only worries were "me notes" and "me hours." However, he battled nobly onward overcoming every obstacle except Math. When he gets the ink-smeared skin he intends to devote a year writing a treatise on Plane Trig and Solid Geometry, which will enable Bus. Adm. students to design spherical pool tables, shakeless salt shakers and similar things.

"Hot Damn."

HERMANN CHARLES BEECKEL

Philadelphia, Pa.

"Dutch" "Heine"

E.M.; President of Mining and Geological Society; Lacrosse.

ONE warm September day in 1918, an empty coal car from Philadelphia jolted our Heine from its depths. Seeing a procession of bright-eyed lads ascending the hill, he followed them, out of mere curiosity, and before he knew what it was all about found himself registered, little knowing what was in store for him. The hard, hard expression of his face made questions unnecessary and he was put in the Mining Course without further ado.

Once in his Sophomore year he was attracted by the sight of a spirited battle taking place in Taylor field. Seizing a battle axe from a vanquished warrior, he rushed madly into the fray and from that time he has remained an addict to lacrosse—the game without rules.

Since then Hermie's life has been a continual turmoil. He stirred up everything he could find around here, including all current disease germs. Looking for many other places of conquest he even ventured as far north as Montreal, and we have suspicion that it was not because it was the one interesting place after July 1, 1919.

"Got any makins? Donky!"

PAUL FREDERICK BENZ

Haledon, N. J.

"Blitzen"

Ch.E.; Ch.E. Society

HERE we have old man determination himself. His Freshman year was in 1911, and after a lapse of eight years he joined our class in 1919, showing evidence of good judgment. To look at this wise old Senior now it is hard for us to realize that he was once a cute, curly-headed Freshman timorously entertaining the fresh Sophomore. Now he deplors the laxity of our hazing and delights to tell what the real stuff was way back in his Freshman year. His greatest ambition is to get his "Dip" and he stoutly maintains that it is a priceless thing and worth any sacrifice to obtain, whence his relinquishing a good job of "Head Chemist" to come back as a student with us. Math proved a difficult obstacle in his path and he avers that this colossal monster kept him from joining the present edition of the Colie and Mealys.

He intends to go back into the chemical field as an engineer and prove to everybody the value of a college education and show its "Worth While." He carries with him our best wishes for success in reward for his hard work at school.

JOSEPH LIGHT BOLTZ

Lebanon, Pa.

"Joe"

N.E.; Class Baseball 1, 2; Band 2, 3, 4; Arcadia, Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Naval Eng. Society; Lacrosse 3

ALTHOUGH "Joe" or "Rosey", as he is sometimes called, hails from the seaport of Lebanon, Pa., where everybody is Dutch, including Joe himself, he can be distinguished from the rest of the Dutchmen by the fact that he isn't dumb. He came to Lehigh to study Naval Engineering, but he also came with the ability to jazz a trombone and use a shotgun, so that while he has gone to Germany and Mexico and sought knowledge of ships otherwise, it is a question whether he would not rather have spent the time in hunting rabbits or entertaining with his trombone.

Joe naturally became a member of the University band and owing to the fact that he was the most capable man in the band at tormenting the director was elected president of the trombone union, an organization which did much toward keeping up the morale of the band. As to Joe's pleasure and ability in hunting we might state that if the professors were game and in season we would be relieved of all our troubles.

"Judas Priest."

WILLIAM LLOYD BOWLER
Glenside, Pa.

"Bill"

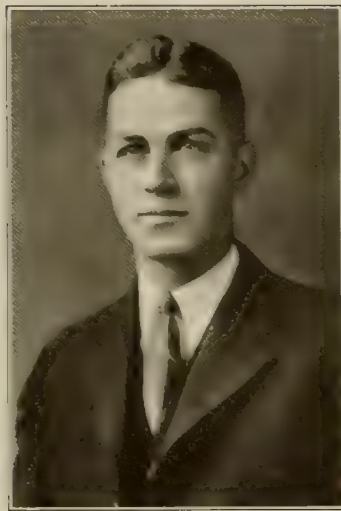

M.E.: Track Squad (1, 2); Glee Club;
M.E. Society

TYPICAL suburbanite from Glenside stepped upon our Campus one bright morning in September, 1918. How to get his work and at the same time to have a good time has always been to Bill a most perplexing problem. No matter how busy he may be with work he is always ready for a session on the practical subject of Nothing. William is always prepared with time and talk.

One of the principle rules for governing student conduct has been proposed by Bill and this is the way it runs—do not let business interfere with pleasure. In spite of his apparent ability to stick to the rule we know that Bill can produce the goods when he wants to. As for ingenuity along mechanical lines—just look at his room. Everything from heat turbines to electric lights and everything automatic.

Bill takes big salaries and he believes that salesmanship is the proper road to financial success. "Anything with the proper line behind it can be sold." With that motto we believe one of our class will find himself climbing the ladder of success before many years roll by.

"Isn't that the berries."

WARREN BREWER
Newton Center, Mass.

"Brookie"

N.E.: Cotillion; Soccer Team (1, 2, 3, 4); Captain (4); Lacrosse Squad; Naval Society; Delta Tau Delta.

BOSEY suggested at the first faculty meeting four years ago that all of the doorways in the University be made one foot higher in order that the new Freshman, Mr. Warren Brewer, from Boss-ton, be able to pass through with ease. But Thorny, as usual, put the kibosh on that.

We cannot learn much of the time prior to his entrance into Lehigh except that he comes from Newton Center, Mass., but in the past four years we have seen Brookie in constant action. For four cold winters he has guarded the goal for the soccer team and as captain this last year came within an ace of turning out a championship eleven. At least he beat Lafayette.

He is one man who wised up to Baldy and after two years of Business he swam over to Chapman and joined his clan of Navals.

We must not fail to add a note about Warren's affection and high admiration for those of the opposite sex, not a snake by any means, but a well-known figure at all the biggest social functions, again along the Atlantic Coast.

"Oh shucks."

GRANVILLE MARTIN BRUMBAUGH
Washington, D. C.

"Brummie"

E.E.; Chairman Freshman Dance Committee; Football Squad (1, 2); Mustard and Cheese (1, 2, 3, 4); Epitome Board; Burr Board (2, 3, 4); Class Vice-President (2); Sergeant-at-arms (4); Junior Prom Committee; Interfraternity Council; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (4); Founder's Day Sports (1, 2); Treasurer E.E. Society (3); Vice-President (4); Cyanide; Phi Delta Theta.

STAND aside, fair ones, and let the sun-beams play upon his school-boy face. How the hair curls in joyous ecstasy and how them eyes roll in—well, they roll and roll and never turn a crap. Coming from the sublime to the ridiculous, we are forced to admit that this specimen started life as a baby on the shores of the Potomac River.

Martin is the kind who makes them all look and say: "And, mother, Granville is just the dandiest fellow," etc. Yes, Brummie is the berries when entertaining the weaker sex, but he is even better with the gang. When things get dull and everyone gets tired of everyone else they call in Brummie and things brighten up immediately. He is a good, true friend and a willing worker. What more could you ask?

"Wha-ta-hell."

DONALD MOYER BUSH
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Dm"

Ch.E.; Track Squad (1); Varsity Lacrosse (3, 4); Inkwell; Chemical Society; Tau Beta Pi; Alpha Chi Rho.

ON the wintry night of December 24th, 1899, Dinny rushed up to the wire, beating Santa Claus by a good three hours in the Christmas Handicap and leaving Father Time over seven days behind in the marathon for the Twentieth Century. Quakertown held its head high and, indeed, why not? Was it not the place of nativity of a future genius of the black art of Chemistry? One whose name would cause the bravest atoms and the most bulky molecules to shrink into some strong solution lest he dessicate them with a single withering glance. Quakertown, however, could hold him but a scant two years when Glenside, one of Philadelphia's beautiful suburban villas and commuters' paradise, claimed him. He has found time to wave a very savage lacrosse stick on two championship teams and also to shuffle and clinch with the leaders in the intricate and devious twists of the modern dances on many a hardwood floor.

"Indubitably."

MAURICE BRUNSTEIN
Atlantic City, N. J.

"Maury"

Ch.E.

MAURICE hails from the city of ocean breezes, but it was no ill wind that blew him into our midst in the fall of 1918. Maury was some little Frosh and green enough to wear white trousers to his first reception. Nevertheless, the experiences and trials common to every yearling soon showed him the ins and outs of old Lehigh and it is perforce admitted that Bruno has profited wisely. He has made many friends and judging from their number and sex we are inclined to credit his statement that the hidden treasure of Bethlehem is easily opened to him who knows the magic password.

We could dwell at great length upon the escapades of our class-mate in his hours of play, but we must not convey the impression that he lacks a serious side to his nature. It is true that we shall always remember him as a good mixer and a light-hearted companion in our hours of playful outburst, yet we who know him recognize in Brun a man of excellent abilities, capable of making his way in any walk of life.

"Oh I know HER."

CLINTON GRIER CARPENTER
Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Brick"

Ch.E.; Chem. Society; Freshmen Football; Glee Club (2, 3); Interfraternity Council (3); Lacrosse Squad (3); Cotillion Club; Chi Phi.

CHE fair countenance of this prodigy first appeared in these parts in the fall of '17, at which time he entered in the Class of '21. His chief handicaps were his Brooklyn accent and a fondness for the study of liquids, chiefly dark-brown ones.

At the beginning of his Sophomore year, he laid aside the symbols of knowledge to don the khaki of Uncle Sam. After a short but eventful stay at Camp Gordon, he returned to college, but after a few months left, with the consent of the Faculty, until the following fall, when he re-entered as a member of the Class of '22. Since then, he has been in Bethlehem, summer as well as winter, striving for the cherished "dip."

"Brick" has always been right in the midst of things around college. College activities have been his first consideration and studies next. However, his lucky stars and congenial nature have pulled him through in spite of the Faculty's best or worst efforts.

"Try and get it!"

JAMES STARK CAREY
Harrisburg, Pa.

"Big Jim" "Neo"

Ch.E.; Chemical Society; Sophomore
Cotillion; Delta Tau Delta.

WR. LEHIGH has known lots of men and not a few from Harrisburg, but one like Toad Carey is as rare as a pterodactyl at the Colly. The man of mystery, always shrouded in a veil of secrecy, wears a face which appears that the thoughts that it hides are no less remote than the moon.

Jim has found the course in Ch.E. rather interesting in the past five years, but claims that the star performer in Dr. Ullman's Bahai Band is the man from India, whose card tricks are the talk of the hour. This strange attraction may be laid to similar habits of speech—slow, regulated, and—oh, so dry. Shades of Mumm's.

These qualities are but a very few minor details of those that go to make Big Jim the man that he is. Always a friend, ready to serve, slow to anger, and ever loyal is the real character of Jim. These things will cause us who know him well to try in vain to fill the place that he leaves in the inner circle of our friends.

"Judas Priest."

TSUNG FA CHEN
Chang-sha, China

"Tom"

E.M.; Soccer Squad (2); Secretary, Chinese Students' Club (4); E.M. Society.

HAVING been graduated from the Tsing Hua College and finding himself in possession of the coveted scholarship, with tears of joy in his eyes, Chen bade farewell to his folk and started off to America. He entered Lehigh in the fall of 1918, resolved to make the most of his great opportunity.

Though sometimes a bit too exact and rather slow in his peculiar oriental way, Chen is a conscientious worker and manages to get what he is after, be it a back-sight in the dark drifts of Carbon-dale or a place on the soccer team. Despite his drowsy Eastern look, Chen is both a student and an athlete.

With all these qualities we expect some day to find Chen a director of the Bureau of Mines of China, or perhaps chief engineer of the Bethlehem Steel Company, should he decide to remain here a little longer. When Chen does go back we may be sure that the home town will be getting a prize citizen.

"Oh, Ya. I think so."

HENRY CARROLL
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Heinie"

M.E.; Freshman, Sophomore, Junior Hours.

LITTLE did the old Class of 1900 know of the honor that one family in Bethlehem had conferred upon Lehigh in their time in that famous year when Heinie first attempted to kick and succeeded. His rapid stride soon carried him through all the preliminaries and brought him to Lehigh as verdant as a Frosh as the green grass. Nothing stopped him here, either, due to the fact that until his Senior year he did not know what a cop was and left his noble pate open to the kind administration of nature. In his Senior year he deigned to come down among the mortals and wear a headgear. This throws the dope off and nobody knows how he holds his old place.

Studies are not the only things that he eats up. He is the greatest exponent of handball in college and it is also said he packs a wicked left and right. It is our personal opinion that Heinie has stolen stock in a chewing gum concern, for when we feel the need of working our jaws Heinie usually has the "mak-in's." The greatest treat that can be had in Bill Hall is to see his smiling countenance.

"Hello."

LEE HEICHER COLEMAN
Steelton, Pa.

"Rabbit" "Mouse"

M.E.; Varsity Football (1, 2, 3, 4); Varsity Basket-ball (3, 4); Cotillion; Junior Athletic Rep.; Phi Delta Theta

FOURTEEN different phone calls a day for different engagements with "Rabbit" for the evening, yet this little wonder never misses a first hour or a meal. His bright eyes are quick to discern the difference between the better and the worse. Now these accomplishments borne up by a pair of curved legs, which he claims were derived from riding horse-back while he was real young, have led him merrily on in his chase for an M.E. degree, and we all know that when he starts he sure can get there.

Now, from what has been said of his frivolous nature, you wouldn't think he amounted to very much but there you are mistaken, for he has played on the football and basket-ball teams for four years.

Better than this he is a hale fellow, well met and always a true and sincere friend to have around at any time. Any man that can live down the reputation of coming from Steelton has the goods and we hand it to the blonde with the convincing line.

"What's happening to-day?"

AARON JACOBS COHEN

Trenton, N. J.

"Zust"

C.E.; Wrestling

ONE stormy night in the long dim distant past the loyal sons of Mr. Lehigh's army were gathered together in consultation to discuss a decisive victory of the S. A. T. C. on old South Mountain. After the smoke of battle had lifted, it was discovered that a prodigal of Trenton was among those present (hence the consultation). How he came no one knows, but since he was there and already knew the secret facts, it was decided to allow him to stay, providing he did not wander from the "Thorny Trail."

During his stay here, "Zust" was fully initiated into the select "Colly" membership, and has often tripped the light fantastic brogue. His favorite car is the Easton Limited. Oft on stilly nights he used it as a means of seeking diversion other than monotonous. His wrestling career enabled him to acquire several intricate holds, which have been very beneficial in parlor etiquette.

"Zust's" pleasing personality have won him a wide circle of close friends, who wish him all the luck in his future career. We know that he will succeed and expect to hear big things of him in the near future.

"What do you have for to-morrow?"

COLGATE CRAIG

Montclair, N. J.

"Coley"

Ch.E.; Ch.E. Society; Mustard and Cheese (2); Cotillion; Scimitar; Chi Phi.

IN the fall of 1918, a little fair-haired boy named "Coley" Craig, from Montclair, was seen to get off the train at Bethlehem; he had to get off as his carfare had given out. He arrived just in time to do justice to his share of the "rigors and hardships" of army life—in the S. A. T. C.

During his sojourn in Bethlehem, "Coley" has managed to keep busy; although not necessarily along scholastic lines. For some reason he never seems to have anything important to do on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings and is seen wending his solitary way down town. After which he is not solitary for very long. He is a very handy man to have around, as he has a bevy of fair ones at his beck and call, and can arrange dates at a few minutes' notice.

"Coley" has not definitely decided just what he is going to do when he leaves the valley, although it will be along chemical lines, and his friends predict that with his pleasing personality and his ability he will make a success of whatever he chooses to follow.

"Check, let's go."

SAMUEL COTTRELL

Washington, D. C.

"Sam" "Reds"

Ch.E.; Lacrosse Squad (1); Wrestling Squad (1); Rifle Team, (2, 3); Student Officer R. O. T. C. (2, 3); Section Chief (3); Dormitory Chief (3); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (4); President Chemical Society (4); Arcadia (4)

T was back in 1917 that Bethlehem witnessed a strong southern wind carrying something toward Lehigh.

It was thought at first to be autumn leaves, but later was believed to be the entrance of Sam into Lehigh. Reds tried several courses but liked the sound of dishes in the Ch.E. best. Being fond of playing soldier, Sam joined the Lehigh army and worked his way to the very top before he left it. Reds enjoys everything active, including wading. Sam was one of the first to get the rifle team started and also has shown his pep by the way he handled the Ch.E. Society. Reds can always be depended upon to do his part and his word is that of the true Lehigh man.

"Holy Smokin' K. Moses."

ROY LESTER CULLER

Mechanicsburg, Pa.

"Les"

M. E.; Wrestling Squad (2); M.E. Society; President, Lehigh-Maryland Club (4).

O doubt, to counteract the effect of the Spanish War, we note that our friend "Les" was born on the 28th of November, 1898. We are also glad to state that he has lasted much longer than the war. Harborton, Va. (wherever that may be) had one thing at least to be thankful for on Thanksgiving in 1898, as you may guess from the above.

Most of us who remember Lester's first appearance here at Lehigh have long since departed. However, this long period of connection with old South Mountain has not been due to lack of scholastic ability as along this line he is hard to beat. While studying to be a greasy Mechanical, Les was engaged in various other pursuits, varying from the efficient dispatching of coffee at "Jake Ecks," to selling the best barrels of beverage on the road. In addition to his ability along the above lines, his skill in "manoeuvring" with his many fair Bethlehem friends is not to be passed over lightly.

"Read some more questions."

JAMES COALTER CRAWFORD, JR.
Mount Vernon, N. Y.

"Sam" "J.C." "Shorty"

E.M.; Cotillion Club; Mandolin Club (2, 3, 4); Mining Society; Sigma Phi Epsilon.

HAIL to "Sam"! Long may he live! But soon forget the many broken hearts he leaves behind him. Sam took up wrestling for one season and with this as the ground work, he soon became known in other lines of activities. His decisions of or about any girl were often asked and his advice followed because all knew that he was well versed in this line.

The vision of his tall and slender structure, immaculately garbed in the latest that fashion demands will no longer decorate the campus because Sam will soon leave to take up his residence in the grime and dirt of the miners.

But not only was he a tall and shining light in social affairs, his ability as a student was also very marked. He could grasp any subject with ease and then explain it with equal ability to any of us who were not equally blessed with his great mental ability. The future now looms up before us but we feel sure it will not be long until he is well started up the ladder of success and that his name will soon be among the chosen few of brilliant and successful engineers.

"I think I'll get a date to-night!"

CHARLES TAYLOR DEATS
Flemington, N. J.

"Thermo"

E.E.

HLTROUGH born very young, this youth did not attract much attention until about the age of three, when loud noises were heard in the hallway of his home. Upon investigation, it was found that he was breaking up the telephone with his father's tennis racket. This was the budding of genius and since then he has learned to swing a mean racket and has done untold damage to the electrical course. Charlie next came into prominence when he was found drawing a saw over the rungs of the parlor chairs, in evident great glee at the noises produced. His father took the hint and bought him a violin.

One day he visited the Flemington High School and somehow managed to get hold of a signed diploma which he promptly filled in with his own name. Armed with this he approached Lehigh and entered with the Class of 1921, but soon took a vacation to help win the war. Returning after a year he signed with the Class of 1922, and now you see him a full-fledged E.E., a man of his word, and a worker for the best interests of his Alma Mater. His efforts at remodelling a heat engine's course won for him the name Thermo.

"How come."

ELLIOTT FOSTER DANIELS

Jersey City, N. J.

"El" "Dan"

E.E.

DAN," as we call him, first entered this peaceful community as a finished product of Jersey City, Stevens School and Clason Military Academy of New York. He decided to show Souse Bedlam and Bill Esty that he could devour everything that came his way and still live to get his sheepskin. He has lived up to his resolutions so well that his opinions are very much appreciated by all with whom he comes in contact. As he has the "last word" in all technical subjects, so also is his the "last word" in all other forms of argumentation.

Besides being a good student, he is very fond of having a good time. He visits the Colly very frequently, and is a firm believer in dancing purely for the pleasure of shaking his dogs. Dan has never been able to agree with Volstead and hopes on the completion of his college career to spend the remainder of his life where amendments will not be proposed.

We are sure that Dan will enjoy this life if he succeeds in getting the last word. E.E. seems to suit him to a T, and we have no doubt that he will succeed in life as well as have a good time.

"Woof-woof women!"

GODOFREDO MORAES deMENEZES

Aracaju, Sergipe, Brazil

"Godo"

C.E.; Soccer Team (1, 2, 3, 4); C.E. Society; Latin-American Club; Sigma Phi Epsilon.

IN the fall of 1913, Godo came to Lehigh and enrolled in the Civil Engineering course, in order to be able to go back to Brazil and build highways. At the end of five months of "Learning the ropes of Bethlehem," he returned to Brazil. During the five years spent in Brazil before re-entering Lehigh, he entered the bonds of matrimony. He was very active in his first two years, being one of the founders of the Latin-American Club and also of the Soccer Association, which is now the soccer team.

His popularity increased with the number of years. He is a good fellow, as his many friends will verify. Although not a prohibitionist, he has always been able to do justice to the "Indian Fire Water."

We hope that when Godo returns to Brazil, he will be successful in all his undertakings and may his troubles all be "little ones."

"Anybody wants to play a couple hands of bridge,"

ELMER FRANCIS DeTURK

Reading, Pa.

"Turk"

E.E.; Mandolin Club; Glee Club; Acadia; E.E. Society; President (4); Mercur Scholarship; Tau Beta Pi.

READING is famous for its cough-drops and its pretzels, but that is not all. Its future history will contain a new page, for it was from this much-heralded city in the eventful autumn of 1918 that there burst forth into our midst—well, anyway, he got here. If we had known who was coming we might have named him better, but crashing in as he did with a rush and a hurry we had to act fast to get him stopped, and so we just called him Turk.

But you cannot hold a good man long and that is the reason that Turk soon tore loose and broke away to the leadership of the E.E. Class. Being full of flux and phases, he next proceeded to conquer the E.E. Department, and thus another illustrious electrical has been added to Lehigh's record.

Turk's success at Lehigh is due to his faithful and untiring efforts to do things right. He never starts anything that he cannot finish, but always finishes all that he starts. It goes without saying that he is bound to be a success in life.

"That 'a Schtuff."

DANIEL BENJAMIN DIMMIG

East Greenville, Pa.

"Dan"

E.M.; Mustard and Cheese (2, 3, 4); Stage Manager (3); Phi Sigma Kappa.

DAN was born August 4, 1899, in the slumbering village of East Greenville, Pa. He received careful training by his parents in a manner typical of all country youths. After he had acquired all of the knowledge that the East Greenville schools could afford and that was limited due to the fact that Pennsylvania Dutch is so unexpressive, he entered the Perkio-men School.

Fresh and green, he entered the Chemical Engineering course at Lehigh in the fall of 1917, but he soon dispensed with his country training, learned to speak English and acquired the name of Dirty Dan. In his Sophomore year, being now a man of the world, he proceeded to conduct himself as such men do (not) and was accordingly informed by the faculty that he could use his time to better advantage elsewhere.

He returned to his Alma Mater and by hard work and strict attendance to classes regained the confidence of the faculty and that year passed in all of his subjects. Second only to Dan's love of the ladies is his fondness for an argument.

"Don't be assinine."

KENNETH McINTIRE DOWNES
Harrisburg, Pa.

"Ken"

Met.: Brown and White Board (2, 3, 4); Editor of Y. M. C. A. Handbook (4); Secretary Press Club (4); Pi Delta Epsilon; Mandolin Club (1, 3); Business Manager Musical Clubs (3); Chemical Society; Dance Committee (1); Band (4); President Met. Society (4); Mustard and Cheese (1, 2, 3, 4); Business Manager (4); Treasurer Y. M. C. A. (4); Delta Tau Delta.

HERE he is. Look him over, for Harrisburg is proud of him. The University cannot keep up with him and the class needs him. He is a bearcat on wheels and when the Queen of the Valley deposited him at the Bethlehem station four years ago Ken looked around in a sort of dazed manner, but announced that it looked sort of soft from a distance. His Freshman year he took notes on the surroundings and then he stepped out. Ken is a loyal and true supporter. He has left behind him many accomplishments which shall long live after him and his vacancy will be hard to fill. He has won the respect and admiration of his classmates and we all wish him all the success and glory that the world may hold forth for him.

"What's the big idea?"

WILLIAM DOUGLAS DOAN
Lansdale, Pa.

"Doug"

E.M.; Track (1, 2); Delta Upsilon.

THE subject of all this discussion is a miner, having been classed so because of his course of study at this man's college. Due to the example and guidance of his much-respected skipper and his able classmates, Doug has become well versed in all phases of college life and activities.

However, do not get the impression that our young hopeful is a greasy grind, for next to keeping up in his studies his chief ambition is to get the most enjoyment and benefit out of college life. No gathering of miners seems complete without Doug, and no outing is complete unless he and some one else have a free-for-all tussle.

In conclusion, Douglas is a worthless son-of-a-gun, but those of us who know him hold him in high esteem and will miss him when we part at the close of our college career. We wish him success and happiness in life and believe that his broad training, determination, and optimism will serve him well in achievement.

"Hey Bill, it's quarter to eight."

EDMOND JOSEPH DOWNING

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"Ed" "Ted" "Ned"

C.E.; C.E. Society; Secretary; College Secretary (4); L-L-L- Club Secretary (5); President (4); Wrestling Squad (2); Theta Xi.

ED is an "Uphomer" hailing, as he does, from the metropolis of Wilkes-Barre, from which place he migrated to Bethlehem about four years ago and informed "Thorny" of his intention of becoming a Civil Engineer.

Ed soon found the study of "Sidewalks and Gutters" provided him with an overbalanced roster, so he turned to the study of the fairer sex in his endeavor to balance it. It has always been a puzzle to us all as to how Ed could be a scholar and a lover at the same time and be successful in both, and some have attributed it to his "Irish Luck."

A pleasing disposition, winning smile and an ever-ready witty answer have made him well liked among his fellow-men and we are confident that from his past experiences he is sure to succeed in his future pursuits, and we all wish him the best of luck.

"Jake as hell."

LESLIE LUNGREN DREW

Asbury Park, N. J.

"Chip" "Less" "Runt"

Bus. Adm.; Captain, Class Football (1); Secretary and Treasurer (1); Lehigh Burr (2, 3, 4); Secretary (3); Managing Editor (4); Wrestling Squad (2, 3, 4); Epitome Board (3); Arcadia (3); Banquet Committee (3); Political Science Club (3, 4); Assistant Manager, Lacrosse (3); Manager (4); Senior Year Book Committee; Lehigh Press Club; Chairman, Senior Banquet Committee; Class day Committee; Cyanide; Sword and Crescent; Kappa Beta Phi; Pi Delta Epsilon; Alpha Chi Rho.

BEFORE coming up the shore, Chipie decided to experiment with the Chemical Engineering Course. After subduing many of the elements he heard the call of Mars and departed for Plattsburg, where after many weeks of labor he became the proud possessor of the 'Gold Bars.'

On his return he decided that his ability lay in other fields than that of Chemistry, and he took up the Business Administration Course, which he is now successfully completing.

Judging from his capabilities, we can predict nothing but a very bright future for him. The best of luck, Chipie!

"G'wan, lay an egg, wilya!"

CHARLES JOSIAH DUNKLE

Harrisburg, Pa.

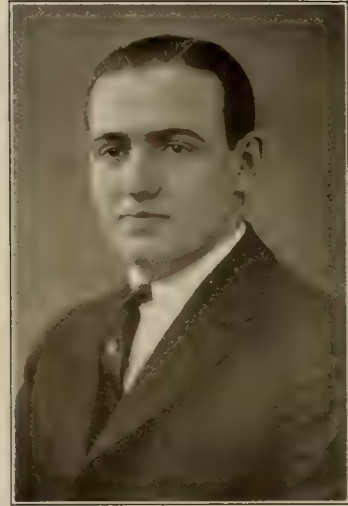

"Dunk"

Bus. Adm.; Arcadia; Interfraternity Council; Sigma Phi Epsilon.

DUNK first came to Lehigh in 1917, but was out a year and so graduated with the Class of '22. He has a system of studying during the day so that his evenings are free to do anything he cares to do, such as paying visits to our most famous base, the Grand, or going to the Kurtz, playing pool, billiards and bridge. He shows all the signs of a mis-spent youth, for he excels in all of his pastimes. He admits that he has only been in the House half a dozen nights since he has been in college.

As a student he seems to get by with little or no trouble and as a successful financier he more than gets by, for he without exception has more schemes which are productive of results than any other man in the University. He has in some way gotten Baldy to think that he knows his pooh and gets by with it. He is often seen in conversation with any of the members of the Business Faculty and holds the position of Student Assistant in that department. It is one of his duties to help flunk all good engineers, but we like him pretty well at that.

"Good enough."

EVERETT MORGAN ENSLIN

Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"Eve" "Ens"

N.E.; Varsity Football Squad (1, 2); Freshman Basket-ball (1); Varsity Basket-ball Squad (2, 3); Varsity Lacrosse (1, 2, 3); Interfraternity Council (4); Delta Upsilon.

EHIS sterling Pumpman is an Uphomer, having made his earliest debut at Scranton. Eve gives due credit for attainments of all kind to his early environments. Perhaps, it was local color that caused him to prepare himself to build ships and sail the seas. Besides playing lacrosse for years, Eve has found time to play a little football and a great deal of basket-ball; he has been one of the mainstays on Martin's Baptist Flyers. To let the gang in on a little secret, he plays a nasty mandolin, and offers up one finger harmony on the ivories.

Some day when you see this all-wool and a full yard-wide Uphomer shuffling his way up the mountain in the early morning don't misunderstand—his affinity is up in Scranton and it is not hard coal—nor is it black.

As a sailor, he is sure to stand out—of the water—for he is round and soft and chubby, and being 99.44 per cent. pure, he floats. Here's wishing you the best of luck on the big ship of life.

"What's all about?"

GEORGE NEWLIN EWING
Philadelphia, Pa.

"George"

Met.; Class Baseball (1, 2); Cotillion; Treasurer, Interfraternity Council; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet; Vice-President, Metallurgy Society; Chi Phi.

G HIS smiling youth from the "City of Brotherly Love" entered Lehigh in the Spring of 1919 after laying aside the uniform of Uncle Sam. He was quiet and unassuming but was blessed with an every-ready smile and a healthy appetite.

Early in his career as a Met. he developed the homing instinct and each week end would wend his way via the P & R. to Philly. The reason for these pilgrimages was the cause of much speculation, but when in doubt cherchez la femme, and this case was no exception.

Although this lad has never been a patron of Bacchus or of Terpsichore, the lack of courses at Bobs and the Colly has not kept him from being at home among the best of the good fellows. George's greatest weakness is a passionate fondness for macaroni and in fact eating is his greatest indoor sport.

Seriously, though, his cheery grin and likable disposition have won him many friends and if personality counts for anything more will be heard of George in the years to come.

"Let's eat."

MARSHALL HANFORD FOOTE
South Norwalk, Conn.

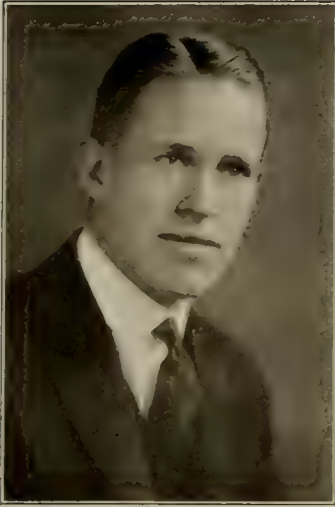

"Monk"

Bus. Adm.; Scimitar Club; Phi Club; Cyanide Club; Kappa Beta Phi; Treasurer, Lehigh Press Club; Vice-President, Sophomore Cotillion Club; Sophomore Banquet Committee; Junior Prom Committee; President, Interfraternity Council (4); Swimming Squad (1, 2, 3); Sigma Phi.

G HE late Mr. P. T. Barnum, of Barnum & Bailey, often remarked that Monk Foote missed his true vocation when he went to Lehigh. Monk holds all records for distance falls, both long and short. After particularly gruelling falls, such as from a second-story window or the Broad Street Bridge, Monk was wont to exclaim that it was not the fall that hurt, but the sudden stop.

Monk's ability lies not along athletic lines. When but a child, Hanford showed promise of remarkable mental development. The same can still be said of him. These latent mental powers enable him to sleep in class with one eye open, a trait which is greatly disconcerting to his professors. He realizes that silence is his best argument and makes the most of it. When fully aroused and in a semi-conscious condition, however, he is a mean opponent in a verbal conflict.

"Here's a good one to try."

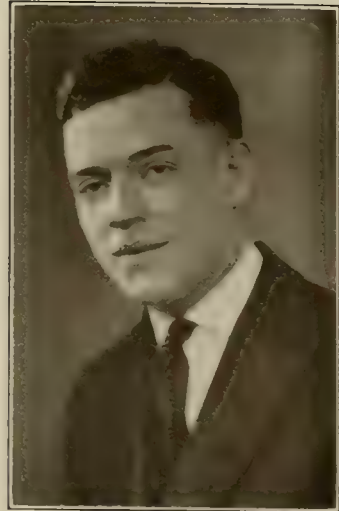

JACOB FRANK FRAIN
Williamsport, Pa.

"Frank."

C.E.; Football, '16, '20, '21; Basket-ball, '17, '18, '20; Arcadia, '19, '20; President, Arcadia, '21; Cyanide; Sword and Crescent; Alpha Tau Omega.

J FRANK FRAIN prepared for Lehigh at Williamsport High School. From the start of his Freshman year he started to do something around college by making the Varsity football team. Frank followed this by making the Varsity basket-ball team and through the following years was a keen participant in all athletic contests. His grim spirit, earnest zeal, and good sportsmanship will be always remembered by both players and coaches.

Recognizing Fran's conscientious and untiring effort, his squareness above all, the Arcadia chose him as their president and proved to them that they had chosen wisely, since all will remember Frank as one of the best presidents of one of the best Arcadia's we have had at Lehigh. From his straightforward characteristics displayed here at Lehigh, we predict a "future" for him, and "Here's to it."

HARRY FRANKEL
Wilmington, Del.

"Harry"

B.A.; Menorah Society; Arts and Science Club; Pre-Medical Society; Zeta Alpha Phi.

IN the year of 1918 Harry came north from the busy port of Wilmington, Del., driven by fear of submarine and shark attacks, and took refuge under the wings of a B.A. course. What happened during the S. A. T C. is a mystery, but any time that Harry feels disposed toward music he will indulge in a rhapsodie in the key of K major:

"Oh, the infantry, the infantry,
With dirt behind their ears;
The infantry, the infantry,
They lap up all the beers."

Several years in college made Harry a man of the world. The Colly, Mealey's and canoeing along the Lehigh gave His Nibs plenty of exercise, and a course in Psychology was enough for his mental altitudes.

His greatest ambition is to be a Psychologist. If that is the reason why he insists on telling jokes two miles deep and insists on prowess in everything from tiddely-winks to canoeing, we will excuse him. As for us, we agree with him only when he admits that he is wrong.

"That's a Fact."

CARLOS ALFONZO FREEMAN
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Carlos"

E.M.; Track Squad (1, 2); Freshman Basket-ball; E.M. Society.

WHEN first I saw Carlos he was about to walk up a flight of stairs. I saw him take a flying leap, miss the third step, bump his shin on the second and come to a standstill on the first. He slowly got up, walked about a little, stopped, looked around and then ran up to the top.

Strange to say, his college career has been very much like that. He started out with a rush and with true B. M. I. style set a lively pace for yokel Frosh to wonder at. He bumped on his first mid-year's or rather they bumped him, and although he received a severe jolt he still kept his foot on the step of knowledge. He has mounted these steadily and unless I am much mistaken he will keep on going up the stairs of life until he has reached the highest landing place.

Speaking of prizes he certainly is a winner, for in his Sophomore year he met, courted, and won the hand of a charming young lady to whom he has since devoted all of his spare time and to the exclusion of many of his classmates. Lately he has become a papa of another Carlos.

"O' what the dayvil."

EARNEST PAUL GANGEWERE Chattanooga, Tenn.

"Red"

M.E.; Freshman Prize English; Wilbur Scholarship (2); First Prize Mathematics (2); Alumni M.E. Prize (3); Swimming Team (1, 2, 3, 4); Track Squad (1); Deutscher Verein; Vice-President, M.E. Society; Tau Beta Pi; Phi Beta Kappa.

FROM the land of sunshine just four years ago came the above young man with a head full of ideas and ambitions to see and conquer, come what may. His hair was red as the sun that drove him North, and when he smiled he laughed so loud that we could not see for hearing. But that is not what first attracted our attention, for this young man from the South drove into our classrooms with a mastery of his subjects that soon sent us scurrying for honors high enough for us to bestow upon him.

Whether he has been successful or not can be judged from the list of honors shown above. If it were possible, Red would have a good many more for he always achieves that goal for which he aspires. While building up this enviable record, though, Red has not made the mistake of neglecting to make friends on the campus and there are very few who do not admire his sunny personality.

"What di-ye say."

WILLIAM EUGENE GERBER
York, Pa.

"Bill" "Goof"

Ch.E.; Chemical Society.

GHIS is our one and only Goof. He hails from the land of the four-card draw, but left its cerulean skies for the smoke of Bethlehem with the determination to become a Chemical Engineer.

This in itself has proven a gigantic task to many, but Bill has not been satisfied with this alone. Our Willie will go down in history as one of the few who can draw to a straight in the middle with continued success—and who still lives. Besides this he is a first-nighter at all of the leading theatres and can give a satisfactory resume of all of them for the past fifteen years. This alone is an accomplishment of which anyone could be proud, but when we consider his other successes we can all be sure that here is a man.

First, last and always, he is a good sport and is always ready to do his share in entertaining a crowd with tales of his exploits and of his endeavors. We cannot vouch for the best of them, but who does not tell some that must be taken with a grain of salt? We always give him the benefit of the doubt and keep in mind that he is a pleasant fellow to be with.

"To Tell the truth."

JACOB AARON GERLACH
Easton, Pa.

"Jake"

M.E.; Track (1, 2, 3, 4); Cross Country (2, 3, 4); M.E. Society (1, 2, 3, 4); Treasurer (4); Inkwell (1, 2, 3, 4); Secretary (4); Theta Xi.

AFTER having looked long at the above angelic face, one wonders how anything so sweet could come from the notorious town made famous by Lafayette. But accidents will happen, and the fair sex of Easton immediately woke up and took notice. Who could blame them after hearing the resounding name of Jacob Aaron. He did backfire on his namesake who, as all Biblical students know, worked twenty-one years for a girl. Our Jake never did believe in that—he goes in for twenty-one girls a year. We have often wondered how he did it, but on referring to his many offices above, found him to have been honored with the treasurership of many different organization. Simple, wasn't it? Jake managed to hit the high spots in the books as he did in cross country, and comes from the battle a harried but victorious applicant for a diploma. We are wondering whether Jake will still keep the Eastonians company and believe that his influence would be a good thing for our ancient rivals.

"What the HELL."

FREDERIC WANNER GLASMIRE
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Fritz"

Ch.E.

GLASSY by name but not by nature is not so easy to see through and hiding behind his transparent name has great things unseen as yet to do, and soon they will blossom. We cannot think of him without his pipe. Inseparable are these two and both of no use without the other. And as we see them together we can think of no other more happily contented pair.

About the hardest thing for our auld friend to do is to pull out of bed for an eight o'clock class. We smile as we see the little fellow yawningly seeking his rubbers as he dashes down in the rain to the first hour without breakfast unless he happens to have a Wilbur bar handy.

What better could we say of him, however, than that he never loses the same genial air of good fellowship which many of us lack? He is always ready in a sober sort of way to be a fellow conspirator in any fun that is afoot and renders himself a perfect accomplice in many of the youthful crimes that are the ready inventions of Lehigh students. In spite of the handicap of being a Bethlehemite, let's give him a good send-off and wish him Gluckauf.

"Horse radish."

MAXWELL GLEN Newbury, Mass.

"Max"

Bus. Adm.; Class President (1); Class Numerals (1, 2); Varsity Baseball Squad (1, 2); Sophomore Banquet Committee; Burr Board (2, 3); Epitome Board; Cottillion; Phi; Scimitar; Cyanide; Kappa Beta Phi; Sigma Nu.

GHERE is a little town called Newbury up in Massachusetts, where they take in the sidewalks at nine o'clock, but from the depths of this burg there came a young Adonis who turned out to be one of the best models that Cluett, Peabody and Company ever had. He had the glorious name of Maxwell bestowed upon him at an early age and began at once to make good.

We must not pass on without giving Max credit for his talents. As a musician he was hard to beat and not only cracked a mean ivory, but blew some pretty ones on the moaning sax. It is unnecessary to say that Max was popular, for all one has to do is glance above. In days to come when we are all scattered over the face of the earth, there will be many who will call to mind his radiant smile and fresh and contagious happiness that was the life of many a party, both of and with women present.

"Well, what's the dope?"

CYRIL FINTON GOLDCAMP

Ironton, Ohio

"Cy"

Ch. E.: Sophomore Cotillion; Chemical Society; Sigma Nu.

IN September of 1917, a long, lanky lad from the farm country of Ohio stepped from the P. & R. flier, full of pep and ambition, to show the folks back home that he was a knock-out guy. The first disillusion came at the entrance exams, where Thorny gave him a big set-back in mathematics. Much like the proverbial dog with the tail between his legs, he crept over to Bethlehem Prep to make up his lack of knowledge and managed to get by Thorny the following year. Disaster was on his trail, however, and the following spring he was counted among those who could not stand the gaff. So into the army for a year and then back again to have another try. Shortly after this he met the light of his life and proceeded to show 'em what's what. So now Cy is quite ready to go anywhere, from pole to pole, to get the job that will bring in the filthy lucre. Here's luck

"Is that so."

CHARLES PENNYPACKER GOODING

Wilmington, Del.

"Charlie" "Goody"

B.A.; Freshman Banquet Committee; Burr (1, 2, 3, 4); Lehigh Brown and White (1, 2, 3, 4); Assistant Editor (3); Managing Editor (4); Mustard and Cheese Club (1, 2, 3, 4); Spring Show (1, 2); June Hop Committee; Arts and Science Club; Secretary (3); President (4); Deutscher Verein; Arcadia (4); Assistant Editor-in-Chief, Epitome; Chairman, Senior Class Book; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (3, 4); Editor, Y. M. C. A. Handbook (3); Class Secretary (2); Historian (3, 4); Cotillion; Cyanide; Sword and Crescent, Secretary; Pi Delta Epsilon; Delta Tau Delta.

AND you, gentle reader, can see that Charles is literary—laugh though Baldy will. The picture in spite of Bill's retouching still shows that mark of genius, homeliness.

In spite of the above-mentioned handicaps, Charlie has had many irons in the fire and has been burned by but few. Such accomplishments as have been his can be laid to an inexhaustible source of energy, a vaulting ambition combined with real mental efficiency. Ambition killed Caesar, but we feel sure it will be quite a feat to dispense with this little driver of himself and—others.

"For the love of mud."

CHARLES HUNTINGTON GREENALL

Allentown, Pa.

"Limy" "Charlie"

M.E.; Track Squad (1, 2, 3, 4); Track Team (3, 4); Sophomore Cotillion; Vice-President, Interfraternity Council (4); Sigma Chi.

LOOK, here, we have an Englishman, born and bred, in the refined city of Allentown. And yet it is true. Limy came to us in 1912, but after a year's sojourn at Lehigh decided that the war should come to an end and he, therefore, entered the service of Uncle Sam. The result was that the Kaiser decided that it was hopeless to continue and therefore capitulated. Charlie returned to us in the fall of 1919 and honored us again with his presence. After knocking things right and left this year he suddenly startled the mechanical class by blossoming out with a mustache. Runt Charles, however, after a few encounters in class was soon convinced that it was a hopeless case and it soon disappeared. He has evidently not been disheartened by this failure for in the last few weeks he has been seen again with a slight indication upon his upper lip which he claims is a mustache. Charlie is very sober and—well ask Smith what he thinks of him.

"How about a little game of craps."

DAVID GREEN

Atlantic City, N. J.

"Dave" "Greenie"

N.E.; Founders Day Sports; N.E. Society Vice-President (2, 3); Swimming Squad (2, 3); Interfraternity Council (4); Pi Lambda Phi.

CIME: 2.30 A. M. any morning. In stalks a person known throughout the campus as "Dave," wearing his usual big grin.

"Where were you tonight, Dav?" ask we.

"Just came from a knock-out time at the Collie," replied he.

Sighing with resignation, for we knew whence he had come, we again start to write.

Born in New York City, April 2, 1899, but raised in the "Playground of the World," Dave there heard the call of the sea, hence his decision to become a Naval Engineer. He is able at the present time to answer. "How and why is a ship?"

Dave spends his summers watching the fair mermaids bask in the sun on the beach at home. He has tried without success to get the position of Professor of Aquatics at B'thorpe.

His sunburned figure may be seen in the pool any afternoon between the hours of 4 to 6. There he teaches blushing Freshmen and gentlemen from the Orient the true beauty of the breast stroke.

"There goes the phone again, shall I make it for two?"

OMAR VIVIEN GREENE

Yonkers, N. Y.

"O. V."

Met.; Soccer Team (1); Class Football (1); President, Sophomore Cotillion; Art Editor, Burr; Art Editor, Epitome; Senior Class Book Committee; Arcadia; Junior Banquet Committee; Y. M. C. A.; College Dance Committee; Lacrosse (3, 4); Kappa Beta Pi; Cyanide; Pi Delta Epsilon; Sigma Phi.

ARTIST, engineer, dreamer, what vast ideas fill his imagination. Once he casts aside the tendencies of the Rip Van Winkle blood, he is an active Beau Brummel of the student world. His calculating mind fathoms the deepest engineering problems. His artist's soul gives true appreciation of natural beauty. Whether it be Bacchus' grape or Mary's ankle, his choice is impeccable. It is also rumored that he is a cave man, but that does not seem possible in one so gentle and "loving."

When Omar isn't blowing out all the fuses in the Physics building or wrecking a few machines in Fritz Lab, he draws a few pictures for the Burr. As a side line to that, he plays a little lacrosse, and when he doesn't get the ball he is sure to get the man—of course, in a very gentlemanly way.

"When do we eat?"

ABRAHAM ALBERT GROSS

Harrisburg, Pa.

"Al" "Abe" "Hunch"

Ch.E.; Founders Day Sports; Interfraternity Stewards' Association, Vice-President (2); President, Treasurer (3); Lacrosse Squad (3, 4); Arcadia (4); Pi Lambda Phi.

NO kiddin', I really must get to that d—d eight o'clock."

The above can be heard any morning about 3 o'clock, when Al prepares for bed. No, dear reader, he was not studying—he was just returning from—or he was conducting his daily bull session."

He always admonishes the Freshmen to study faithfully and get about eight solid hours of sleep daily,—all of which has earned for him the name of "Do as I say, not as I do" Gross.

But, seriously, Al is not half as bad as we have pictured him. He always manages to get his work out and he has done things around school quietly and unostentatiously, in a way which has brought him the admiration and respect of all who know his smiling countenance. Worry meant nothing to him—but, seriously speaking, as Al would say we hope to hear great things from him. Madame Currie, guard your laurels, Al is stepping out.

"Let's be serious!"

"Let's go out!"

WILSON MCKEE GULICK

Orange, N. J.

"Wilse" "Hank" "Slim"

E.M.; Track Squad (2, 3); Mining Engineering Society; Phi Sigma Kappa.

IN Washington, D. C., June 11, 1899, Wilse was born amongst the great men of that day. The environment, however, was not to his liking and his father, thinking that his associations might influence the boy toward a political career, soon moved to Bridgeport, Conn. Wilse later felt the lure of the Quaker City and there prepared for college at the West Philadelphia High School. After reading several volumes of romance and loads of gold-stock literature he saw his future and acting wisely he enrolled in the E.M. course at Lehigh.

Wilse being a cosmopolitan young fellow soon became a resident of the city of Bethlehem. For, besides spending four years in regular college work, he hasn't missed a single summer-term school. During these summer schools he acquired his mania for dancing.

Though he never permitted his studies to interfere with his general education, he always stood well in his classes. His ready wit and his ability to adapt himself to all situations lead us to believe that Wilse will be successful in whatever business he undertakes.

ALFRED COPE HARTSHORNE

Phoenixville, Pa.

"Ammonia" "NH₃"

N.E.

AMMONIA" was born in Kittanning, February 14, 1901. He lived in the Allegheny Valley until 1910 and then moved East to Phoenixville at the age of nine. However, he carried "Western" (?) ideals and ideas with him. Eastern cities so far have not injured these. After surviving four years at high school his years at college have greatly increased his dislike of cities, with the possible exception of Allentown and the Angels, and they are not all in the movies. Ammonia does not like studying, for it shortens his hours of sleep and magazine reading. To say that he is a speed maniac would be no exaggeration, since he goes around corners on three wheels, and although he has never been pinched is known well by all the cops.

He is unknown at the Colly and is very seldom seen under the "White Lights." Because of these virtues we know that Ammonia will always be just as sweet a child as he is at this time.

"We didn't do that on the Andrea."

ARTHUR LOUIS HERMAN
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Art"

Met.; Secretary, Met. Society; Swimming Squad (4).

BETHLEHEM has contributed widely to many causes, and on December 10, 1901, another page was written upon her glorious deeds, for upon that date she presented Art to the world. He soon proved himself to be a man of more than ordinary ability. At the early age of sixteen he succeeded in convincing the authorities of the Bethlehem High School that he was the brightest man in the class, for which talent he received a scholarship to Lehigh. He liked Lehigh, and wasted little time in creating a furor among the intellectual lights of the University. He studied Metallurgy and incidentally a mutual advantage was enjoyed both by the department and by himself. Year after year every obstacle standing between him and the coveted sheepskin has been brushed aside, and he is a top-heavy favorite upon the last lap. He is an authority on all Metallurgy subjects, even if he must study into the wee hours of the morning. Art is going to enter the copper industry, and we wait news from him in this profession, anxiously expecting great achievements from him.

"No thanks, I just had any!"

WALTER FITZ-JAMES HINDRY
St. Augustine, Fla.

"Walt"

Ch.E.; Beta Theta Pi.

ABOVE we have pictured our one and only Florida "cracker." Walt left the land of orange blossoms and winter resorts in 1910, when nine years of age for Cloyne School, at Newport, R. I. Here he absorbed much learning and culture, but he lost his Southern drawl, so that no one could hardly tell him from one of the regular citizenry of Bethlehem.

When it came time for Walter to pick a college, he pulled his greatest bone. At the tender age of sixteen we find our hero out in the backwoods at Washington and Lee. Walt grew older and wiser and after looking the country over finally picked Lehigh as the only college to get an engineering education, and so here he is.

All the Senior Chemists will remember him—the man who carried and passed more hours than there are in a week for four terms and still lives.

When Walt got to Lehigh all of the offices had been filled and so he never had a chance to strut his stuff as a writer, actor or politician. Yet we are willing to bet on him and feel sure that he will soon be hiring his own men when he hits the open world.

"Get going."

JOHN STANLEY HOCKER

Middletown, Pa.

"Shrimp"

Met.; Lacrosse Squad (2, 3); Mustard and Cheese (1, 2); Treasurer, Met. Society (4); Phi Gamma Delta.

F a man were judged by his size, Johnny would be out of luck. He is small, but, OH, MY! His fighting spirit is all out of proportion to his body. With four years of hard plugging at lacrosse he has developed into a player whose ability is respected by all of his team mates. He handles a wicked stick and it is Johnny's opinion that the bigger they come the harder they fall. He also shakes a mean leg as a sweet chorine in the musical comedies here about.

Johnny is a hard egg to understand. He always has his eyes open and his mouth shut. This is good practice for him, but it makes it hard for his classmates to know just what he is thinking about. Yes, he really does think, because that is a prime requisite for completing a Met. course at Lehigh. When asked what he intended to do in the future, Johnny said: "I intend to follow some special metal if it does not lead me too far, and above all I intend to remain single." Too bad, girls, you do not know what you are missing.

"Can you bend that."

JOHN WINEBRENNER

HORINE, JR.

Columbia, S. C.

"Johnny" "O'Ryan" "Murphy"

E.E.; Freshman Honor in French; Mandolin Club (2, 3, 4); E.E. Society; Chairman, Publicity Committee; E.E. Society (4); Inkwell (3, 4); Section Treasurer (4); Tau Beta Pi (4).

ND in this cage, ladies and gentlemen, we have the singular presentation of the day. Step right up close there, lady, and see the only living one in captivity. He comes from the deepest, darkest, dankest jungles of South Carolina. Somewhat dwarfed by the seething, sweltering heat of his southern home, his exit from the land of his youth remains a mystery. As the original monologin marvel, he stands unexcelled. He is always with a supply of humorous southern anecdotes and never fails to get a rise. When it comes to massaging the strings of a guitar to the tune of a Carolina song he is equally proficient and stops all comers.

But this is not the basis of "Johnny's" reputation at Lehigh. He is a hard and consistent worker who gets results, as the key on his chain will testify. However, he always seems to find time to help a friend in need over the mysteries of flux and voltage, or the deepest theory of elections.

"Aintcha ready yet?"

SHOU-CHUAN HUANG

Kaiping, Chihli, China

"Bill"

E.M.

DO! You do not pronounce his name that way—Huang, if his classmates be correct, is pronounced "Bill." Personally, I feel that since his classmates are neither imported Dutchmen nor Chinamen, they have substituted this in preference to the humorous collection of noises produced by Doc. Hall and others in their earnest attempts to do "Bill" justice when calling the roll. "Bill," however, has achieved great success with our tongue—proof of which is that he actually convinced "Thorny" he knew more English than we American students, with the happy result that he escaped the English Department at Lehigh. Huang is really a good student, and manages with surprising ease to unravel the puzzles of science, which baffle us when expressed in our own language. He is a regular fellow in every way.

If Huang decides to do something for the Chinese mining industry, instead of putting all his attentions to an attractive "pig tail" to attract the ladies, we know that Huang will be a name not to be forgotten by the Chinese mining men.

"That's al right."

FRANCIS CHRISTIAN HUBER

New York, N. Y.

"Hubie"

Ch.E.; Chemical Society; Rifle Team
(2, 3).

HIS is the student that you have seen on the campus for the past few years famous for his Phoenix green mackinaw and his Wilbur chocolate breakfasts. No, girls, not Wallace Reid, just our Francis. His last mentioned habit has been the curse, or at least one of them, of all eight o'clocks for the past four years and first earned him notoriety and recognition and the sobriquet of the "Chocolate Baby."

These are not his only avocations, however, for he is an expert window-smasher, as well as a member in good standing of all Taylor Hall Bible Classes. He has been mentioned several times as Intercollegiate Straight Maker and probably will carry off the honor this year.

One of the best things we can say for our fellow traveler is he has a ready adaptability and a cheerfully agreeable nature, and we feel confident that these qualities will insure him welcome and success wherever he goes—or, at the least, will get him in with a good gang, and what could be sweeter?

"You never can tell."

RUPERT DeARMOND HUGHES

Montclair, N. J.

"Rupe"

Ch.E.; Freshman Banquet Committee; Junior Prom Committee; Mustard and Cheese (1, 2, 3, 4); Band (2, 3, 4); Cottillion; Delta Tau Delta.

THE Duke: A new song, sirrah? First Minstrel: New as is new bread, baked with the corn of yesterday, my lord. These fledglings of the nest will try their pipes. And shall shrill it boldly in the same old tunes you hear on every bough.

When not slopping the chemicals together or making music, R. DeA. may be found gloating over some social conquest or like the renowned Alexander sighing for more worlds to conquer or female hearts to over-awe. Not for naught was he disguised as Dr. Loving in our show of yesteryear. While considering all phases of Rupe's college career, we must not neglect the sterner intellectual side. His constant devotion to his work to the utter disregard of other lighter affairs has always been to his friends an object of admiration. To prove that he is exceptional in this, we may say that he is known to have denied himself the opportunity of going to a college dance in order to take a more advanced course in sociology elsewhere.

"Nuff sed."

CLINTON IDE

Harvey's Lake, Pa.

"Jake"

E.E.; L.L.L. Club; Assistant Editor, Handbook (3); Mustard and Cheese (3, 4); Musical Clubs (2, 3, 4); President (4); Arcadia (4); E.E. Society.

LOOK above, gentle reader, and look well, for they do not make them like this any more. The last individuals were heard of in 1911 in Northern Rhodesia, but they have since been used for tiger bait.

Our hero crossed the Rubicon with the rest of our noble band in the memorable year of '18 and has managed to stay here ever since by untiring diligence, perseverance and application. Not that he really needed to do it, for he is fairly intelligent, but when a man is really interested in what he is doing he does it unthinkingly. In fact, this last word will explain many of the deeds of our Jake.

In addition to his varied scholastic achievements, Clint has also trod the boards and has delighted many with sweet, seductive music, of the kind made famous by the dusky beauties of Hawaii. He is also a great authority on football and has the opposing teams doped out weeks before time. In short, we have enjoyed his stay and wish that his ways may be prosperous and may he send twelve stalwart sons to Lehigh.

"Is that right."

FIELDER ISRAEL

Laurel, Md.

"F" "Eagle"

Ch.E.; Track Squad (1, 2); Brown and White (2, 3, 4); Assistant Business Manager (2); Circulation Manager (3); Business Manager (4); St. Paul's Society, Secretary-Treasurer (2); Interfraternity Council (3, 4); Pi Delta Epsilon; Cotillion; Alpha Chi Rho.

CHE Roman Empire in all its splendor never shone with the lustre which emanates from Fielder's countenance whenever the word "Maryland" is uttered in his presence. That is our hero's pet subject.

His other faults are abundant. Among these may be mentioned his passion for terpsichore, his public aversion to the opposite sex, his weakness for bridge, his talent for sarcastic wit and his deplorable tendency toward self-pity.

But now let us enumerate a few of his virtues. Foremost stands his ability for passing courses without the painful factor of studying. Withal, however, his four years of college has resulted in netting him sound judgment, a readiness to assume responsibilities that will stand him in good stead in later life.

"No doot about it!"

FRANK AARON JACOBS

Bethlehem, Pa.

"Jake"

Ch.E.; Sigma Nu.

TAY back in 1898, Jake poked his head over No. 2 Open Hearth and viewed his birthplace. Because he did not know any better he thought that he would like to start in "Bethlehem the Smoky" to hew his way upward to realms less dark and smoky. Amid this smoke, soot and darkness, we find Jake passing off his preliminary schooling and rapidly acquiring a line of gab which in the future was going to help him wonderfully with his feminine and masculine acquaintances.

In 1917 he talked his way into Lehigh, where he hoped to find his Holy Grail, a degree in Ch.E. He had not been long in college before he joined the organization known as the "Nights Around the Table."

In February, 1920, Jake took part in that great debate, Faculty vs. Nights, and sad to relate, his side lost. So we find our little hero in a still smokier environment, lending his ability to the Aluminium Company of America, in Pittsburgh. After a year's leave of absence from Professor Mealey, we find Jake back with us again with a determination to get the "Grail."

"Let's go."

MAHLON KEMMERER JACOBS

Oak Lane, Pa.

"Jake" "Joe"

E.M.; Class Treasurer (1, 2); Class President (3); Track Team (1); Soccer Team (1); Swimming Team (1, 2, 3); Captain (3); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (4); Freshman Dance Committee; Sophomore Banquet Committee; Assistant Tennis Manager (3); Manager (4); E.M. Society; Cotillion; Cyanide; President, Sword and Crescent; "18" Club; Delta Tau Delta.

ONLY the game fish swims up stream," to quote the immortal leader of the Fighters' Union, Local No. 2, thus giving us a class in which Jake may be tucked away. After four years spent jointly in studying the ways of the "gold diggers" (plural?) and "Skipper's course for young men who like to stay in college," we feel he is qualified to go forth in any league where ditch digging is the major accomplishment.

Believing, as many others do, that the better part of one's education is not gotten in the books (Thorny to the contrary) "little Kem" has tried to drag off a few campus honors with more than average success. Not that he was a star at any but they look good at the top of the page, which is ours after much patient endeavor.

"Any soap."

CHARLES JOHN HENRY JAGELS

New York, N. Y.

"Charlie" "Jake"

B.A.; Editor-in-Chief, Lehigh Brown and White (4); Editor-in-Chief, 1922 Epitome (3); President, Mustard and Cheese (3, 4); Manager, Swimming (4); Cheer Leader (3); Secretary, Eastern College Swimming Association (4); Y. M. C. A. Handbook Committee (2); Deutscher Verein (3, 4); Pi Delta Epsilon; Sword and Crescent; Alpha Chi Rho.

IN the fall of 1918, the "Big City" proudly—and rightfully so—listed Jake among its products for matriculation at Lehigh. Beginning his college career as a Chemical Engineer, but soon realizing the greater advantages of an Arts course—and also due to a little coaxing on the part of "Dief"—he, in his Sophomore year, became a student under the B.A. Department.

As a "keyboard artist," we have not heard his peer. This fact is made manifest at the meetings of the Faculty Dancing Class, where he successfully recites for the classes of the following day. What powers hath music!

The honors he gained are in themselves a tribute to a wonderful personality and intense application to an ambition once assumed.

"See you on the 'Bummer'".

MONCRIEF OSTRANDER JEFFERSON

Riverhead, Long Island

"Jeff" "Monty"

N.E.; Circulation Manager, Burr (3); Business Manager, Burr (4); Cotillion; Cyanide; N.E. Society; Pi Delta Epsilon; Tau Beta Pi; Psi Upsilon.

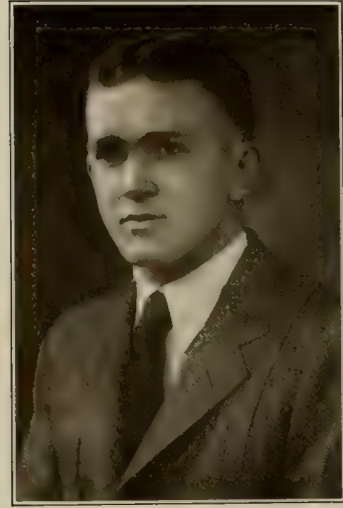

SOME twenty-one years ago, in a remote part of Long Island, there must have been a very calm and peaceful day and our friend Jeff has been celebrating it annually as the one in which he first saw the light of day and, perhaps, his first slide rule.

Really, we cannot pass on without giving credit where credit is due and as a master of close and accurate calculations, one must acknowledge his prowess, whether working some theoretical problem or a practical application such as making connections for two dates in one evening or spreading the greatest cheer on twenty-six cents.

However, despite the fact that Jeff is a conqueror in the Battle of Books, he has found time to promote the business interests of the Burr and is a candidate for the first session that comes up.

In leaving here we hope that you are only enlarging the fields for your success and that Dame Fortune may favor you.

JAMES ROBERT JOB

Nanticoke, Pa.

"Jim"

C.E.; Captain, Freshman Basket-ball Team; Frosh Baseball; Theta Kappa Phi.

WHERE the crystal Susquehanna gently flows through verdant coal banks, up home—is the town of Nanticoke. Not so many years ago, the town crier—smiled for a change—for Jimmy Job made his first appearance on this stage called the world. The unfair sex of all ages called bets off with their steadies and unsteadies (for this was before July 1, 1919), figuring that they would wait for Jim to grow up. But, as agreeable as Jim is, there must needs be some out of luck.

Jim may not like dogs but is very fond of the "Colly." He also knows that all the bones are not in animals or that leopards are not the only things with spots. He has that perpetual smile and does not have to wear whiskers.

Jimmy is tired of Fogg and Windy hours, but sees clear sailing ahead.

"Any candidates for the Grand?"

MARTIN JEROME KEELEY
Jersey City, N. J.

"Marty"

Bus. Adm.; Arcadia; Theta Kappa Phi.

EVERY season is marked by outstanding events, as was the winter of 1898-1899, when on the fifth day of January, Marty made his bow to modern civilization in the city of Hoboken. He was always a strong believer in the destinies of men and after burning up the intellectual offerings of Hoboken High School, his thirst for knowledge pointed the way to old South Mountain and Lehigh. Armed with a world of facts and good intentions, he rushed bravely into battle. Each succeeding year he has ground underfoot the obstacles lying in the path of success and entered the home stretch a strong favorite. He bashfully admits his success to be due to hard study and a minimum of three nights a week for mental relaxation. The only hopes Marty has been able to realize were his unceasing efforts to abolish first-hour classes and the 12:10 from Allentown on Saturdays. He is a strong proponent of that Bus. Adm. word: "Many are called but few are chosen," and he sums up Lehigh with a simple sentence: "Head-quarters for the survival of the fittest." The first hundred years are the hardest, as he says.

"I don't want to crab—BUT—"

LLOYD BENJAMIN KEHLER
Shamokin, Pa.

"L. B." "Kay"

M.E.; Class Basket-ball (1); Track Squad (2); Basket-ball (2); Assistant Manager, Basket-ball (3); Manager (4); Secretary, M.E. Society (4); Secretary, Student Branch American Society of M.E. (4); Secretary, Interfraternity Council (4); Kappa Sigma.

FOUR years ago this September there was a grinding of brakes on the L. V. R. Special. From the noise one might have been led to think that John D. himself was arriving. Everyone stopped, looked and listened, but all in vain, for nothing could be seen, save a Shamokin coal cracker who came down the aisle shuffling his feet and dragging two heavy suitcases. A sight for sore eyes—a fair and just example of innocence personified. His sole ambition to clean off the coal dust and to acquire a few mental suggestions.

But from this dusty coal cracker slowly grew a well-groomed man, physically, morally and socially. A man who has proved his ability in the class room, in class honors and as Manager of Basket-ball. A man who carries the prestige of an aristocrat, yet inside carries a heart as big as the world he walks on.

"Don't get so familiar."

RAYMOND ANTHONY KEENAN

New Kensington, Pa.

"Ray" "Muggs"

Met.; Sigma Nu.

SINCE the early bird catches the worm, the gods decided that Ray's birthday should be on an early date, hence January 4th. To obtain added prestige, Ray chose Washington, D. C., as the starting point for a wild career. This city becoming too tame he moved on, paused for a moment at New Castle, Pa., and finally landed with his long-lost paper machete suitcase in New Kensington, "near Pittsburgh."

Since steam engines cannot be improved, Muggs set out on a metallurgical career. Yet never letting business interfere with pleasure, he also kept the ladies entertained. Thus Belvidere claimed the honor of his presence, though the fury of the rain could be heard beating on the tin roof. With the cops, Muggs' popularity extended to the point of passing out cigars—even though they are found in front of the New Merchant Hotel.

In spite of his many faults, Muggs was always cheerful, pleasant and good-natured. His taking ways and artistic sentiments built up both an art gallery and many friends, who wish him the best of luck.

"What of it."

WILLIAM ROBERT KILBOURN

Williamsport, Pa.

"Bob"

M.E.; M.E. Society; Scabbard and Blade; Captain, R. O. T. C. (3, 4); Phi Delta Theta.

HIS young Lochinvar came from the wilds of Williamsport, which may or may not be held against him. Anyhow, someone was asleep when, after graduating from Williamsport High, he was let into Lehigh. We are told that he spent a good portion of his time since then trying to keep in here, but not so much but what he has taken time to make raids on B'thorpe and Bob Young's. This is enough to illustrate his versatility.

Bob is taking the M.E. course and distinguished along certain lines which do not show on the big chief's record. Among these may be mentioned the Colly course, walking the beat from Young's to Fourth and New, Mealey's, and passing Met. problems right off the bat.

After all has been said and did, we feel that we are not making any mistake when we predict that Bob is going to get some where after leaving college. Whatever he attempts, be it engineering or matrimony, his many friends which he has made at Lehigh wish him the best of success.

"Gimme a cigarette."

JOSEPH ALBERT KIVERT
Northampton, Pa.

"Hans" "Joe"

Ch.E.; Chemical Society; Menorah.

LITTLE reckoned the good people of Northampton when J. A.'s blue eyes first gazed upon the cyclopean industries of that region that his horoscope proclaimed him an apostle of the quaint folk of his birthplace. Neither reckoned Joseph himself that some day the belching behemottis of the L. V. R. R., e'en as Phoebus' chariot, would annihilate space at the rate of dx/dt and convey him into the tribulations of a naughty world and Lehigh University. Lehigh gave Joe (1) a nickname, "Hans," reminiscent of the pastoral scenes of his idyllic "Wohnbesitz"; (2) a V; (3) a Ch.E. (we accept no responsibility for this latter statement under the regulations of a national underwriter's association). In return, Hans showed by example how art could be applied to science (we carefully avoid the word industry in this connection). He early became a patron and a critic of the Grand Opera and a habitue of the lighter drama. His studies of Shu and Chekhov have been rather exclusively devoted to Freshman English, but we understand that Mr. Kivert has returned to simple themes.

"I would like to say."

HERBERT JULIUS KLEINE
Germantown, Philadelphia, Pa.

"Herb" "Joe Gumm"

M.E.; President, Railroad Society of Lehigh; President, Deutscher Verein; Sigma Nu.

ALTHOUGH but one of the group of the fair sons of the Keystone State graduating this year, our good friend, Herb has an individuality all his own. Perhaps we can account for his geniality by the fact that he arrived on earth February 27, 1900, in Philadelphia, the City of Brotherly Love, and later moved his headquarters to Altoona, Pa. Herb received his preparatory education at the famous Altoona High. It was here that he won honors as quite an orator and for the first time convinced his fair Altoona friends of his worth.

Few fellows have an interest in anything besides girls which compares with H. J.'s interest in railroads. To him is due the credit of the founding and success of the Railroad Society of Lehigh University.

Though Herb was a hard worker in college, he found time to help out the other fellow as well as to take part in various activities, and we feel sure he will make good after he finishes. The block between him and success on the P. R. R. is clear—we wish him all speed in making it.

CLAUDE LUTHER KNODERER
Steelton, Pa.

"Clandius" "Knody"

E.E.; Inkwell (1, 2, 3, 4); Secretary (2); Vice-President (3); Railroad Society (3); Band (2); E.E. Society.

CLAUDIUS, as his friends call him, ran a race with the Twentieth Century and arrived on the scene just about three months ahead of it. Ever since then he has been showing Father Time a clean pair of heels and they say he holds the record of doing the Marathon between the Physics Building and Packer Hall with the remarkable time of 0.2-5.

While he was studying at Steelton High School he heard that the course in E.E., which Bill Estes was running on South Mountain, was a good one, so he decided to come to Lehigh. If you ever see the masterful way in which he soothes the hysterical hysteresis, or coaxes the wayward ampere to obey his will, you will know he is a born E.E.

During his four years on the campus, Claudius has made many friends through his cheery manner and readiness to lend a helping hand whenever he can. Not only at college is he popular; there are several young ladies in the town who like his curly head. Here's hoping he gets a good one.

"Let's go gang."

ALEXANDER KORBEL
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Alex" "Ajax" "Axle"

M.E.; Deutscher Verein.

IN history two famous events followed each other closely: The New Year starts on January 1st, while Alexander Korbelt's birthday happened on the 2nd. To observe the latter, Lehigh attempted to lengthen the Xmas vacation, but the faculty lacked the proper sentiment.

The young hopeful, later known as Ajax, did himself proud at Bethlehem Prep 'ere his smiling countenance became a radiant spot on the campus. As all green Frosh, he acquired his bad habits early in his career. In going to Chapel, he allowed nothing to disturb the leisure of his stately, dignified gait; until within sight of the chapel his consternation would arise upon seeing the door slowly closing.

Nevertheless, Ajax helped to cheer the dull moments during the weary summer school term—"Yass, sir."

Korbelt, besides being a good student, had a great, generous nature and was forever cheerful, even though he "flunked twice Annie Math." His generosity was boundless, since he would give up his last 3776 1-4 paper with a "I beg your pardon." Here's wishing you luck—old friend!

"A word is enough for a wise man!"

WALTER KOZLAKIEWICZ
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"Koz"

C.E.; Class Baseball (1, 2).

FROM out of the depths of the mines of the well-known coal regions of Pennsylvania, arose a youth of great intentions. Running surveys through the mines gave Koz a great interest, which started him into the profession of Civil Engineering. Knowing surveying cold, he decided to enter Lehigh in order to advance his knowledge in the carrying out of his career.

Although a short, and light fellow, Koz managed to get a tryout on the baseball squad. He succeeded in holding a regular position on the Freshman, Sophomore and Dormitory teams of his class.

Besides being an indoor athlete, Koz possesses the ability of Bobbie McLean on skates, being able to give human demonstration of Archimedes' Spiral, Folium, and Witch of Agnesi, and other complicated curves, which are the joy and hate of profs. and students, respectively.

The fellows and the Commons will regret his departure from the ranks of Mr. Lehigh's scholars, for he served both with equal intensity. We hope in the next few years he will meet with success.

"Hot dogs, kid!"

EARL WASHINGTON LAMB
Natalie, Pa.

"Duke"

E.M.; E.M. Society, Vice-President (4); Soccer Team (1, 2, 3, 4); Track (2, 3); Class Relay Team (2).

DUKE'S desire to become a Mining Engineer may have been the result of a perfectly normal and healthy growth or perhaps it was a case of "like father, like son." When his ambitions had finally rooted themselves in his mind he immediately began a campaign of preparation. He entered Lehigh with the Class of 1922 and by hard and consistent study he has gained an enviable scholastic record.

He has a pronounced leaning toward the feminine sex which he boldly admits without shame or hesitation, and during his stay at Lehigh has been the innocent cause of several broken life pumps. His weekly sojourns to Egypt during the past year have been the cause of much comment and conjecture among his associates. But as yet very little has been learned as to the cause of these visits.

Although somewhat handicapped by his size, his spirit and willingness have made him prominent in sports. He is a formidable but square opponent and this coupled with his many other attributes bids fair toward making him a success in his later life.

"Sock 'em."

PAUL REVERE LARKIN
Wollaston, Mass.

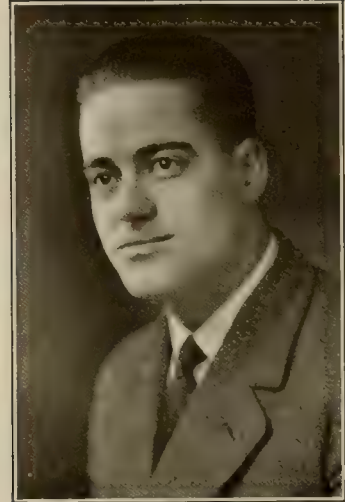

C.E.; Football, '19, '20, '21; Baseball, '19, '20; Cyanide; 18 Club; Sword and Crescent; Treasurer, C.E. Society; Athletic Committee; Alpha Tau Omega.

O look at P. R. one would not think that here is the mighty "Larkin of Lehigh." In fact, to see Paul about the campus, books and T square under his arm, a transit over one shoulder and a half dozen triangles sticking out of his pockets, that he was our football ace, but very few of us will ever forget his seventy-yard run against West Virginia.

Paul came here from Washington and Lee, and Boston. He made a flying start, playing end on one of Lehigh's greatest teams. That was three years ago and since then he has starred in every game. He always does the unexpected and even professors and their like call him "The Miracle Man," for when hope seems lost, old P. R. comes through for a goal and off to another start.

His happy smile, congenial nature, and friendship will be greatly missed next year, but he'll carry them with him all sealed in that old sheepskin to somebody who lives near Avon, Mass. Then, maybe, we will have more Larkins at Lehigh.

"Hi."

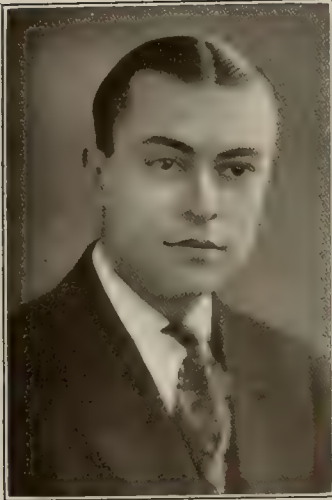

ROBERT LEE LERCH, JR.
Takoma Park, D. C.

"Bob"

Ch.E., Freshman Basket-ball, Rifle Team, '20; Captain, '21; Mandolin Club, '20, '22; Sophomore Cotillion; Kappa Beta Phi; Tau Beta Pi; Chi Psi.

BOB came to Lehigh with intentions of becoming an engineer, and expecting to devote himself assiduously to his future profession. But since college was practically an army barracks in 1918, he was interrupted. For a time he tried to go to college and serve in "Bosey's Army" simultaneously, but as soon as opportunity offered he left his books and became a Marine. He was stationed at Paris Island, S. C., until January, when he obtained a discharge and returned to Bethlehem.

During his Junior year Bob lost his interest in Bethlehem, for he discovered the more interesting town of Easton, and now rumor has it that his fraternity brothers see little of him, so great is the attraction there. This interest in Easton has not affected his scholastic activities, however, for as a Christmas present he received a little brown and white button in Chapel one morning, and that has since been exchanged for a gold key.

ROYAL DEWEY LEWANDO
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Pilot" "Butch"

C.E.; Track Squad (1, 2, 3).

ROYAL came to Lehigh in 1918, with the best kind of an Atlantic City High record—that's something to be proud of. He was ambitious to go "straight through" his four years without a hitch. Unfortunately, he was handicapped through illness in his Sophomore year at high school, which brought him to Lehigh minus some engineering credits. This forced him to enter B.S. instead of C.E., and perhaps this as well as the S. A. T. C. may be partly blamed for his little slump in his ambitions, and his resignation for a year and a half. "Pilot" is known for his cheery, optimistic nature and is not the kind of a chap to be drowned—he is working hard to make up for lost time. "Butch" is capable of making a first-class track man, and we hope to hear of him as such before he leaves old Lehigh in '23.

"Howdy—How ya knocking 'em?"

ARTHUR RHEA LITTLE
Petersburg, Pa.

"Bill"

Met.; President, Senior Class; President, Y. M. C. A.; Secretary, Arcadia; Chairman, A. A.; Class Historian (1, 2); Second Prize, Junior Oration; Glee Club (2, 3, 4); Freshman Banquet Committee; Junior Banquet Committee; Freshman Dance Committee; Cotillion; Cyanide; Sigma Nu.

DOWN from the wilds of Pennsylvania came Bill in a big cloud of dust. On first leaving the old farm, Bill seemed quite adverse to the environments of a big city, but it was not long before all of the hayseeds had fallen from his aggressive personality. Now John D. and others of equal fame look like plumbers' apprentices in comparison. Bill's greatest college honor was carried as President of the Senior Class, the duties of which required most of his time. Indeed, Bill had so many other activities that Thorny and Natt Emery found it a difficult task to help him run the college. Ever so often a little time was spent in school work, but Bill never had his nose so far in a book that he could not get it out to step out with the fair sex or to perform other such important duties. The services that Bill rendered Lehigh will be felt for many years to come.

"How are you comin'?"

WARREN HORNBERGER LUTZ

Denver, Pa.

"Lutzie" "Einsteinmetz"

E.E.: Member E.E. Society.

OPPORTUNITY knocks but once, and Lutzie seeing at the end of the rainbow a pot of gold and a dynamo set out with heart and hand to conquer Lehigh. We think he has found his dynamo and the pot of gold lies ahead; for his ambition is excelled only by his appetite—and the latter he claims is one of the great things of life. We sit on the side lines and watch him, as he romps through Lab reports and curves with mighty zest and fervor; and with all the dignity befitting an illustrious Denverite, bravely flourishes his bow pen or madly pounds his typewriter far into the darkening hours of the Bethlehem night.

According to all the points of the compass and a bald-headed 6, Warren will be some little Electrical Engineer. So watch, ye men of Lehigh, and keep your eyes on Denver, when our young Steinmetz starts his fling in his own home town. Who knows but that they may have street cars next—or Warren Lutz as mayor. We fully expect great deeds and can picture the Denver Brass Band meeting our hero when he returns.

"Holy Eternity"—in German.

CARL HARRY McKENZIE

Dallas, Texas.

"Mack"

Bus. Adm.

OWN in the land of cactus is where Mack hails from. He ended a rather hectic career in High School to join the legion of "Leather Necks," hoping to get across the pond—supposedly to fight, but, like all the rest, the only reason anyone goes to France is to get to Paris. After being cheated out of this he fled back to his old stamping grounds when the Armistice was made and entered the University of Texas. Later he studied at Rice Institute, which he left to seek a degree in this terminal of his Star of Bethlehem.

Being a staunch supporter of Baldy, he has learned all the tricks of the trade and from present indications is the only one on whom the All Highest deigns to confer encouragement. Mack's silent plugging away and consistent work have earned him the highest respect of those with whom he has come in contact. Here's to success.

"Hi there, big boy."

CHIEN CHUNG MA

Samarang, Java

"C. C."

Ch.E.; Mandolin Club (3, 4); President, Chinese Students' Club (4); Y. M. C. A. Committee (3, 4); Chemical Society.

HERE is a man who holds one of the most unique records in the class—he is farther from home than anyone else in the gang. He came to college without spending any time in an American Prep School, for he had studied five years in a Dutch school in Java and a year at St. John's Middle School in Shanghai, China.

C. C. has that one quality which makes men sought after more than any other—an ever cheerful disposition. During his four years in college the men who have been associated with him most will testify that they have never seen any signs of him losing his temper or failing to show his usual smile.

Due to his early training under the Dutch, Ma has a little trouble making people believe that he was not born and raised near Emaus. He has a hard time with his V's but otherwise he speaks the King's English. Besides being an excellent chemist, he is a talented musician and has been indeed one of the mainstays of the clubs. He is the kind of a chap to have for a pal—as many of us have.

"Something Like That."

HAROLD WAGNER MAJOR

Lehman, Pa.

"Maje"

Ch.E.; Wrestling Squad (2, 3); Chemical Society; L.L.L. Club.

DAUSE here, stranger, and note the innocent and benevolent expression of one of our champion raggers. Harold is especially noted for the ease with which he worked his way through the hazards of the Ch.E. course, for his versatile use of the King's English, and for his ability at inventing and adopting all kinds of deviltry to the needs and requirements of some unsuspecting individual.

When it comes to the ladies, Harold is neutral—from general appearances—and is not credited with being sympathetic. However, no one can produce satisfactory evidence. His excuse on Sunday night is always church, but we have never been able to find where the evening services are held until long after midnight.

However we can excuse almost anything for Harold is a friend to all and a true Lehigh man. His optimism is one of his biggest assets and it has made him a lot of friends on the campus. That is the true reason why we hate to see him go—not that he does not deserve to.

"T'is well, in fact, too well."

HARRY HARRISON MARSH, JR.
Wheeling, W. Va.

"Skip"

E.E.; Tau Beta Pi, '21; President, '22; Track Squad, '21; Arcadia, '22; E.E. Society, '21, '22; Delta Upsilon.

THE "Skipper" hails from West Virginia and is a full-fledged Snake, not in the parlor sense of the word, however. Most of his life thus far has been spent going to college, he having taken some sort of a degree, we don't know just what, at a little college in Ohio, the name of which we think was Marietta. "Skip" tells us that Marietta was right easy and that life there was much different from the gruelling toil and strife of Lehigh, but knowing his opinions on the Neublas Hypothesis we are prone to believe that his mental capacity had more or less to do with this.

At Marietta the "Skipper" was somewhat of an amateur athlete, being a hero of football, basket-ball and track. At Lehigh, however, being a "grad" student and one of the older men of the class, he has taken his collegiate work seriously and has found time only for the books and an occasional (?) beer. Seriously, though we predict great things for "Skip" if he doesn't take another college degree.

"Hey Tait!"

JAMES FLOYD MARSHALL
Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

"Dink" "Jimmie"

M.E.; M.E. Society; Basket-ball Squad (1, 2, 3); L.L.L. Club.

ONE September day as the sun was sinking in the West there descended on us from the North a blond hair Scotchman. Six feet two in his stockings and bowed at the knees. He was a boy four years ago when inflicted on us, but Lehigh has made a man of him. Being an up-homer he knew nothing of the mysteries of knowledge or women, but again Lehigh has done her bit and now many of the fair sex of Bethlehem claim Jimmie as their personal friend.

Jim played basket-ball rather well and many are the times that he is said to have picked the ball up to score a two-point tally. As a handball shark, Jim excels.

James Floyd has evaded and conquered the art of dancing and now his feet just will not keep still even if it is the S. A. with its quartet. But of all the women there is one, and this is how Jim feels: Ready to go, ready to wait, ready her arms to fill. Ready for service, small or great; ready to do her will. Dink just cannot help being successful for, as Vergil puts it, "They can conquer who think they can."

"Now listen."

WILLIAM RAYMOND MATTSON
Rockledge, Pa.

"Matty"

C.E.; Class Baseball (1, 2); Class Football (1, 2); Baseball Squad (1); Tennis Squad (2, 3); Arcadia; C.E. Society; Theta Xi.

THERE is no stopping some people and Bill is no exception. Coming from the town he did he would have stopped most anybody, but even Calculus only slowed him up a bit. There is no telling why he came to Lehigh, unless that he heard that the course were the most difficult of any or that the fair sex were worth an occasional bit of time, and sometimes more. However, the old home town still has its attraction and holds the royal flush up to the present time without a second. There must be more than rocks there, we will say. We often think that surveying all over South Mountain has a bad effect on him, as it gave him the habit of walking, not that walking is bad but when the habit leads to walking home from Allentown and Nazareth as a regular diet we feel the course should be cut out.

Big Business, Attention! Bill has not decided where to start yet, so send in your call early. Every success to you, Bill. Your cheerful smile and ever-ready greeting will be missed by all your old friends here.

"Damn if it ain't."

ALBERT McILVAINE MICHELL
Marion, Ky.

"Mich"

E.M.; Freshman Baseball; Sophomore Cotillion; Lehigh Brown and White (2, 3, 4); 1922 Epitome Board; Pi Delta Epsilon; Delta Tau Delta.

YOU have often heard of Kentucky moonshiners, mountaineers, horse raisers and blue grass, but until four years ago the pride of the State, Albert "Mac" was unknown to these parts. He wore his first pair of shoes on the trip up and then to make them feel natural, put sand in the bottoms. Since that time the effect of education, particularly "college," can be noted. Gone is the sweet simplicity, the tender resignation, and in its place is seen the bland sophistication of the cultivated of the low-brows, the Mining Engineer.

After learning his "readin', riting and 'rithmetic" during the Freshman year he practiced conscientiously alternately on the young ladies of Mealey's School of Social Science and the college publications.

In closing let it be said that had more of us his willingness to serve, his quiet attention to his own business, the success which will be his might be ours.

"Suits me."

ROY FRANCIS MILLER
Altoona, Pa.

"Roy"

E.M.: Wrestling (2, 3); Treasurer, E.M. Society (3); Arcadia (4); Phi Sigma Kappa.

ON October 25, 1897, the dirty city—Altoona—reached its zenith, for then and there Roy first saw the light of day. To this day the gray-bearded railroaders hove around the firesides and harken back to the day when this great event took place. The dirt and smoke apparently had no effect upon the mind of this innocent land—as a youth.

However, sooner or later, everything will out, and after passing through the institution of hard knocks (Lehigh) we are no longer willing to vouch for his actions. He prepared for Lehigh in the High School of his native heath.

Roy enrolled as a E.M. in the fall of 1918 and after four years of hard work and play we expect him to emerge, sheepskin under his arm, seeking new worlds to conquer.

Whatever Roy has attempted to do he has followed it out with the utmost determination and it is this determination, coupled with persistence and tenacity and a pleasant nature, which will help him make a mark for himself.

"Hell's Fire."

PAUL EDWARD MILLER
Bellwood, Pa.

"P.E." "Paul"

N.E.; Wrestling Squad (2, 3, 4).

ALTHOUGH born in the wilds of Pennsylvania, Paul, nevertheless, decided to be an engineer and a good one at that. Accordingly, after completing an extensive course at Altoona High, he entered these halls of learning as a prospective engineer. He took a valorous and energetic part in the battle of South Mountain as a member of the S. A. T. C. Naval Unit. At the close of this memorable campaign he settled down to the less exciting but highly necessary task of completing his education. His efforts along this line have been remarkably consistent, and of such a character as to leave little doubt as to his future success. As a daring riveter in the Wilmington Ship Yards and as a trans-Atlantic navigator of remarkable cunning and fearlessness, he has established an enviable reputation during his brief sojourn at our institution. He is a modest but widely consulted authority on a great number of subjects and has shown himself to be worthy of the greatest success, which we hope that he will attain.

"So they say."

VICTOR STANLEY MISZKIEL

Ashley, Pa.

"Vic" "Mish"

E.E.; E.E. Society.

YOU surely must know this chap when you see him for who could not recognize a coal cracker. After graduating from High School, Vic decided to leave the coal dust behind and make himself useful in this world by coming to Lehigh. Here he became interested in blowing out fuses and the like in Bill's laboratory, and if you have ever seen anything like a Fourth of July celebration going on in some part of the lab, you could be sure that Vic was there.

It certainly was a trying journey, but with his determination it was a mere matter of time before the end was in sight. The obstacles he overcame were numerous, but these were everyday occurrences in his life. Vic was a hard worker and if he made up his mind to get something, there was no way out but to let him have it. As a result, the electrical engineer would always endeavor to show us that the path of least resistance was not always the best.

As for the future, Vic is undecided but if he is as determined as he has been success will reign supreme.

"Snap 'em out of it."

JOHN WALTER MOOREHOUSE

Monaca, Pa.

"Monaca" "Moory"

E.E.; Football Squad (1, 2, 3, 4); Varsity (4); Basket-ball Squad (1); Wrestling Squad (3, 4); Section Chief (4); E.E. Society; Class Football (1, 2); Inkwell.

WHEN Monaca High turned loose its flock of prime fighters and sent its best bet to Lehigh, a long, loose youth strolled into the beautiful and clean town of Bethlehem and pronounced it an awful place to put a college. We agreed. But when this same youth informed us that the little town at home made this town look like the village ash can we grew curious. Forthwith came a flow of oratory expounding upon the beauties of the two streets, the gigantic glass factory and the three girls back home.

After untangling himself from the throes of Math, Monaca began to climb and is still going up. His success in class room and athletics has been gradual but sure—as sure as the iron determination of a real man can make it. This is the one reason Monaca has not stopped. He is a living example of the old "Lehigh Fight." Three years of reverses in athletics left him undismayed but fighting harder than ever he came through and now wears the Varsity "L."

"Ain't that the berries."

HAROLD WILLIAM MORGAN
Altoona, Pa.

"Borax"

C.E.; Cotillion Club; Phi Club; June Hop Committee; Lacrosse Squad (3); Kappa Sigma.

OUT of nothing, nothing comes, but out of the dirt and smoke of Altoona came Borax. The exception proves the rule and we may associate his coming to Lehigh to the diamond in the rough.

In his vast experience with the weaker sex, he has proven to us that he has the stuff, for he has but to meet a girl twice to have the cold dope. To say that he is a social butterfly would be putting it rather mild; as he not only flits from twig to twig and branch to branch of society, but also flies as the well-known crow flies. Being an accomplished master of the terpsichorean art or perhaps an apt pupil of "St. Vitus" he has been found doing his bit at the "Colly." But enough has been said of the social eclat dope, for Borax is just as successful in life's problems more complex. Always on the job with the least possible expenditure of effort, it is sufficient to say that he has gone through Lehigh without a single condition.

Full of pep, good humor, and ability, we have no fear of Borax ever falling down on any job he undertakes.

"Judas Priest."

RICHARD HENRY MORRIS 3RD.
Philadelphia, Pa.

"Hen 3rd"

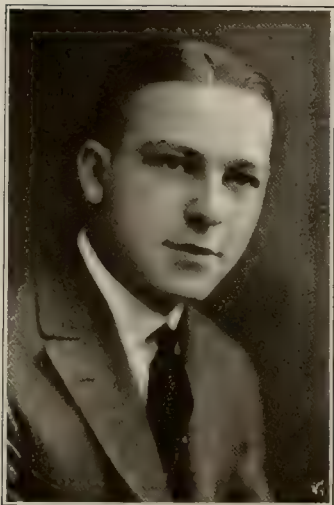

Ch.E.; Lacrosse Squad; Track Squad; Phi Sigma Kappa.

CHE metropolis of Germantown, Pa., has been the scene of two historic events which caused much agitation and excitement. The lesser of the two was the battle of Germantown in '65. History records that the tranquility of that slumbering village was again disturbed on May 14, 1897. But why? Richard Henry Morris 3rd first cried for his bottle. No, that is not the name of a race horse. Just what the Third stands for we have not been able to discover.

Hen's strong point or rather his weak point is the fair sex. During his service in the Navy, Hen acquired what is typical of all sea dogs—a sweetheart in every port. We do not know how closely they conform to Ray Walter's "quantity of quality" group, but the quantity is certainly present.

With a spirit of good fellowship and a strong sense of justice, coupled with a wonderful personality, Hen is a product of which Germantown may well be proud. He is known as a good friend, so here is "bottom's up" to wish him as many friends and as much success in the world as he has had at old Lehigh.

"The devil you say."

PAUL FISHER MUMMA
Waynesboro, Pa.

"Spike"

Met.E.; Business Staff; Burr Board (3, 4); Met. Society; Kappa Beta Phi; Alpha Tau Omega.

WHERE is Waynesboro?" This conundrum caused us some undue perplexity; exaggerated by the statement of a drummer who thought he passed through the town but was undecided because of a large "Bull Durham" sign near the railroad. We were soon enlightened by Paul when he arrived on the "Hill" one bright day during summer school.

He entered Lehigh with advanced standing and has been advancing money to the coffers of certain neighborhood institutions ever since. Foremost of these are the "big four," Fourth and Wyandotte, Fourth and Broadway, Fourth and New, and Fourth and Hamilton.

It is unnecessary to attempt to eulogize on the popularity of this man. He came to us a neophyte, but showed pronounced willingness and ability to learn quickly. The name "Spike" given him in sportive familiarity is a mark of his hardihood and "sticktoitiveness." Here is the keynote of his popularity and success, both in college and as a man about town.

"Out of my way—sailor!"

JAMES MENNERT NEWLIN
Sparrows Point, Md.

"Red" "Noppy"

E.M.; Class Basket-ball (1); Class Baseball (1); Soccer (1, 2, 3, 4); Scimitar; Cotillion Club; Vice-President, Class (3); Phi Delta Theta.

THE first time we heard about Red was when he took the prize at the baby show at Sparrows Point.

Seven babies and the artist who afterward drew Happy Hooligan were present and through the influence of this artist Red romped home with the marbles.

Red in a soccer suit is a revelation, but place this biped in a Tuxedo and surround him with damsels and you have the boy at his best. Red will not eat spinach because it ruins the general color scheme. As soon as Mennert was able to grasp the fundamentals his parents sent him away to school because they thought that if he were allowed to remain in Sparrows Point he would follow the sea for he had always wanted a pet pair of gold fish since early childhood. Red says he never could see why they make such a fuss over the asymptote of a curve and did not mention his name in the chapter. Well, so far we have been a little hard on the lad but now we must tell the truth, even if it hurts. Let's sum it up by saying that he is a damn good fellow.

"Try and get it."

EMIL PASOLLI
Paterson, N. J.

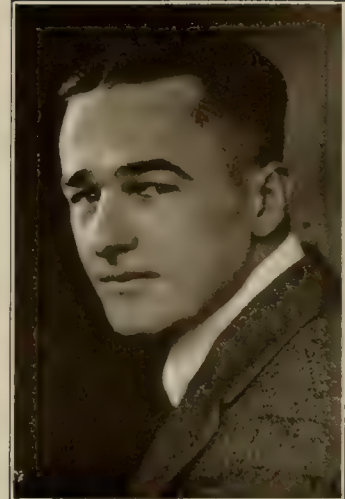

"Pat" "Em"

E.M.; Freshman Basket-ball; Freshman Baseball.

NOT much could be said for Paterson, N. J., up to the time that Em made his debut in Bethlehem, but from then on we wished there were more men like him in the Class of '22. Few of us fail to remember how we proudly wore our hats on Sunday, and it was partly due to his stellar playing on both the Freshman baseball and basket-ball teams that helped win our famous victory over the ill-fated Sophs. The next thing that Pat was slated for was to put one over on Thorny one fine day when he passed Calculus on the first crack—thus having a clean slate for two years. Skipper Eckfeldt was beginning to have high hopes for another famous E.M. when Pat again fooled the Faculty and left for West Point. Needless to say he left many friends behind.

Well, Pat, we surely wish you were finishing with us—but in the future when we introduce our friends to a real general—we will be proud to say he is a Lehigh man, for "once a Lehigh man, always a Lehigh man." Best of luck, old timer.

"No ke'din"

JOHN PFEIFFER
Washington, D. C.

"Chick"

Ch.E.; Class Baseball (1, 2); Class Basket-ball (1, 2); Interfraternity Council; Chemical Society; Phi Sigma Kappa.

EARLY one morning, late in the fall of 1918, there appeared in our midst this loyal son of Washington. We say loyal but we might also add, devoted son, for he has spent many an hour telling of the wonderful city of senators and peanut venders.

Chick came to Lehigh with visions of chemicals, discoveries and fame, so armed with a lead pencil he set out to make a mark for himself. He soon found a vacant corner in the laboratory, some old bottles and some gay-colored liquids and the battle was on.

We do not hesitate to say that Chick's hobby is the fair sex. When one peers into his study and is confronted by such a collection of pictures the first thought is—how does he do it?

Chick is a great talker but unlike most men of that type he accomplishes great things. If he continues to show the same enthusiasm and loyalty in after life as he has thus far, our Alma Mater will be proud of her son and his success.

"A nickel's worth of God help us."

RALPH HARRISON POTTS

Reading, Pa.

"Pottie" "Stumpy"

Ch.E.; Ch.E. Society.

BEHOLD, "Ouver Harrison," a product of that terribly Dutch town, Reading. Although he spent his younger days in said "Stadt," he is by far more at home in "Sous Besslem," not necessarily Lehigh. He came here with aspirations limited alone by the heavens, Tau Beta, among others, being the first rung of the ladder. However, time has altered his views.

We had better retard the sparks and quiet the knocking, eh, what? To date he had not startled the world with any great chemical discovery, with the exception of several valuable formulae on mixed drinks a la home brew. However, we feel confident that the name of Potts will forever stand as the keynote of Volstead's Waterloo. In all seriousness, he has the gray matter stored away in his seven and three-eighths, as he is one of those lucky chaps that can "Cop the A's without cracking a book." Great things can be expected from that high forehead (denoting brains), for, as yet, his energies have not been used to the best advantage, they being sidetracked as cited above, but when he gets started "throwing the acids" then watch his smoke.

"Where do you get that 'stuff'."

HAROLD WENTZELL PLATT

Bridgetown, N. J.

"Platty"

C.E.; Class Treasurer (3); C.E. Society; Delta Upsilon.

THIS torn and tattered, mud-bespattered Civil Engineer, after bouncing around on the horrible streets of his home town for numerous years, finally decided to come to Lehigh to gather a little dope and then to run home and pave the city. After a brief stay, however, "Platter" fell for the charms of Lehigh, of the Bethlehems, and of the adjacent towns, and has prolonged his stay to four years.

The fact that he detests bridge and loves bridges is more or less of a paradox, but I assure you it is so. After some of his accurate and graphic descriptions of activities in Bridge Design Class, I pause to wonder whether P's fondness for that class manifests itself in pure scientific interest or whether the outside activities and special features cause him to spend long hours in the drawing-room.

Another of his activities is B'thorpe, which course he has passed with an "A", finding time to shower upon the lassies. Now, as the little boy who sat down on the ice, said: "This is all." No. We shall always view Platter's departure with regret.

"Holy Joe."

PAUL CLADER REICHARD

Allentown, Pa.

"Richard"

M.E.; M.E. Society; Allen-Lehigh Club; Deutscher Verein.

TAKE a peek at the stern features of "Richard," Richard the Lion Hearted, or rather, Richard the Iron Jawed. Paul is a faithful disciple of the two pops down in Bill Hall and is one of the bright lights of the Mechanicals.

Paul hails from Allentown, but is a good fellow, notwithstanding. He early got the Real Lehigh Spirit, although he missed the S. A. T. C. Hence, he became an army booster when the R. O. T. C. arrived. He has long since graduated from that department, however.

We cannot say that Paul is guilty of such offenses as "stepping out." He says, "There is plenty of time for that." But we know him a little better than all that; he is quite an expert on peaches, and 100 per cent. modest as to further details. We trust that he will be rewarded with the right kind of a fraulein at the opportune time.

This enterprising gentleman has been regular in his gym inspection tours and will agree that next to the electrically lighted corridors of Bill Hall, the pool is the most cheerful spot on the campus.

"Gee, whiz!"

ADOLPH TED PRIGOHZY

Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Ted" "Tap" "Pat" "Peter" ..

E.M.; First Prize, Junior Oratorical Contest; Mustard and Cheese; Soccer Squad (3, 4); Pi Lambda Phi.

ONE bright night in the year—, the Three Wise Men, who were sitting in Central Park with the Three Graces, Wine, Woman and Song, saw the age-old Star of Bethlehem blaze forth anew. Draining their flasks, they gazed again. Still it shone on the stilly night. "Let us follow whither it directs us," said Wine. "I shall claim the babe to be mine own!"

The six worthies followed the Star to Brooklyn, and hushed by his glory, fell upon their knees and gave homage to the infant, Ted Prigohzy.

We won't commit ourselves on the song proposition, but Ted has become a true disciple of Wine and Women.

But that's not all, friends, not by a d—d sight. Our dreamy-eyed Ted gives fair promise to become another Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree (that is, if the Skipper decides that he doesn't rate an E.M.). He shouldn't get a degree, at any rate, for all we've ever seen him do is read Oscar Wilde and write twenty-page letters. Yet, success to the unworthy.

"Who's got any Arcadia paper? I gotta write a letter to my woman."

ROBERT RODNEY RHOAD

Philadelphia, Pa.

"Bob" "Dusty"

N.E.; Football Team; N.E. Society; Arcadia; President (4); Psi Upsilon.

ROBERT RODNEY RHOAD, better known to us all as Bob, came here as a graduate of Philadelphia Central High School. They thought enough of him there to confer upon him the degree of Bachelor of Arts, but this did not satisfy Bob's desire for an education. He was in search of new worlds to conquer, so he wended his way to old South Mountain and Lehigh, where he took up his studies as an aspirant to the Civil Engineering degree.

After one year at Lehigh, Bob found the call of the colors too much for him, and he enlisted in the Navy for the duration of the war. Before the big fight was over, he had received an ensign's commission.

In his Freshman year, Bob had the honor of being on the great Lehigh team which walloped Lafayette to the tune of 78-0. Though light, he had the old fight that counted, and he played guard throughout the season. Since then Bob has attained the rather uncoveted distinction of being Lehigh's champion hard luck athlete, being kept out of football for his last three years in college on account of injuries.

"Can you bend that!"

EDWIN LOUIS REYNOLDS

Bethesda, Md.

"Ed" "Eddie"

C.E.; Freshman Math. Prize; Second Sophomore Math Prize; Junior Honors; C.E. Society; Lieutenant, R. O. T. C.

AFTER completing his education at Western and Technical High Schools, Washington, D. C., he came to Lehigh in the dreary war days of the fall of 1918, clear full of fight. He began his haughty and contemptuous march through Lehigh by stepping first on Knebleman's neck in Algebra. Since that event it has been merely an easy climb, with plenty of resting places along the way. All obstacles were overcome by a mere bound rather than by the midnight oil. In addition to his devotion to his chosen work of Civil Engineering, he has been rapidly developing into a notable army officer. He has given up much of his summer vacations to sweating under the hot suns of summer training camps, toward that end. He is a widely known and popular character and his correspondence embraces not only the belles of America but of Continental Europe as well. He is considered an authority on C.E. subjects at Lehigh and acted as consulting engineer for the 1922 Civils. We wish him success, although this is not essential, as he is bound to succeed in whatever he takes up.

"Snap out of it!"

SAMUEL PROCTOR RODGERS

Baltimore, Md.

"Proc" "Sam"

M.E.; Cross Country ((3); Track Team (3); Soccer Team (4); Tau Beta Pi.

WHERE was great rejoicing in the hearts of all the course crabbers and Tau Betas when the news was flashed forth far and wide that one "Ivory Proctor" Rodgers had hit the dust in the famous Monumental City of Baltimore, on January 10th, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and one. From then on he spent his time knocking the books and missing the women until the Senior Mechanicals decided to use brute force, if necessary, to stop his attacks on the studies.

With the just mentioned outlet for his endeavors gone there was but one left—"Women." Terrible results followed, broken hearts, settees, hair nets, and every Sunday even the cushions in the churches. This last was the lowest of the low.

In his spare time he is known to have kicked a soccer ball and to have "harried" a bit. He also has found time to enter into several other college activities and despite all previous abuses, we have no doubt that with his determination and gameness, Proc will make a great success when he gets out into the cold, cold and dreary world.

"For Pete's sake."

LESLIE CUTLER RICKETTS

Barre, Mass.

"Rick" "Les"

M.E.; Football Squad (1, 2); Wrestling Squad (1, 2); Track Squad (1, 2); Class Sergeant-at-Arms (1); Interfraternity Council (4); M.E. Society (1, 2, 3, 4); President (4); Theta Xi.

BEHOLD, there came to us in the fall of 1917 a pure, innocent and undefiled youth, reared in the wilds of New Haven, Conn., by the name of Leslie Cutler Ricketts. He received his almost perfect "line" during his prep school days training at Mt. Hermon. L. C. (Elsie) answered the call of his country in the spring of 1918 and became a "dry sailor," of which he relates many stories to us. Returning to us in the spring of 1919, Elsie was a hardened gob, but during the last year with us became in his language "a changed man," but no one seems to be able to determine wherein he is changed. Elsie's attention when not drawn to the difficult M.E. subjects seems to wend its way towards idols captured by some unknown rival.

Nevertheless, "Rick," after all storms the sunshine is sure to appear, and here is to your success in whatever you undertake, both in business and social affairs

"Holy baldhead."

AUGUSTE LOUIS SALTZMAN
East Orange, N. J.

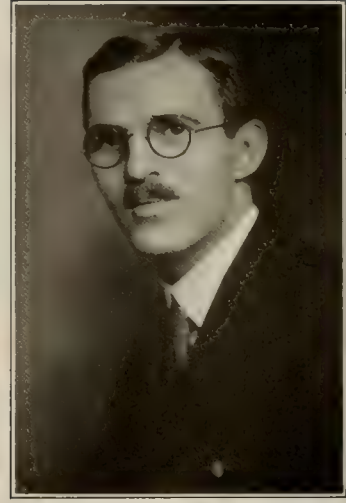

"Wop"

M.E.; Cotillion Club; Deutscher Verein (3, 4); Vice-President (4); Cyanide; Sword and Crescent; Assistant Manager, Wrestling (3); Manager (4); Manager, Intercollegiate Wrestling Association (4); Phi Delta Theta.

OP, as this is known in the underworld, came to us from the Oranges. The crowning moment of this bird's life was when his father said: "Now, my son, go to Lehigh and live down the reputation that I established there." You see the loving father had faith in his fair-haired "Gustie" (hang on to the "U"), so we have taken him rather seriously and humored him along. The outsider will never know how hard it has been to see that he got his puffed rice every morning and that he always carried a clean handkerchief, but we now feel rewarded for our troubles. Pluto once said that water was the quaff of life, but you would never convince our Auguste that Pluto knew his book. Once, while unattended in Brooklyn, Gustie met Evol (spell it backwards) and since that time all of our helpful suggestions have gone for naught. His studious ways have won for him the admiration of the dumb, and the love of the dear professors.

"Pretty."

CLARENCE PRIOR SALMON
Chicago, Ill.

"C.P." "Sammy"

Metallurgy; Glee Club; Mercur Met. Scholarship.

P. was born one windy night in Chicago before Sears, Roebuck decided that justice was the best policy. Mother soon took her two boys to Trenton so that Clarence could be exhibited to her parents. Shortly after returning to Chicago, she left Dad and him for the Promised Land. He cried in Chicago, teethered in Trenton, had measles in Chicago, chicken-pox in Orange, and an attack of puppy love in Niagara. Having neither brothers nor sisters he became very much attached to a baby electric furnace and a dog while on vacations in Niagara. He has now finished a course in medical preparation at Lehigh for doctoring electrical furnaces in the future and will probably prove to be an expert exponent of his art.

"Holy Cats."

CHARLES SHOEMAKER
SATTERTHWAIT
Pottstown, Pa.

"Chubby"

C.E.; Sophomore Cotillion; Soccer Team
(1, 2, 3); Theta Xi.

CHUBBY hails from the "City of Brotherly Love," and his ancestors were those who named it. He hasn't followed the old code of moral law as drawn up by his ancestors, and even he doesn't smoke, chew, drink or swear (?), he will dance and play cards.

We will always remember "Chubby" as a true Lehigh man always ready to do those things which will help Lehigh on the map. Never selfish in his efforts to help other fellows, and always ready to do his share, and more than his share. We are looking for big things from "Chubby" after he gets the old sheepskin and I know we won't be disappointed, because he has made out well while in school, both scholastically and socially.

"Chubby" has a little start on the rest of us, having already betaken upon himself the almost always inevitable responsibility of a wife and more than that he has quite a lead by the addition of two future Lehigh students.

"Goodness gracious."

NORMAN PRIME SANBORN
Cleveland, Ohio

"Sandy"

C.E.; Sword and Crescent; Cyanide; Pi Delta Epsilon; Kappa Beta Phi; Adv. Manager, Burr; Business Manager, 1922 Epitome; Class Treasurer (4); Junior Banquet Committee; Vice-President, Lehigh Press Club; Psi Upsilon.

BEFORE the war Sandy, as he is known to most of us attended Kenyon College, Gambier, Ohio, where he was studying for a B.S. degree. When Uncle Sam cast his lot with the Allies, Sandy joined the Navy and in this branch of the service served until after the Armistice was signed, holding meanwhile the rank of ensign.

When the war was ended Sandy decided to apply his efforts along a more tangible line, so he came to Lehigh to study to be a C.E. Due to his change of colleges, we have been fortunate enough to have had him with us for three years instead of only two. Sandy had hardly landed here before he started right in to make good use of his time in other ways than in the pursuit of learning from books. In other words, he has been connected with almost every activity in college, as may easily be seen from a glance at the preceding list of college honors.

"What's the assignment for today?"

WALLACE SCHIER

Kew Gardens, Long Island, N. Y.

"Wally"

Bus. Adm.; University Band; Assistant Manager (3); Manager (4); Combined Musical Clubs; Assistant Manager (3); Manager (4); June Hope Committee (3); Burr Board (3, 4); Secretary, Class (4).

IT was quite a time after the angry mob of Freshmen in 1918 had settled down to work, that Wally honored Lehigh with his merry countenance—guess it was along in January when we saw him coming up the hill for the first time.

He's been rather quite about his past achievements in "Ye old town of Kew Gardens, L. I.", but judging from his past performances at Lehigh, we surmised that he was the "sixteen-year-old girl idol" in days of yore. Many are the things he has tried and done, and as modest as you make them, seldom you find a band man who doesn't toot his own horn.

We must say a word about Wally's admiration for those of the weaker sex. His smile has made many a fair heart flutter—but "nuf sed" in that respect.

His happy-go-lucky nature, sincerity and "million-dollar" personality have made many true and life-long friends. Here's to a most prosperous future.

"Try and get it!"

BERNARD EDWARD SCHAEFER

Allentown, Pa.

"Dutch" "Bernie"

E.M.; Class Basket-ball (1, 2); Class Baseball (1, 2).

ABOUT fifteen years ago, a sturdy youngster seated on a beer keg behind the bar of the Central Hotel in Mauch Chunk, was won't to watch the Dutchmen drop in for their sustenance. Accustomed as he was to such sights, where should he have come for familiar surroundings but to "our dear Lehigh."

To dispel all erroneous impression in their infancy, "Dutch" is not Dutch, despite the fact that he lives in Allentown. But we all know that a man's home is where his heart is, and Bernie, when he migrated down the river to Allentown, left his heart in Chunk.

Outside of this Bernie's life is most peaceful. He's a great pal. No man was ever more generous with cigarettes when he had them, and Dutch always had them until New Year's day. We're sorry he went South on us just when we were getting to like his brand.

"Whadda ye mean? I'm not Dutch."

CARL LOUIS SCHNEIDER
Eliabeth, N. J.

"Snitz" "Jiggs"

M.E.; M.E. Society; Cotillion; Varsity Squad Baseball (1, 2); Varsity Squad Basket-ball (1, 2).

SNITZ is a product of Battin High School, Eliabeth, N. J. He blew into Bethlehem, September, 1917.

The main idea was to become a Mechanical Engineer, so he started to gather all the dope that he could. As a result, he went through two and a half years of his college career without flunking a subject and, according to all indications, his prospects for a strong finish were bright. However, Snitz was in for a little hard luck, as his health went back on him and he was forced to discontinue his studies at the end of his first term, Junior year, and was unable to return until the second term of the following year. During his enforced vacation, old Kinematics took a trip to the South and Cuba, and from a conversation with Jiggs himself, we gather that for a very good reason he hated to come North. Since his return he has managed to maintain his usual good standing of work, and now we find Snitz ready to join the army of bread-winners

"What's flyin' now, boys! What's in the wind?"

CHARLES HECKER SCHLESMAN
Allentown, Pa.

"The Count"

Ch.E.

GAZE on the Rand-McNally of our friend, Ludwig, of mechanical ingenuity and chemical curiosity.

His first photo shows him as a child attacking some old machinery with a wrench, while to one side stands beakers of fuming acid.

This member of the Chemical Course hails from the beautiful city of Allentown, where he was born on November 20, 1901. Strange as it may seem, he does not speak the dialect, as the records of the German Department will show. He is an alumnus of the Allentown High School, having graduated with the Class of 1918. While a student in that institution, he acquired fame in the chemical department by mixing together all the explosive compounds in the laboratory.

It is not often that the Count is seen with any of the gentler sex, but as he has a large number of friends we imagine that he is just looking them over.

It is said that when he is not working on the engine of his touring car or attending social affairs, he sometimes finds time for study, but what more can we say than, "He has braved the storms of the Chemical Department."

"Let's go!"

WALTER LOUIS SHEARER
Washington, D. C.

"Duke"

Ch.E.; Fourth Prize, Junior Oratorical Contest.

DUKE SHEARER is the result of a Lehigh training on another of the products of Technical High of Washington, D. C. He came here as a Frosh when the army was about to take charge of all college activities, and two and a half months of service as a Freshman corporal in the S. A. T. C. (with attendant ducking and paddling) made a lasting impression on him. Since then he has pursued the rather unobtrusive tenor of his ways, being interested in all college activities though making as opportunity offered but futile attempts at wrestling, drumming up business for the "Brown and White," and lacrosse.

Without a doubt, however, he has laid himself open to the charge of being a grind because he is too slow to break away from vicious habits of plugging acquired in his youth.

Among his classmates and associates he has many friends who will not only remember him because of his habit in turning up a half hour or so late, but also because of his willingness to lend a helping hand whenever possible.

"You tell 'em, Bo!"

EARL DUM SCHWARTZ
Harrisburg, Pa.

"Earl"

C.E.

ONE fine and stormy day in September there arrived in the great town of Bethlehem a noble character who went by the name of Earl D. Schwartz. Upon eating a fine dinner at the Commons he decided to take a chance and enter Lehigh. Thus we have been blessed by his smiling countenance ever since. He is a living example that Harrisburg can produce other freaks than athletes, despite Baldy's contention, and he is a member in good standing in the C.E. crabbing association.

Although seeming to be a silent member, it was soon discovered he had a great excess of wind, so some kind friend persuaded him to give it to his Alma Mater. The band received the benefit of the wind and his friends are truly grateful for the relief. He is quite a checker player also, but does not make the noise on the checker field that he does in the band. When it comes to talking, he is hard to beat and is one of the founders of the Commons Society for the discussion of nothing. To believe him, he has passed through his college course without the assistance of the ladies, but his actions speak louder than his words.

"Raspberries."

CHARLES FORBES SILSBY

Washington, D. C.

"Forbes" "Goldeblocs"

Ch.E.; Captain R. O. T. C., '21, '22; Scabbard and Blade.

ONE! Two! Three! Foah! Get that cadence." What means this noise and din, battle roar? Yes, verily, it is our quiet, stately, blonde classmate, the Senator from Washington, Forbes. He's piloting his crew of reserves down the street and exercising his lungs for their benefit. Yes, he's the champion one hundred and thirty-two pound captain of the unit, and endeavors to compensate for his lack of weight by the ferocity and volume of his commands. But take him off the drill field and we find a bashful (?), flaxen-haired youth, addicted to white socks.

We all admire a steady, consistent, efficient man, and Forbes is all of these. He left McKinley High as an honor man and has gone through Lehigh with a minimum number of final exams and a maximum number of A's. Even the dreaded Hillebrand was brushed aside with ease. Such superhuman ability, coupled with a sincere love for old Lehigh, promises big things, and we are confident Forbes will soon be on the receiving end of a long stream of almighty dollars. Here's hoping he don't forget us then.

"This cost eighty-six dollars."

SAMUEL HUNT SHIPLEY

York, Pa.

"Sam" "Ship"

Vice-President of Freshman Class, '20; Cotillion; Kappa Beta Phi; Wrestling Squad (3, 4); Cheerleader (3); Head Cheerleader (4); Arcadia (3, 4); Student Activity Committee (4); Chairman, Booster Committee (4); Chi Psi.

IT has become fashionable in this day and generation, when an author desires to anonymously appraise a public character, to reflect his traits and accomplishments in an impersonal manner. Hence, as we have the "Mirrors of Washington" and "Mirrors of Downing Street," so may this be "Mirrors of Samuel Shipley."

Sam was born and brought up in York, Pennsylvania, and there completed an industrial course in high school. Before entering Lehigh he spent a year at Phillips Exeter. When Thorny finally did admit him, it was with fervent hope that he would graduate in 1920. But the excitement overseas was such that Sam weighed anchor just before the close of his first year and sailed for France.

In June, 1919, he returned, and from then on he has been in permanent residence in Bethlehem as a member of the Class of '22.

"As far as I am concerned."

WARREN CYRUS SPATZ

Reading, Pa.

"Cy"

E.E.; E.E. Society.

IT sure is strange how these Beer Hounds and Pretzel Eaters seek after knowledge. The above is no exception. Born and raised in Reading, he came to Lehigh four years ago. During these years he has grown in wisdom, not only along the minor activities of college, such as Electrical Engineering, but also along the more important affairs of college life, embracing the three famous evils, namely, wine, women and song. "Cy", however, has done very little singing. In addition, it has been rumored that he read beer signs, looks into pool rooms and raises general h— about town.

We find it rather hard to keep track of his affairs with the wimmen. After every week-end trip he has a story to tell about the wonderful girl he met, etc. Our detectives are working on the case finding out whether they throw him over, or whether it is his craving for variety that causes his apparent fickleness.

It may be well to state here, that "Cy" is a dangerous man to meet in an alley (bowling alley), for he usually hits the king pin. We are confident that in the game of life he will also hit the king pin and cause the sparks to fly.

"I'll say so."

HUBERT BELL SMITH

Philadelphia, Pa.

"Tubie" "Bell" "Hubie"

C.E.; Sophomore Cotillion; Phi Club; Glee Club (2, 3); Quartette (2, 3); Manager of Tennis; Interfraternity Council (2, 3); Alpha Tau Omega.

PHILADELPHIA has given great things to the world and it gave Lehigh Tubie, and Tubie gave to Lehigh, among many other things, the present system used in the Gym. This just shows how versatile and competent he really is. He is as well known among the students as "Bosey," and any place, anywhere, he might be asked by some solicitous student as to Gym credits.

During the war, Tubie specialized in radio work, which has caused him a great deal of trouble in keeping even with his class, but he has always shown the old smile and has worked with such care and foresight that his success as an engineer is assured. Although a Civil, he would rather be a Miner and is specializing in extra work in that department.

Besides a good attendance his first three years at Mealy's and the Colly, he found time to sing in the Glee Club, and his last year to manage a successful season in tennis for Lehigh.

"Has the 12.10 gone? Call Davie."

EARL STIMSON, JR.
Roland Park, Baltimore, Md.

"Duke"

M.E.; Vice-President, Lehigh-Maryland Club; Vice-President, Railroad Society of Lehigh University.

IN the Ides of March the world took a new lease on life because was it not that day that Earl Stimson, Jr., first saw the light of day in Chillicothe, Ohio? Having conferred this honor on Chillicothe, the young Lochinvar came out of the West to give Baltimore a boost. Here he attended B. P. I., where he graduated with honors in all subjects except dancing (which he hasn't passed yet). With this condition he entered Lehigh in 1919, where he pursued his perilous journey, made dangerous by the proximity of pretty girls and the Coliseum.

But his one and only redeeming feature is his love for the B. & O. However to any sane person his love of riding on the B. & O. does not account for the numerous trips home, or in that direction. Also, it's a peculiar circumstance that the D. & H. has a particular high rating with our young protege, possible because of the scenery, lake views, or picnic parties. As to the latter, Earl is a firm believer in rigid supervision by an impartial chaperon.

"Dad Bob." "By George."

JOHN HOWARD STOLL
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Jack" "Johnny"

Met.; Arcadia; Cotillion; Met. Society; Kappa Sigma.

ONE night in the 90's, Philadelphia was awakened by a tremendous howl. It was Johnny, and he has been howling ever since. Johnny entered Lehigh with the Class of 1921, but being full of the Lehigh Spirit, he decided to graduate with the Class of 1922. John was disappointed when he did not draw dividends on his first tuition, but really, John, we (the old boys) will see that they name a building after you, because you deserve it for long and faithful honors.

"You're damn right!"

CHARLES CARTER STRAUCH
Pottsville, Pa.

"Red"

M.E.; Class Banquet Committee (3); Class Book Committee (4); Class Vice-President (4); Interfraternity Council (3, 4); Executive Committee (4); Varsity Lacrosse (2, 3, 4); Captain (4); Scimitar; 18 Club; Cotillion; Cyanide; Sword and Crescent, Vice-President; Phi Gamma Delta.

WHENEVER you see a group of Senior M.E.'s you will invariably find exhibit A, diagram above, in the midst with a grin from ear to ear, either razzing someone or receiving a bit of kidding himself.

On his arrival in this thriving metropolis four years ago the first thing that Red did after chipping the coal dust from behind his ears was to cast his weathered eye around the lot for something to make the name of Strauch famous. This weathered eye of his finally rested on a lacrosse stick and not knowing what he was getting into he joined the suicide squad, where everyone has blood—either his own or somebody else's—in his eye.

Before long, Red will undoubtedly startle the old folk in the home town by his achievements in the business world of the Greasy Mechanicals.

"I'll say!"

GEORGE FREDERICK ADELBERT STUTZ, JR.

Washington, D. C.

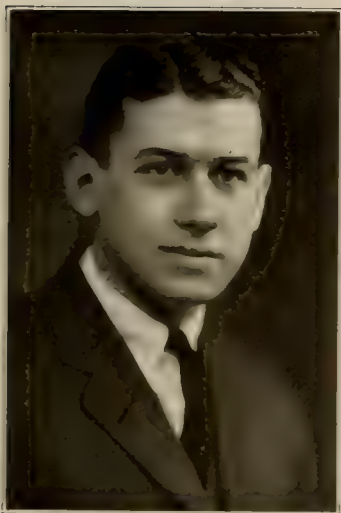

"George"

Ch.E.; Varsity Cheerleader (3, 4); Musical Clubs (3, 4); Y. M. C. A. Cabinet (4); President, Inkwell (3, 4); Treasurer, Chemical Society (4); Second Prize, Freshman Math.; First Prize, Sophomore Physics; Chandler Prize (2, 3); Scabbard & Blade; Tau Beta Pi.

AND here, ladies, is Mr. Stutz. Look him over well, for rest assured he has his eye upon you. He is handsome; he is smart; he is—oh! very sociable, and above all, he wears spats—grey ones, like a tank. The Bethlehem ladies scrap over him while he is here and when he is home—well, she told us personally that he is the sweetest boy on earth; and there is no use arguing with a woman.

However, in spite of these assets, our George goes merrily on. He has been winning honors ever since he stepped through the portals of old Tech, in Washington, D. C., such minor ones as Math. and Physics, and then repeated on the Chandler Prize in Chemistry. He does things so easily. When the old integral will not integrate, we go to George and, lo, and behold, we could have done it ourself if we had known.

"Gee Buck."

GEORGE ROBERT SWINTON

Atlantic City, N. J.

"George"

C.E.: Varsity Football Squad (1, 2, 3, 4); Varsity Letter (4); Founder's Day Sports (1, 2); Secretary, C. E. Society (4); Tau Beta Pi.

IT is not the good fortune of many of us to experience four years of college life more profitably and pleasantly than those our friend, George, is just rounding out. His early history named Bridgeton, N. J., as his birthplace and West Philly and Atlantic City as scenes of youthful scholastic triumphs. All of which add puzzle to our picture of him maneuvering so carelessly across the Lehigh battle front.

Beach combing along the New Jersey coast developed much brawn for George and he made use of it every day for four football seasons, contributing to the work of developing a winning eleven. He considers the privilege of wearing the football "L" a just reward.

Thus we conclude that George's career has been filled with few idle moments. This energetic quality coupled with plenty of natural ability makes it easy for us to predict that his future career will be most profitable and pleasant.

"Duck soup."

THEODORE MacLEAN SWITZ

East Orange, N. J.

"Ted"

Ch.E.: Ch.E. Society, Secretary (4); Cottillion; Mustard and Cheese; Burr Board; Faculty Dramatics (4); Tau Beta Pi; Chi Psi.

FOUR years ago Ted "came out of East Orange," his chief attributes being a boundless enthusiasm for life and an inquisitive nature that would have done credit to the far-famed cat that curiosity killed. He still retains both of these characteristics.

Having successfully lived through those terrible days of the "Stick Around Till Christmas" outfit, Ted used up the better part of another year and a half in establishing himself as a student of Chemical Engineering. Having exhausted the possibilities of satisfying his inquisitive nature among the routine duties of his course, in his Junior year he turned his attention toward new fields. His ability as an artist with pen and ink and his excellent portrayal of characters won him a place upon the staff of the Burr, and among the ranks (?) of the Mustard and Cheese.

Evidently Ted's year and a half of research devoted entirely to his course was well spent, for he is a wearer of a Tau Beta Pi key and can quote endless formulae.

"How should I know?"

WATSON FERGUS TAIT, JR.
Parkersburg, W. Va.

"Buck"

E.E.: E.E. Society; Tau Beta Pi; Delta Upsilon.

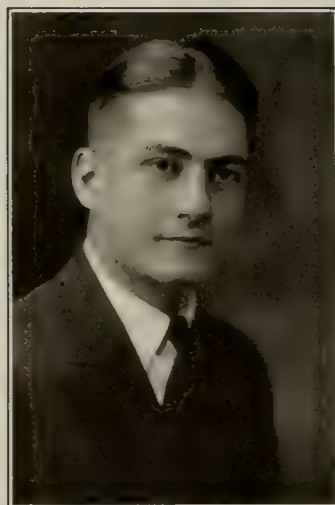

BUCK being a graduate student whose sole aim is to get the most out of the college curriculum, is invariably found delving into the mysteries of some Fourier's series or into the possibilities of the adaptation of revolving fields for the pasturing of sheep, but he does manage to find time for other things.

As a baritone he was finally discovered and this amplified by his being one of the Hawaiian quartet makes him conspicuous among the glee-ers.

He often says that when through his college courses that he and "Skip," his fellow snake, are going to install doorbells, but he must be joking, for with his scholastic record and his ability to mix and to fit into the environment, there will be plenty of worthwhile places for him to fill.

Even though he be an engineer, there will be many a bleeding female heart before this young West Virginian is laid to rest among his native hills. When the sad moment of his demise is at hand those that stand about the bier will voice but one opinion and that: "He died fighting."

"Hey Whoozitz!"

WILLIAM HENRY TAVENNER
Washington, D. C.

"Dutch" "Bill-Henry"

F.M.: Class Football (1, 2); Swimming (1); Chairman, Sophomore Banquet Committee; Vice-President, Mining Society (3); Lacrosse Squad (3, 4); Cyanide; Arcadia.

FOUR years ago, William Henry, encumbered only with an alarm clock and a drawl, set sail from the City of Washington for Mr. Levi's University, the stronghold of corduroys and the leather vest.

Boyhood hours spent at carving rocks along muddy banks of the Potomac had given him the desire to be a miner, a la Lehigh. Hence we see him with his bag and trusty hammer heading for the wilds "down by Emaus and Butztown." We emphatically deny that his skill with the above-mentioned geologists's weapon is due to previous experience at "making little ones out of big ones."

Starting in with football in his first year, he decided after three seasons of it that that game was not suited to his delicate taste, so he switched to the Suicide Club, otherwise known as lacrosse.

Dutch has earned the right to be called a true Lehigh man. He knows how to work hard when necessary, and to pull a good bluff when necessary.

"Give itcher."

PEYTON LEFTVICH TERRY
Roanoke, Va.

"Pate"

M.E.: Chi Phi.

PATE" dropped in on us one fall morning from Roanoke, Va., where he had just laid aside his gun and uniform—and incidently, a much-coveted decoration—after nearly two years in the thick of it in France. Before entering the service he had gone to the University of Virginia, but when war had ceased and he again began to think of higher education, his steps led him to Bethlehem, where he entered Lehigh as a Mechanical Engineer.

During his three years here Pate has been very active along certain lines of study in mechanics—in the summer he would spend his time around locomotives in the Norfolk & Western Railroad shops, while in the winter he would spend much of it in studying the common carriers of the Bethlehem-Allentown Street Railway Company.

He may be said to be conservative about some things and radical about others. A "Business Man" is in the former class while the "Engineer," preferably an M.E., is in the latter. He is inclined toward philosophy and is very serious minded except when occasion calls for hilarity—then he does his part with extraordinary ability.

"Hello, men!"

ABRAHAM SCHROPP THAELER
Nazareth, Pa.

"Bull" "Abe"

N.E.; Band (2, 3, 4); Glee Club (3, 4); Naval Society (2, 3, 4); Secretary (3); President (4); Vice-President. Y. M. C. A. (4); Tau Beta Pi; Phi Beta Kappa.

STAND by you, land-lubbers, while I cast you a line on a sailor tried and true. "Abe" believes that if a thing is worth doing at all it is worth doing well. With this in mind he has built at Lehigh an enviable scholastic record. Some say he is a "Shark," but they don't know. Those who know him best realize that his success at Lehigh is due to an excellent mind, coupled with the ability to plug and never give up until he clearly understands the problem at hand.

Now, don't get the idea that all "Abe" has done is to study. He plays a wicked trombone in the Band, fingers a mean organ, sings a robust Bach, presides with dignity at Y. M. C. A. and Naval Society meetings, keeps the wolf from the door of the "Tau Betas," and I don't know what all. More important, his classification as a friend and good fellow is A-1; always willing to drop his own work to help some dumb classmate or work for the good of Lehigh.

"You're wrong—dead wrong!"

JOSEPH TUMBLER

Baltimore, Md.

Ch.E.

IN 1633 Lord Baltimore came to America. In 1918, "Joe" Tumbler came into the foreign country of S. Bethlehem to demonstrate to the U. S. Navy how to make smoke seem denser by his chemical assimilation. Joe takes great pride in arguing why "Studebaker" rear ends do not fall out. He is not a staunch believer in "Frisco" or "Tangoing"—and for that reason he failed to make his "M" at Mealy's and his "C" for wrestling at the "Colly." Joe, aside from his chemical knowledge, possesses a decided inclination toward high finance and we hope it goes up to 30 cents a share. With this dual combination, we cannot but otherwise see Joe a successful Lehigh product—and perhaps some day will be able to donate for the electrification of the Library.

"Holy mackerel." "For the love of Mike!"

LAWRENCE NORTHRUP VanNORT

Scranton, Pa.

"Van"

M.E.; Freshman Football Team; Sophomore Football; Vice-President, '21; Arcadia, '21, '22; Swimming, '19, '20, '21, '22; Captain, '22; Track Team, '21, '22; Sword and Crescent; Cyanide, Senior Athletic Representative.

ONE nice September morning about four years ago a flivver might have been seen wending its way out of Scranton. We didn't know it then, but it was headed for Bethlehem, and contained the Honorable "Van." Van turned out to be quite an addition to Lehigh, though it did look hopeless, and managed to perform on the track as well as in the pool, outside of this his favorite occupation is waiting at the Commons. Tipping the light fantastic is another of his many accomplishments, and when he can't be located, try the Colly, it never fails. Van makes an admirable side kick and being a greasy mechanical is a cheerful bird besides being sensible, usually. We are all sure if Van puts the same fight in his work out in the world as he has done at school he will be a grand success.

"Beef up."

HAROLD JAMES VOGT

Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Hally" "Hal"

Ch.E.; Freshman Baseball.

OUR "Hally," and—somebody (?) else's. The boy who casts disdainful glances upon the proletariat of Besslem. Never has the Colliseum illuminated by the light of his presence; never has he tripped the light fantastic amid the maizes of Mealy's jungle; never—ad infinitum. But he does make frequent visits to the City of Cemeteries. We wonder why. Surely, all these journeys cannot be attributed solely to a strong filial devotion. Our suspicions are somewhat confirmed by a regularly recurring event—the arrival of a missive from a source as constant as the North Star (neglecting the wobbling of the earth's axis).

Harold was seduced by the lure of the beaker and call of the test tube. He survived the smell of the Qual. Lab., however, and despite all the traps set by Dief and his henchmen of the Quant. Dept., he has staunchly adhered to his true love. Scorning, nay, never even dreaming of transferring his allegiance and cheerful personality to the course of Bus. Adm. In passing, however, it is worthy of note that even "Hally" admits that he can glean little from Dr. Ewing's seances on physical chemistry.

"Jepers pelts."

HAROLD DOLSON WALLACE

East Orange, N. J.

"Doley" "Wallie"

C.E.; Cotillion Club; Interfraternity Council; Arcadia; Chi Phi.

MUCH has been said against the State of New Jersey, but here is a product that does her proud. "Doley" hails from East Orange and, according to him, it is the best place in the country.

"Doley" went to East Orange High School before entering the ranks of Lehigh in the fall of '18. He is always ready with a smile and a cheery word is on his lips. Because of these good traits he has made a host of friends on the campus.

We have often heard the saying, "No grass grows on a busy street." This is the case we have before us, shown by his expansive brow.

As for studies, "Doley" has always been a very good student and always willing to help others in their difficulties.

As he doesn't expect to follow the line of Civil Engineering we can't wish him success in that field, but we are sure that whatever business he does decide upon will be a success.

"Righto!"

GEORGE WILMER WALTERS

Cazenovia, N. Y.

"Walt"

E.M.; Burr Board (3); Editor of the Burr (4); Senior Class Book Committee; Pi Delta Epsilon; Phi Delta Theta.

HEY, Walt! wher'e you going?" "Oh, down town to meet a relative." Allow me to present, little Willie, the all-American Stump jumper. He shook the mud off his shoes from Cazenovia, where the last election showed that the town mayor was fast loosing out since the A. & P. settled there. Wilmer doesn't use slang. Oh, hell, no; neither does he use embalming fluid. Everything else goes, however. There's just one unmistakable thing that you can't help noticing; whenever you see anyone with a cold cigar stuck between a handsome set of teeth you are looking at Walt. If he isn't busy making up the Burr or taking care of his bull pup he's usually down town meeting some of his first wife's relatives. Wilmer, as he is known in diplomatic circles, escaped into this region with lollypop in one hand and a milk bottle in the other, with the breath of the primeval forest on his lips. These left when he took up marbles. However, coming down a peg or two, we'll have to introduce him and his bull terrier as they really should be. You can't help admitting that he has a winsome smile.

WILLIAM HURR WALTZ

Williamsport, Pa.

"Bill"

C.E.; Freshman Football Team; Varsity Football (1); Wrestling (1); Track (1, 2, 3, 4); Sigma Phi Epsilon.

MANY, many years ago in the dim forgotten past, came the parlor idol of Williamsport to seek from knowledge those things that are necessary to pave the pathway to success of a civil engineer. His search, however, was not alone confined to the classroom, for he also acquired a knowledge of the fair sex that might be envied by any young man.

Though being absent for a period of two years to serve Uncle Sam, he has, nevertheless, maintained an enviable record in his classes. From all indications he will immediately, on leaving school, enter the bonds of matrimony with one of Bethlehem's fairest.

His powers does not end in the classroom or the parlor, for in the last two years he has been Lehigh's most consistent winner in track events. So far as we know he is the originator of the form of throwing the discus with a pipe in his mouth.

Here's wishing him the best of luck after he gets out into the cruel, cruel world.

AUSTIN BARTLETT WARREN
Westfield, Mass.

"Duff"

N.E.; Soccer (1, 2, 3); Cotillion Club; Society Club; Junior Banquet Committee; College Dance Committee; Secretary, Naval Society; Arcadia; Kappa Alpha.

A LONG in September, 1918, one of the L. V. trains stopped at Bethlehem to let off a beardless youth of some seventeen moons of age. With an armful of suitcase and an umbrella, he started his wild and wicked career in South Bethlehem, and he is still doing it. However, it is all over now and everyone but the girls and the college lads are glad of it. Bob, Jake, Prof., sure, aren't sorry he is going, as it leaves their trade more of an opportunity to indulge in their wares. However, to get down to the subject—Austin early in his first year at Lehigh made good with a rare disposition and a happy-go-lucky nature. He eased his way into the hearts of the Faculty, and his little ocean hasn't seen a ripple since. Mentioning the ocean reminds me that friend Warren is a sailor by profession, and—well, one in every port doesn't half express it, does it, Duff?

Best wishes for success in all your attempts and a wish that God bless you and keep you.

"Say, now—"

HERMAN LUDWIG WEBER
Allentown, Pa.

"Namreh" "Weber"

B.A., Secretary, Deutscher Verein; Secretary, Arts and Science Club; President, Allen-Lehigh Club.

H ERMAN WEBER is a native of Allentown, but is not ashamed of it. He never heard of Lehigh until he was ready to enter, which he did to the tune of the R. O. T. C. bugle. He tells wild tales of the army days at Lehigh.

Namreh, as he is known professionally, is quite an exponent of the art of legitimate deception. In other words, he is a magician, and every one in college knows his powers in the art of Kellar and Houdini. With such a peculiar hobby it is just natural that he should also be interested in Psychology. He gets by so well in this department that the professor created a new course for his benefit, "The Psychology of Illusion." So Weber thinks out new tricks or experiments. In one of these he had to use a derby hat, so, without taking thought of the rights of his fellow-students, he wore said bowler hat into Coppee Hall, an event which nearly resulted in disaster.

All in all, it was probably Weber's innocent look and guileless manner that helped him get through Lehigh.

"Hot dogs and cold cats!"

EDMUND JOSEPH WHIMS

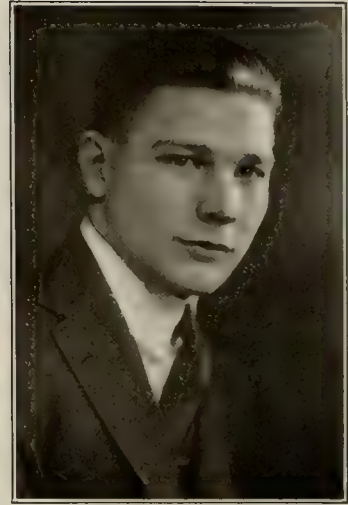

St. Clair, Pa.

"Ed"

C.E.; Cross Country (2); Track (1, 2); Wrestling (1, 4); Theta Kappa Phi.

THE coo-coos were cooing—the hood-ley-toot bird was twittering and the world in general was happy and serene—for had not papers announced the coming of the world's greatest astronomer, namely, our hero, E. J. W., the bedroom slipper boy, and the only person that ever had a snake's eye-view of the stars. However, he is so bashful that he wouldn't look at Venus with the naked eye. He is a great believer in the C. G. S. system—Colley, Grand, Shooting—the latter of the crap variety in all meanings of the term. Ed always paid marked attention to his books; has delved into the psychology of love, not a few time; he also bowls 300 in the looks league with loop-sided balls. We look for great things from the St. Clair tosser of the "Taurus."

"Damn'd if I know."

LESLIE CLEIFTON WHITNEY

Marlboro, Mass.

"Les" "Whit"

Met.; Class Book Committee (4); Varsity Soccer (2, 3, 4); Lacrosse Squad (2, 3, 4); Met. Society; Cyanide; Phi Gamma Delta.

AMONG the leading Mets. of the country we have L. C. Whitney, otherwise known as Whit. He did not have the misfortune to be among us during the S. A. T. C., for he did not figure on giving us at Lehigh a treat until the following year. He will not admit where he was during that year, but we have a suspicion that it must have been in that foreign country known as New England.

Wherever he was he learned to play soccer and has played on the Varsity here for the past three years, being one of the mainstays on the defense. His athletic inclinations led him to lacrosse with the result that this year he will in all probability win a berth on the team.

It is a hard thing to attempt to make a guess at what Whit will devil to startle the world, but we will, no doubt, hear great things of him some day, despite the fact that his characteristic New England culture may be hard to understand. So go to it, Whit; we are cheering for you.

"Well lookit."

PAUL KNAUSS WHYTOCK
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Whitey" "Why"

Bus. Adm.

WHERE are four facts about Why which make it easy for him to pass as, or be mistaken for a, genuine first-class Pennsylvania Dutchman. The first is that he has lived in Bethlehem for quite a number of years. The second is that he has attended the Bethlehem High School. The third is that he loves such fragrant Dutch dishes as sauerkraut and Limburger cheese, and the fourth and worst is, that he spent a year at Muhlenburg before entering Lehigh.

Whether there is any truth in it or not we do not know, but it is rumored that before Why entered Lehigh he received his daily bread by serenading hotels in a German Gutter Band, we are inclined to believe it, however, because when the band was organized at Lehigh, Why was seen marching in line with a trombone.

Why must be some sort of a radical, because the leaders of the University Band all tell us that he alone, with Boltz and Thaeler, was an organizer and charter member of the Trombone Union, an organization within the band designed to create a nuisance.

"He's a sleuth."

STUART WORLEY WILLIAMSON
Womelsdorf, Pa.

"Stu" "Kid"

E.M.

STUART WILLIAMSON first saw the light in Reading, that promising little suburb of Womelsdorf.

When he was old enough to walk, the family moved to the "city," thinking it best to develop the child's craving for travel. This early training was probably responsible for his choice of the Mining Eng. Course, and has stood him in good stead ever since, for he now walks the length and the breadth of the State every few weeks on his geology field trips, constantly on the lookout for sunken mines and hidden stills.

Here we have another good friend of prohibition. The story goes that at the age of six he drank the good burghers of Womelsdorf under the proverbial table. This feat caused his friends to change his name from Worley to "Stew."

As to his relations with the so-called weaker sex, we will say but little, although we have heard rumors that much could be said. However, this is not a scandal sheet, nor is it a game of the greatly renowned "African Golf," nevertheless, Stew's favorite and lucky number is six and not the usual "Come seven, come eleven."

"Now, I ask you?"

JOHN EDGAR MILLER WILSON
Bethlehem, Pa.

"Ed" "Jem"

M.E.; Cyanide; Cotillion; Dance Committee; Junior Prom Committee; Kappa Beta Phi; Mining and Geological Society; Freshman Basket-ball; Lacrosse Squad, '20; Varsity Lacrosse, '21; Chi Psi.

BEING a native of Bethlehem is really a tremendous affliction, and a heavy burden, to carry in the battle of life, but Ed seems to bear up manfully under the strain, for wherever you see him he always has a cheery smile spread from ear to ear.

Even as a Freshman he showed great fortitude in fighting the "Battle of South Mountain" as a member of the notorious S. A. T. C. His Sophomore year was calm and lacked the punctuation of excitement; but, ah, the Junior year; Ed captured a place on the lacrosse team and soon found that his legs were valuable for purposes other than to stand on. He also discovered that his head had a hardness of about 8,—an innate characteristic of a born lacrosse player,—for, although they tried to find out what was inside his head during the Penn game, and although the sun knocked him out in the Hopkins game in June, he is still going strong.

"Aw Gee whizzes!"

ABRAM REBER WINGATE, JR.

"Mike"

C.E.; Phi Club; Cotillion; Track Team (3, 4); Interfraternity Council (4); Tea Dance Committee (4); Senior Class Book Committee; C. E. Society; Secretary Class (4); Theta Delta Chi.

MIKE began in Washington, D. C., back in '96, and as he lengthened out he added to his knowledge at the Central High School. Two years at the George Washington University and the big fellow journeyed to Somewhere in France. Mike played around the British Isles as a student (?) at the University of London, and returned to Bethlehem in '19 to study bridges, railroads, etc., at Lehigh.

"Oh, for the autumn wood where quiet reigns supreme." Thus Mike quotes the poet in reference to an ideal place to sojourn for his favorite pastime of galloping dominoes. It is rumored that he chose the C.E. course because he thought it meant "Come Eleven." There is no question as to his aptitude to make that coveted number and he possesses an unlimited vocabulary for conversing with the dotted cubes.

A good student, quiet, courteous and unassuming, Mike has won a host of friends who wish him the best in the affairs of the heart and of the world.

"Yes, but—"

HAROLD MARTIN WOELFEL

Freeland, Pa.

"Hal" "Woof"

N.E.; Wrestling Squad (2, 3); President, N.E. Society (2, 3); Dorm. Chief (3, 4).

FRESH from the coal fields of Freeland one balmy September day in '18 came one H. M. Woelfel to join the ranks of the well-known S. A. T. C. Loafing for two years in Freeland High and hibernating from there to the Mining and Mechanical Institute, he was finally lured by the "White Way" of Allentown.

He has since proven his metal by crossing the wild, wild ocean as a Junior Engineer during summer vacation. (Inside dope.) It was during these voyages that he visited the famous "jazzlands" of Germany and acquired a vast store of worldly knowledge that will no doubt become very valuable to him when cruising from shore to shore.

"Woof" came to Lehigh when quite young and made good by becoming a charter member of the "Colly," "Mealy's" and "Als." He likewise made good in his school work by becoming a plugger, but not a grind.

But "Woof," we wish you all the luck as you go forward blazing the way in Naval Engineering for old Lehigh, and at the same time leaving behind you a wide trail of remembrances and "Happy Days."

"Gotta match?"

CHARLES RUSSELL WOLFE

Asbury Park, N. J.

"Russ" "Wolfie"

Ch.E.; Freshman Honors in German.

TWO dozen years ago, on June 14, 1898, to be exact, the stork deposited in the bustling town of New Brunswick, N. J., a curly-headed youngster with leather lungs, who was destined to become the subject of this sketch. According to the record in the family Bible the newly-arrived candidate for a Lehigh sheepskin sat up, looked around and said: "Chee! that stork must have thought I was a mosquito."

Our hero's career at the Asbury Park High School was uneventful; that is he fell in love as often and so violently, and so ardently did his amorous flames reciprocate that each succeeding recurrence of the lady left him less concerned and by the time he came to Lehigh his heart was as impervious to cupid's dart as is his hide to the fangs of a Jersey mosquito or his head to the cynical comments of the Faculty.

As a result of this early training, "Wolfie" is enabled to devote all his time to three subjects, first, lessons; second, blowing the bass horn; third, making a persistent, though ineffectual effort to retain possession of the abundance of curly locks with which nature originally blessed him.

"Gee or Chee."

ROBERT THOMAS WOOD

Palmerston, Pa.

"Bob" "Woody"

Met.; Arcadia; Class Football (2); Wrestling Squad (3, 4); Met. Society; Tau Beta Pi.

THE one inspiring specimen of American youth, above shown, gathered most of his pre-college intelligence in and around the New Haven High School. The advocate of equal rights in New Haven failed utterly in their appreciation of his sterling qualities so he broke up camp and staked out a squatter's claim in Palmerston. It was here that he conceived the idea of living in Bethlehem. As a good excuse for this he thought he might as well attend college. Since then he has been busy making friends, piling up honors, and handing out discourses as to how the disarmament conference should be run. We do not know what he does with his spare moments, but it has been noticed that he shows a marked preference for "Collie dogs."

Bob is a wrestler of no mean ability and we hope to see him make good this year. Bob will leave his Alma Mater with the best wishes of all his friends.

RICHARD CHEW ZANTZINGER

Hyattsville, Md.

"Dick"

Bus. Adm.; Cotillion; Lehigh Brown and White (3, 4); Lehigh Burr (3, 4); Epitome Board (3); Wrestling Squad (1); Boxing Class (2, 3); Rifle Team (3); St. Paul's Society; June Hop Committee, and Track Team (4); Cyanide; Kappa Beta Phi, Sword and Crescent; Pi Delta Epsilon; Sigma Phi.

JUDGING from some of the remarks Dick has dropped lately, we gather he intends to be a nomad after leaving these classic halls. Or, in other words, just a plain bum. We trust his Lehigh training will stand him good stead if he is cornered and has to work. To look at him you would not think he had a funny streak, but he has. It came out one day when we encouraged him to sing. This boy is some singer. We think Caruso must have heard him, and the Green-eyed Monster got him, so that he died of sheer jealousy. This gentleman calls himself Richard Chew. But we know different. He is really the scion of Dame Rumor. His true name being Echo.

After all, Dick has his good qualities, for he walks like a king, makes love like a prince, and is a jolly good knave at all times. Pick up the cards, Dick, you win!

"I just heard."

HARRY ALFRED ZINSZER

Bethlehem, Pa.

"Harv"

B.A.; Deutscher Verein; Arts and Science;
Institute of Radio Engineers.

YOUNG Harv was born in the rear of the shop of an honest old village blacksmith who, with the proverbial hard work and yet good nature, taught his progeny to be honest, earnest and persistent. This characteristic has followed through the entire young life of our little Harv.

Our hero found at Lehigh his great opportunity, for he was made an assistant in Physics at the University after the war and also a chance to take the B.A. course, for which he was almost completely prepared. Harvey made good and despite the handicap or the inspiration, whichever he may have called it, of a wife and three little Zinszers for whom he has had to provide.

For honest industry and sincere purpose we would have to go farther than Lehigh to find a man the superior of this little Bethlehemite. He has met all of his difficulties with a smile and by persistent effort he has made good. It does not seem amiss here to wish that he may always overcome all of his difficulties as he has done here, and to say cheerio to a good little old scout.

"Say, did you get that?"

ALBERT JACKSON HOCH

Reading, Pa.

"Allie"

Met.; Met. Society (4); Wrestling Squad (2, 3, 4); Berks County Club, Secretary (3).

THE bells were ringing and the people were shouting when Allie left the city of Reading to go to Bethlehem, the Mecca of all knowledge seekers.

But suddenly the scene changes and our hero finds himself alighting from the train with no hand to greet him and with hundreds of other aspiring youths. As Allie lowly trudged up the hill heaving great sighs over his shoulder and made his entry at Lehigh College we sensed the turning point in his life. Quiet and unobtrusive, Allie progressed and steadily mastered the knowledge required to make him a met.

But besides being studiously inclined, he also extended his activities along a physical nature, which plan figured prominently in his development as a grappler. Allie took to wrestling as a drowning sailor does to bootleggers' buttermilk, but frequent mix-ups disabled him to such an extent that he was greatly handicapped. He did quite a bit of secret training on Saturday nights at the Coliseum, where he mastered all the holds.

"Wadda Ya Got To Eat?"

Gone But Not Forgotten

OME are born poets and others just acquire that distinction. We, however, being very ordinary mortals, cannot "get that way" at all, and since this is true we will not eulogize the departed in rhymed couplets but merely in the language of natural men.

Below, gentle reader, are the men who have passed this life and have gone to the great beyond. In other words, various obstacles have made it imperative for them to be content with a shorter course in collegiate activities. Nevertheless, do not be discouraged for they are not dead—merely departed.

Opinions

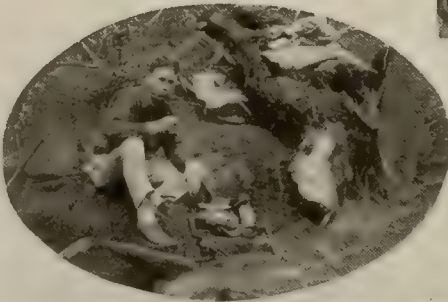

THE thoughts and spirit of the Class of 1922 are here given a public airing for the first time. You will find these opinions wise and otherwise, but do not let this hide the fact that the best ones could not be printed because the average reader would not have been able to have stood the strain. Classmates who look as though they never had a thought in their heads have surprised the Class Book Committee with little gems of prose and poetry that show what a college education can do when it really has a fit subject to work on. We claim that if Mark Antony had been educated in Bethlehem he never would have fallen for that charming snake charmer.

The compiling of these opinions has been a pleasant but tedious task, due to the fact that the ballots were written in every thing from phonetic spelling to Sanscrit, however, in a case like this we may easily overlook this fact. The Civils came through nobly and justified the common opinion of their course professor, but we never dreamed that the Mechanicals and Chemicals were capable of so much love; they must remember that we all like to talk. Our opinion of Lafayette hasn't changed any since our Freshman year, so that can't be printed. Most of the boys forgot to say what the worst thing was that they had ever done, so the committee has drawn its own conclusions and promises not to divulge them. Well, let's take a look at some of these opinions of the "Future 'Great.'"

"BEST THAT EVER STAGGERED UP TO CLASS"

is the opinion of Bush in regard to our illustrious class. Beatty more or less agrees with him when he says that "It is the best class that ever drank its way through Lehigh." According to our little Granville Brumbaugh it is "The best that ever trod the grass," and we agree with him in all possible ways. Culler, who certainly is an authority, says that he has "Seen them all since 1916, but this one gets the marbles." Glen dispels all doubt as to its quality by claiming that it is "200 proof." What more could be asked?

Opinions

"A FINE BUNCH OF PINEAPPLES"

is Grenall's contribution in regard to the other classes. Strauch refuses to incriminate himself and suggests that we "Try to forget unpleasant things." Switz thinks that they "May amount to something some day," but we are rather skeptical about it despite the opinion of this noted scholar. Wolfe comes to the decision that "They are a wonderful example of no hazing." Reichard finishes the argument by giving us the one little word, "Dead."

"HE INVENTED THE GAS ATTACK" is the opinion of Aldrich about his course Professor. Knoderer waxes wise by asserting that "He was a very strong man. In his youth he practiced throwing the calf and now he throws the bull." Carpenter decides that his boss has "Lots of wind and a few ideas." Bush quite coincides with this by saying, "Oh, how the wind does blow." Chip Drew surprises the world by claiming that the Little Napoleon is the "Best of the past, present and future."

"WORKS WHILE THE COLLEGE SLEEPS" is Bob Rhoad's idea of the Arcadia. Whitney claims that "It is much improved this year." Salmon thinks that the "Word looks awfully nice on the "Keep off the Grass" Signs. Lutz claims that the members are "Dreamy, youthful enthusiasts striving to gain recognition from the Faculty." The class as a whole has two outstanding opinions. The first of these is that the Arcadia is a vital necessity and the second is that it should be given more power to carry out its purpose.

"A USELESS CONGLOMERATION OF MEXICAN ATHLETES"

is the Interfraternity Council, according to Pfeiffer. Whitney again cracks wise by suggesting that "Its name should be changed to the Lehigh Gas Company." Walters says that "It is distinctive in that it is not a charming club." Beatty claims that "It is a splendid organization with twenty-one points of view." Red Gangwere gives us food for thought by saying that "It is too exclusive." Bill Little, who holds down a chair at all meetings, claims that "Its members are the greatest bunch of Bull Artists on Earth."

"THE BLOODLESS ARENA"

is Willie Walter's idea of Mealey's and certainly none of us have any right to doubt this man's opinion on such a question. Zinszer delves into the serious by claiming that it is the "Devil's Den," proving that he knows his book. Then little Lee Coleman, from a clear sky, states that he has often had a good time there, and as Salmon claims it a nice place, such must be the case.

Opinions

"A CLEARING PLACE FOR THE DUTCH"

is Reds Newlin's private opinion of Allentown, while Fielder Israel publicly announces that without Allentown he never would have enjoyed his college course. "Jake" Jagels refers us to "The Tale of Two Cities," and then Red Strauch comes through with the thought that it's a naughty city, but "What would Central Park be without it?"

"IT STANDS ON GOOD LEGS"

is Milo Summer's pet idea of Bishopthorpe and he knows his line. Charley Gooding claims that his opinion was formed at a football game so he doesn't dare to say much. Bob Kilburn emphatically says that he is all for it. We would suggest to Robert to remember the old adage that "All trees contain some dead branches."

"WHERE MAN AND BEAST DO BATTLE"

exclaims Mugsy Keenan when questioned concerning the Colosseum and to this Dick Zantzing adds that it's a good place to give vent to your feelings and we would submit that that is why Dick always feels so good. Zinszer also claims this hole to be a Devil's Den and we must take a connoisseur's judgment. Wally Schier claims that it is a rat race, so we assume that this is the reason that the drummer always keeps his traps there. Bob Rhoads tries to tell us that it is a good place to waste time, but we know that they are not dancing that way now. Jefferson candidly states that if the Colly did not occupy the ground the Broadway would. What is the connection, Jeff?

"THEY DON'T HAME 'EM IN CHINA"

shouts Bill Wong, when asked about Fem Sem. Monk Foote says that he has cheered often for the place, but never got anything out of it. Isn't that a small way to look at it? "Wils" Gulick retorts that he did not know that it was there until he followed a pretty girl once.

"SURPASSED ONLY BY 'HOT DOG'"

"Mich" Michell tells us when asked about the Burr. "It brings back old memories," says Dan Dimming, but the consensus of opinion is all for it. "Abe" Gross sums it all up by asserting that "It is funny."

"IT'S GREAT OUT OF A R. O. T. C. UNIFORM" and it is "Musically Inclined" we find when we read Clarence Salmon's opinion of the Band. The majority, however, claim that it is the best in collegiate circles, so why argue. We take our hats off to Joe and hope that he has the best of success in the future.

Opinions

"EAT AND GROW THIN"

is Cottrell's contribution when asked about the Commons. "Scotch" Whytock's main objection is that "There is not a good-looking waitress in the place." Right you are, "Why," but think of awful indigestion complaints there would be if there were a few around. Hindry opines that "Clarence should be kept away from the place or he will soon cease to be the college dog." We will see that this is attended to, for what would Lehigh be without this nut around. Gerber, who is known to have a cast-iron constitution, comes through with the remark that the place is "The undertaker's best friend."

"GOT DRUNK"

is the worst thing that Ed Wilson ever did during his four years at this seat of learning. This, however, is only his answer. Brewer claims that he once "Attended a Faculty' tea." In our search through the hundred or more replies to this question this, to us, is the worse thing that any member of the class has done. Strauch's worst offense to decency is that he "Once talked to a Lafayette man." We have known "Red" to do queer things, but never anything like this. Fielder Israel, our model of all that is proper, retorts that he has "Never done anything wrong since he has been at the institution on the hill." This may be absolutely true, but then we all have our right to an opinion.

"A GOOD PLACE TO GET A PAIR OF SHOES CHEAP"

is Spatz's reply about the R. O. T. C. Lutz crashes through with the opinion that "It is an outlet for Andy Lang's otherwise useless books." We believe that this will be well backed "It keeps more men in college than any other course." We are glad that at least one thing can be said for it. "Charlie" Jagels practically gives the consensus of opinion of the class by any member of the two lower classes. Schlesman claims that it has one asset in that by answering, "Oh, hell."

"GOT A WIFE"

is the reply of Freeman when we question him in regard to his greatest achievement while in college. The next great deed worthy of mention is Goldcamp's feat of downing ten beers in sixty seconds. We cannot figure out why he did not drown. Several of the boys claim to have beaten the Supply Bureau out of various sums. One of our illustrious lot even claims that he downed the renowned "Freddie" in a discussion. Other great achievements were along a scholastic line, such as passing calculus, but apparently these men forget what they came to college for. It must be confessed that modesty forbade many of the members from telling their greatest achievement, but nothing stopped them from coming through with their ambitions.

Opinions

"TO GET A SON"

was Carlos Freeman's ambition and we believe that he is pushing the realization of that ambition around now. A couple of civils aspire to see their course professor in h—, and we only wish them luck. Gerber has long desired to hold four aces against a bunch of full houses—but remember this is not the age of miracles. Goldcamp aspires to be a bellhop at the Broadway and you can't bend that no way.

"NOTHING BARRED"

The following have been nominated for president of the University. Several believe that it should go to Fred Myers as the most logical man, but "Nelse" Bowman claims that the marbles should go to Eugene Debs, as he is used to prison food. Trotsky pulled a heavy vote from Price Hall, but he has been known to make mistakes, so he cannot be considered. "Charley" Connell throws Villa's hat in the ring, but you must remember, "Charlie," that they have raised the tuition and are well set financially. Mr. Volstead was nominated by "Ken" Downes, who based his nomination on local conditions. He wants Bethlehem to hear about this great lawmaker. "Dave" Green champions the cause of Eaamond De Valera because of his vast experience and great statesmanship. Wilbur Bachman believes that the ex-Kaiser could get good results as the students are quite used to his kind of rule. In fact, everyone from the manager of the Broadway down to the Runt were suggested. Gerber puts on a halo and nominates himself so the race promises to be a swift one.

"GIVE HIM A DEGREE" is Wood's suggestion as to what should be done with Clarence. It is a safe bet that he deserves it a whole lot more than most of us do at that, Woody. Whytock thinks that he should be pensioned and we might add that we believe that the King should have to pay the pension, for he has made the animal what he is today. Bush again cracks wise by replying that "We should buy him a little wagon to ride around in."

"JANITOR AT BISHOPTHORPE" is what Zantzinger would rather be. A worthy decision, "Dick," here's wishing you all the success possible. Sneider lets the world off easy by being willing to exchange places with a "Doorkeeper in a ladies' Turkish bath." Bush comes to the decision that the person that he would be is not born yet. Whitney is willing to exchange his lot with that of St. Peter—we all doubt, however, if he has much of a chance of getting anywhere near the keeper of the sacred key. Garman says that he might exchange places with a porter on an Overland Limited. Drew ends the argument by answering, "Oh, what the h— is the use, anyway?"

"UNDER STANDARD CONDITIONS OF TEMPERATURE AND PRESSURE"

comes from the mind of one Joseph A. Kivert, when we asked him how he kissed the first girl. Joe, the pressure is all right, but 0 degrees C. is not high enough for the temperature. How a man can chase a girl five blocks and then kiss her between breaths is more than we can figure out and yet "Stewy" Williamson claims that he did it. Most of the boys forgot to answer this question and some tried to tell us that they had yet to experience this thrill. (Four years in Bethlehem and not even kissed.)

Brumbaugh says that it was so easy that he has forgotten how he did it. Yes, some find it easy while others require a canoe, a moon, distant music and force. "Bill" Bailey says: "I tried it and she slapped my face. This made me mad so I used force." He had probably been reading the Sheik, so we cannot say that Bill is a brute. The surprise of the evening came when "Monk" Foote crashed through with the retort: "I am pure."

"A BUNCH OF BAD ACTORS"

is "Red" Newlin's opinion of the Mustard and Cheese and M. K. Jacobs, who knows what cheese is, will not run down any brand of mustard. O. V. Greene sat on the first row at the last effort and claims that he could detect a very unpleasant odor issuing from the stage.

"FAVORITES"

Culture shows itself in the poetical and musical favorites of the class. The classics have not been slighted when "Muggsy" Keenan picks "He Was My Man but He Done Me Wrong" as his favorite song. When "Bill" Little hears "My Still Still Stills" on the nickel piano, he sighs with rapture. Then as the notes of "We Were Bartenders—We Are Apothecaries Now" floats out upon the breeze "Charley" Gooding drops a tear. "The Ballad of Yukon Jake" wins as the favorite poem, so we concluded that it is high-class stuff. "Ted" Switz likes "Old King Cole" because of that line where he calls for his bowl, but that only imitates most of us. Several picked "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" as their favorite poem; it is easy to see just how we stand on the poetical situation.

Opinions

"MEMORIAL"

For fear that we may be forgotten, Zinszer says we should erect a wireless tower as a class memorial. What a foolish idea when we could put it on top of the Memorial Building and string our wires to that. Coming back to earth the Mechanicals want a bust of their course professor put on the Campus, where they can peg mud at it when they return for their reunion. The Civils want the same thing, only they did not limit the projectile to mud. Now "Elsie" Whitney, having the interest of the multitude at heart, suggests building a brewery. One Business Senior wants the class to buy a comet for MacGregor, but we refuse to consider a class memorial of that shape.

Conclusion

THE work at last is done. Or is it? We do not know and yet we feel that we have bored you quite enough. So we will stop anyhow and—anywhere. To be sure, it is incomplete for who could write such a history of mankind in so short a book. We feel that a few thousand more pages should have been employed, but then we are human and the typewriter runs so hard.

Before we hang the ink-stained pens behind our ears, however, let us take this last opportunity to thank Bill McCaa, our engravers, our Junior associates, the printers, the servants of the railroad companies and all others who so tenderly catered to our poetic temperaments and with great patience, zeal, etc., etc., etc., contributed the best they had to this work. We have enjoyed the work of making this memorial for our Class and we hope that you will always appreciate it as a keep-sake of worth.

History

J. L. LEES
PRESIDENT

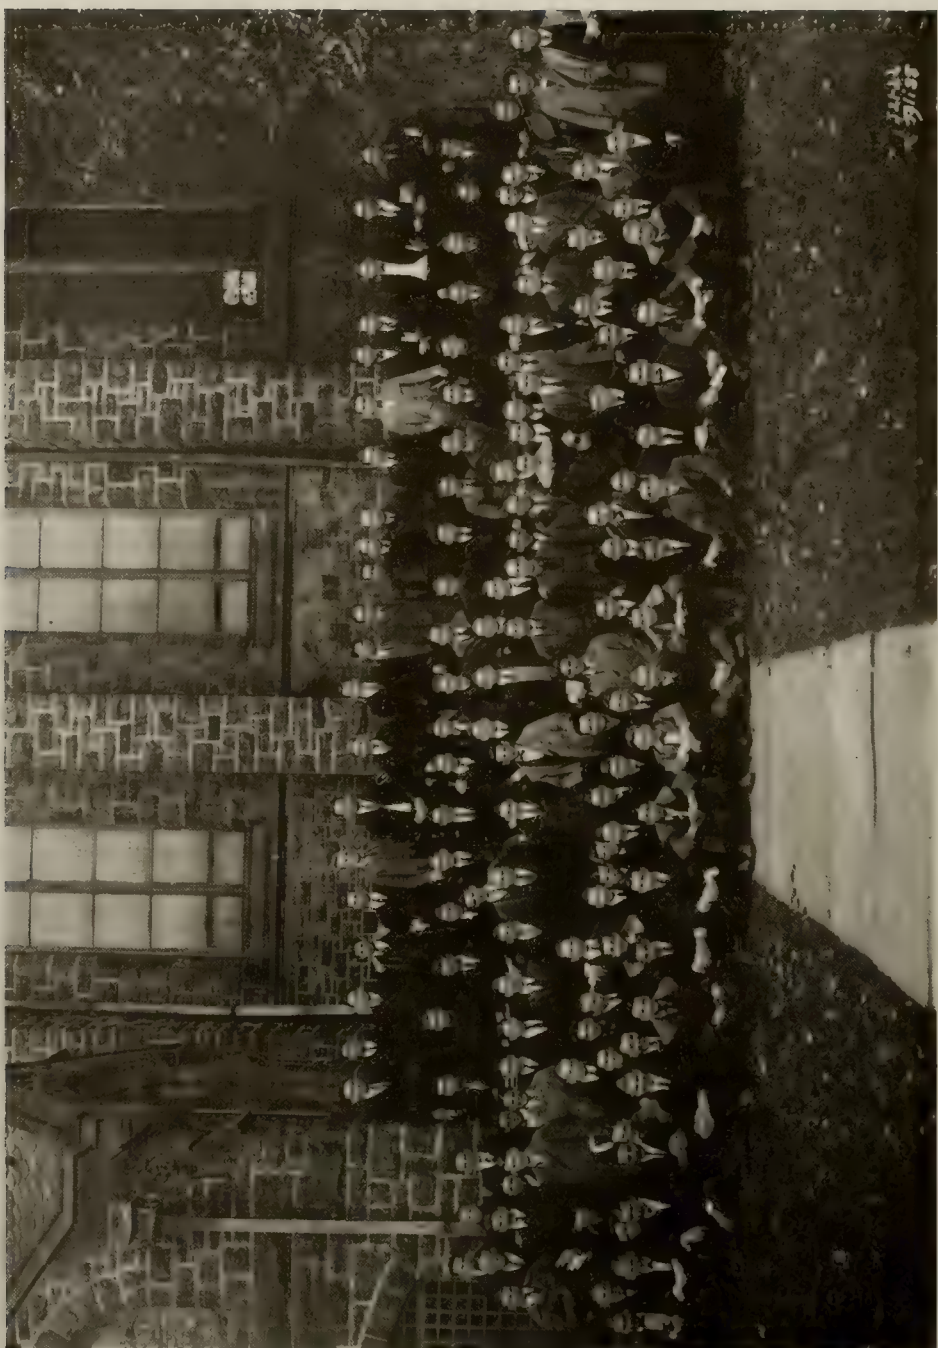

IT would be impossible, in this single page, to relate all that the Class of 1923 has done in the three years during which it has been a vital part of the University. For this reason, this page will only serve to give the reader a few glimpses of the class as it really is. A few sidelights will suffice, we feel, to show our real worth.

The Class of 1923 came to Lehigh in the fall of 1919, registering as one of the largest classes that had ever entered. Founder's Day came with us ready for the Sophomores in the three contests and after losing the football game, we came back strong and captured the remaining conflicts in baseball and track. We continued to show our superiority in the following year when we took the entering class for a fall in all three contests and forced them to stick to their "frosh" caps every day of the week. Our relations with the yearlings after that were very spirited and many members of our class will look back on the days of the two banquets as days when real spirit was shown and good times enjoyed.

We returned to college this year as upper-classmen, and although we had dropped a few by the wayside, our ranks were still strong. This year we took an active part in college duties and we are quite proud of our class for the part the members take in the non-scholastic activities.

We have but one more year of undergraduate life. Next year when we take up our duties as stately Seniors of the University, we hope to continue our success and establish a name for ourselves that will be long remembered here after we are gone.

Sophomores

W. W. SPRINGSTEEN
PRESIDENT

History

OUR class originated at Lehigh in the month of September, 1920. Though confident of being born for greater things, we were very willing to start the first lap of our four-year marathon by being "only frosh." In numbers we were well above the average class and proportionately anxious to prove ourselves of just as high a standard scholastically.

We early showed our distinctiveness by wearing our caps on Sundays, when the Sophomores carried off the honors of Founder's Day. Regardless of this, it soon became known that many sterling athletes were numbered in our ranks. We demonstrated our originality by kidnapping the Sophomore class president at the time of their banquet, but they retaliated in a very convincing manner at the time of our own banquet; and although we confess we were vanquished, we showed our mettle and spirit. This is well borne out by the nondescript appearance of the adherents to the cause of '24 who finally reached the banquet hall.

The trial dose of the R. O. T. C. Summer Camp was first administered to our class. At Plattsburg we carried off all the honors in camp standing and athletics. When we returned for the Sophomore year we were delegated to inaugurate a system of organized hazing. Thus far we have fulfilled this duty with a high degree of success. In the Founder's Day sports we won the man-to-man encounters, but were nosed out in the football, baseball and track events—and so returned a loser for the second time. Nevertheless, we have instilled into the Freshmen a spirit of respect for upperclassmen and under our tutelage they are becoming men of Lehigh. If this is true we have not lived in vain.

History

HE twenty-first of September, 1921, was the day of the beginning of the present Freshman Class. Although the Class is not the largest which has ever entered Lehigh, we feel sure that it will be able to help carry the name of Lehigh University to the very top of the collegiate world.

A very few days after the opening of college the Freshman Class was afforded the opportunity to get together, when it was invited to a reception in Drown Hall under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. At the reception we acquired our first Lehigh spirit; we heard the college songs and the college cheers and saw the splendid caliber of the Lehigh men.

Our Class was soon organized, and to such an extent that on Founder's Day we scored victories in the three contests of baseball, football and a relay race with the Sophomores. The winning of these contests gave us the right to wear our civilian hats on Sunday, and besides that, showed that we were more than able to hold our own against the Sophomore Class.

In varsity sports our Class is well represented. During the football season a large portion of the squad were Freshmen. On the basket-ball team we were also represented, and some of the best performers on the swimming team were Freshmen, while some of our Class took a very prominent part in the indoor track work. Prospects of our Class participating in the spring sports are good and we expect a good number to take an active part in track, baseball and lacrosse.

Our history up to this time has been short and our accomplishments none too numerous, but with the progressing of time our achievements will increase and in a short while we hope that the Class of 1925 will be regarded as one of the best classes ever in Lehigh.

Historian.

Interfraternity Tournaments

1920-1921

 It has been a custom since the founding of fraternities at Lehigh for these fraternities to engage in matches in several kinds of sports. Soon after the fraternities had a firm foothold at the University, interfraternity bowling matches were started and continued for a number of years. After some time of activity, these sports dropped off and were not played regularly until about two years ago, when they were revived by an active member of the Interfraternity Council who saw the value of such matches.

The sports were brought back with such interest that in addition to the bowling tournament, there was a tourney in basket-ball. A pool tournament was suggested in 1921 and in the college year of 1920-21, three tournaments were played. Sigma Chi took the honors for the year by winning both the bowling and basket-ball tournaments, while Sigma Phi Epsilon was awarded the cup in pool.

SIGMA CHI VICTORIOUS IN BOWLING

 HE bowling tournament was run on a different scale than the other tourneys, in that it had three legs. The plan was arranged so that the winners of the three legs would meet each other in the finals in three matches. Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Theta reached the finals. In the first match, Kappa Sigma defeated Phi Delta Theta. Sigma Chi, however, spoiled Kappa Sigma's chances by scoring a victory in the second match of the finals. Sigma Chi then clinched the title by registering a win over Phi Delta Theta in the final conflict.

BASKET-BALL CUP WON BY SIGMA CHI

 IGMA CHI and Phi Gamma Delta were the two fraternities which met in the finals of the basket-ball tournament. Phi Gamma Delta had a much harder road to travel in the lower leg of the tournament, but the superiority of the Sigma Chi team was shown in the final match. Phi Gamma Delta's bye in the first round made it only necessary to win three times to reach the finals, while the Sigma Chi five scored four victories before defeating Phi Gamma Delta.

SIGMA PHI EPSILON TOOK HONORS IN POOL

 HE Sigma Phi Epsilon pool team showed that it deserved to win the cup in the pool tourney, although it was not necessary to meet any team in the finals to decide it. Several of the fraternities in the upper leg failed to play, thus causing that part of the tournament to be uncompleted. Sigma Phi Epsilon, by wins in its three matches, moved to the finals and thus at the end of the year, with no opponent to decide the issue, was awarded the cup.

THE ARCADIA is the student governing body. It consists of one representative from each living group in the University recognized by the college authorities. The duties of "The Arcadia" lie in three fields. First and foremost among these duties is the act of promoting student activities and to make rules and regulations for the control over and the relations between these activities. The second duty is to act as a medium between the student body and the faculty, and the third is to administer the Honor System.

 HE membership of the St. Paul's Society is composed of students and professors of the University who are Episcopalians and any other students or professors who are interested in the Episcopal Church or the program of the Society. The Society meets once a month and is addressed at each meeting by some prominent speaker of Bethlehem or the near vicinity. Very often the Society holds a dance after the meeting, and at least once a year runs a dance for the entertainment of its members.

COACH

GLICK

THE resignation of J. Thomas Keady, who left Lehigh to accept the position of football coach at the University of Vermont, necessitated a search for a new head mentor to guide Lehigh's football destinies for the season of 1921. After a long and extensive consideration of the best football coaches in football circles, Frank Glick, of Princeton, was chosen by the Athletic Committee to fill the position.

Glick graduated from Princeton in 1912 with an enviable record as a backfield star, and as captain of his team. After coaching some years elsewhere he came to Lehigh, and ably assisted by our own "Pat" Pazzetti, '15; "Red" Lamberton and Oswald Parisette, of Princeton, and "Jimmy" Murphy, of Brown, he handled the Lehigh eleven.

Football

CAPTAIN RAYMOND T. McCARTHY

Guard

ONE of the most consistent, hard-working men on the team, McCarthy was entirely deserving of the honor of the captaincy. Holding a position which does not lend itself to very brilliant or spectacular play, Ray distinguished himself by his steady, faithful work. A tower of strength to the line on the defense, and a dynamo on the offense, he was responsible for much of the good work done by the Brown and White line. It is his unusual record to have been removed from the game only twice in four years of football at Lehigh.

MANAGER CHARLES A. CONNELL

CHE football team was fortunate in having an efficient and far-seeing manager in the person of Charles Connell. His energetic and agreeable personality was always a pleasure to his associates, and it is with genuine regret that we see him leaving Lehigh this year. He has left us a well-balanced schedule for next year's campaigning.

Football

ARTHUR C. CUSICK

Tackle

CAPTAIN-ELECT of next year's football team, Cusick will be one of the mainstays about which the eleven will be built. His brilliant work on the line during the past season won him a reputation for grit and determination as well as for strength and deadly ability in tackling. Modest and unassuming, but a hard worker, Art has been one of the best-liked men on the team.

JOHN M. READ

End

C“URK” just came into his own during the last season, and from the very start he played the game like a veteran. His generous six feet was a constant source of worry to opposing teams, who found it a rare occasion when a movement around his end did not result in a loss. A sure and fearless tackler and a remarkable fast man in running down punts, Read earned a well-deserved position on the varsity and held it in faultless style. He will be one of the good men available for next year's team.

Football

WILLIAM J. HOFFMAN

Guard

ONE of the few heavy men on the team, Hoffman was a big factor in the strength of the line. He showed a fighting energy and power which held back many a thrust at his part of the line by opposing onslaughts. Possessed of a great amount of endurance, he usually played through the entire game without being relieved by a substitute. Hoffman has two more years of college football, in which time he should be a valuable asset to the Brown and White squad.

MILTON S. ROTH

Center

ROTH hovered in the offing as a backfielder last year, but this season he was given a chance on the line and proved himself a center of unusual ability. He played a roving game and showed an ability to diagnose plays and break up opposing offenses which was at times almost uncanny. An accurate passer and a hard worker, he played a game which left nothing to be desired. He will also have two years of football at Lehigh and much is expected of him.

Football

WILLIAM W. SPRINGSTEEN

Tackle

SPRINGSTEEN came to us last year from the place where Fords are made. He earned a job at tackle almost immediately, but was later shifted to center, where his roving playing was a delight to watch. This year he was again groomed for a tackle and held it alternately with the pivot position. His work at both is a revelation. Disdaining a headgear as "in the way," he played a fierce and dashing game, and many were the occasions when an opposing runner coming Springsteen's way met the sudden, powerful impact of "Bill's" shoulders and felt himself dropped in his tracks.

PAUL R. LARKIN

End

LARKIN is undoubtedly one of the best ends that ever sported the Brown and White. His playing is of finished and smooth quality, which always characterizes the veteran football man. He is creditably fast, a sure tackler and the kind of an end who always is on hand to drop the receiver of a punt in his tracks. Those who witnessed the West Virginia game will long remember his zig-zag lightning run of sixty yards through the entire opposing team, which resulted in Lehigh's winning touchdown. Unfortunately, Larkin will be lost by graduation this year, and we feel that in him Lehigh loses one of the best sportsmen who fought for his Alma Mater.

Football

JAMES H. HARDIE

Quarterback

ONE of the biggest jobs confronting Coach Glick at the start of the season was the developing of a quarterback. After some experimenting, the coach placed the responsibility on the young shoulders of Hardie, a freshman, hailing from Pittsburgh. Hardie found himself in the W. & J. game, in which he gave a brilliant exhibition of efficient handling of the team, and after that he retained the position to the end of the season. His accurate toe won him the position of punter and goal kicker, both of which he filled satisfactorily. Much is expected of him in his three more years at Lehigh.

STEVEN J. BESSEMER

Halfback

COMING out of the West, from Dubuque College, Iowa, where he starred in the backfield, Bessemer returned to his home town to enter Lehigh. His ability as a line plunger was soon recognized and he was given a berth, making good from the very start. His lightning speed and all-around good playing in the Rutgers battle was the feature of the game. All through the season his strength and fearlessness served Lehigh in good stead, and he was always to be depended upon when a few yards were needed. He was one of the most consistent players in the backfield.

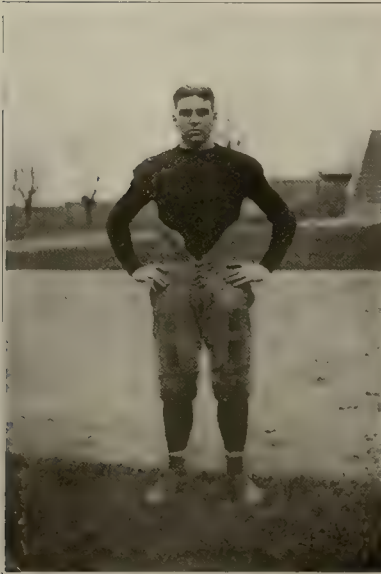

Football

JOHN W. STORER

Halfback

STORER was one of the most valuable freshman additions to the football squad. A heady and calculating attack man, he was responsible for many substantial advances. An accurate throwing arm won for him the job of hurling the forward passes, and the phrase "Storer to Greer" became a much-used term during the season, usually being a synonym for a prettily executed pass which netted a good gain. Storer also developed a fair punting ability and on several occasions managed the kicking for the team.

WILLIAM C. GREER

Fullback

POSS" GREER was another freshman prize, without which the team would have lacked much of its strength. A powerful driving attack man, and at the same time fast and clever, he was a welcome addition to the backfield. He was leading point scorer during the season, having crossed enemy goal lines nine times for touchdowns. Both Storer and Greer have three years of football at Lehigh ahead of them, in which time they should develop into stars to rank with the best performers in college circles.

Football

HAROLD C. HENDERSHOTT

Tackle

HENDERSHOTT was one of the few yearlings who won a place on the line as a regular this year, and his playing well merited his selection. A husky, fighting, 180-pounder, he made an excellent tackle, and one whom opponents had to reckon seriously. His work was always done with an earnestness and conscientiousness which won the admiration of all who saw him perform.

J. WALTER MOOREHOUSE

Tackle

ONE of the hardest working individuals on the squad, Moorehouse worked up to a varsity berth by four years of steady, consistent plugging. His persistent efforts gained him recognition, and in his last year he finally won his letter, playing a tackle position off and on throughout the season. Tall, and heavy as well, he was a hard man to stand up against, and his fighting spirit made him an especially formidable opponent.

Football

ROBERT B. ADAMS

End

THE football squad was this year augmented by two new arrivals from Mercersburg Academy, Adams and Harms, both of whom won recognition as of first-string calibre. Adams, although not always receiving the first call, usually got into a good part of the game, and always rendered a satisfactory account of himself. His performance at the wing position left little to be desired in the way of speed, cleverness, and tackling ability.

ARTHUR G. HARMS

Tackle

HARMS is a rather versatile athlete, extending his activities to track and field events, as well as to football. Fast, powerful, and fearless, he made a very valuable linesman, and many were the opposing line drives which he stopped by his quickness in diagnosing plays and his alertness for trick formations. He will be part of the material with which Lehigh hopes to build a winning team next year.

Football

HARRY F. ROTE

Quarterback

ONE of the pluckiest quarterbacks in the game, and a clever and able team general, Rote made an excellent showing in his first two seasons on the varsity squad. However, he seemed to have lost some of his old-time energy and dash this year, and handicapped by a marked lightness in weight, he was used only at intervals during the season. His friends still remember him as the fearless, plucky little fighter of past seasons, whose speed and agility in open field running were the features of many gridiron struggles.

JOHN P. ARNOLD

Guard

FRESHMAN hailing from Harrisburg Tech, Arnold showed promise as a linesman, and was groomed as a guard, taking part in most of the games as a first-string substitute. He proved himself a strong addition to the line, being especially effective on the defense, and many were the onslaughts which were stopped by the sturdy freshman. Arnold should be a valuable asset to the Brown and White squad next year.

Football

LEE H. COLEMAN

Quarterback

HANDICAPPED by a lack of weight, Coleman made up for his small stature by his agility and speed, and although not holding a regular berth on the varsity, was one of the best of the substitute quarterbacks. Starting as a freshman, he was out with the squad every year of his college career and won his letter by his loyal and consistent service to the team. Coleman will be lost this year by graduation.

JOHN S. STANIER

Center

STANIER was another hard-working, self-sacrificing individual whose faithful service won him the honor of being a letter man. He was a lineman, playing at center, and at guard as a first-string substitute, where he made a creditable showing. His graduation this year deprives the squad of one of its most faithful members.

Football

GEORGE R. SWINTON

Center

HEAVY and powerful lineman, Swinton served at the pivot position as a substitute for four years, during which time he was a conscientious and dependable worker. He played a constant game, putting his best into it, and was always a willing and faithful second-string player.

EDWIN L. M. GARMAN

Guard

ARMAN was used largely as a utility man, playing at center, or in one of the guard positions, as the occasion demanded. Playing on the scrub team, he served for several seasons as a valued member of the squad and was awarded a letter for his faithful work.

Resume of the Season

THE history of Lehigh's football battles of 1921 is a tale of many heroic struggles and courageous fighting, but withal, a story of rather frequent and bitter defeats. The ledger shows an even break, with four games won and four lost, but the losses include Lafayette, and—worse yet—Muhlenberg, so that the preponderance seems to rest with the failures.

Numbered among Lehigh's conquered foes are West Virginia, Rutgers, Susquehanna and Lebanon Valley, while the Brown and White suffered defeat at the hands of Penn State and Washington and Jefferson, besides the two above-mentioned teams. The losses were particularly bitter this year. Muhlenberg, coming to our own soil, scored their first victory over Lehigh in football history, winning by a margin of just one point. Lafayette chalked up her third consecutive victory, while the W. and J. game was the more disappointing because Lehigh far outplayed them in football tactics, and yet lost the chance to win from a team which afterward was proclaimed one of the best in the East.

The major part of the trouble lay in the fact that Coach Glick and his staff had very little experienced material around which to build the team. Too many of the positions had to be filled by new men who, although willing and at times very good, were green and lacked the seasoning of the veteran. The backfield had to be built altogether of new men, and to find four men who could work smoothly and effectively against the best teams in the East, for the schedule was an extremely hard one, was a job of no mean proportions. Another handicap was the fact that a new regime was taking the reins, and the changing of a football coaching system is never without its more or less disastrous results.

Lehigh opened the season on October 1, a sultry, Indian summer day, almost too warm for football, by defeating Susquehanna University, 22-0. The team showed up well but the lack of experience was plainly evident in the unevenness of the play and the superabundance of fumbles. The visitors brought a fairly good team to Taylor Field, but they were entirely unable to stand up against the Brown and White offense. Play was kept well in enemy territory and the opponents were kept constantly on the defense, three touchdowns, a safety and two goals from touchdowns constituted Lehigh's scoring.

A week later the team, backed by a fair-sized aggregation of rooters, journeyed to New Brunswick and, on a rain-soaked field, conquered Rutgers by a 7-0 score. Again fumbling and the rough edge in the playing were evident, but the determined defense of our line, together with a single, masterly stroke at the opportune time, won the game. The Rutgers battering ram dealt mercilessly with our line, but the wall held at the critical moments and the Scarlet failed to score. Lehigh had but one chance to tally, when, in the third quarter, a series of runs by Greer and Bessemer brought the fight to Rutger's 14-yard line. One well-executed play was needed to win and Lehigh was equal to the occasion. A beautiful forward pass from Storer to Greer carried the ball over the line and the second game of the season was won.

Football

Resume of the Season

Lehigh struck the first snag when the team went to Penn State, where the smooth-working, dynamic Nittany eleven ran up a 28-7 score. The result had, of course, been anticipated, for the State team was one of the strongest in the country, but without doubt, State's victory was due in the main part to unsteadiness and excitedness on the part of the Brown and White team. State scored in the first minute when a Lehigh man fumbled the kick-off. Lehigh's lone tally came on a beautifully executed forward pass, after half the length of the field had been traversed by five consecutive forward passes.

Washington and Jefferson brought a big heavy team to Taylor Field on October 22. Despite the fact that Lehigh far outplayed the team which afterward won distinctions as one of the best in the East, the Presidents managed to win by a 14 to 7 score. The feature of the game was a brilliant eighty-yard run for a touchdown by "Buddy" Lingle, who intercepted a forward pass.

A week later Lehigh nosed out the big West Virginia Mountaineers, 21 to 14, playing the best football up to that time of the season. One of the most exciting plays seen on Taylor Field during the year was made that game. Paul Larkin, receiving a forward pass on Lehigh's 70-yard line, ran 65 yards without hardly any interference, in the prettiest bit of open field running seen in many a day. This play made possible the winning touchdown.

Probably the biggest disappointment of the year was felt when Muhlenberg came here, never having won a game from Lehigh, but returned that day with their first victory, by a 14-13 score. The Allentonians had a fair team, coupled with a miraculous amount of luck. Even then the game would have been Lehigh's had not a number of cold substitutes been sent into the game in the closing minutes. Muhlenberg rallied, shoved across a tying touchdown by means of a whirlwind aerial attack and won the game by kicking the goal from touchdown.

Lehigh went into the game with Lebanon Valley the next Saturday with a thirst for vengeance and despite the condition of the rain-soaked field emerged with a 55 to 7 score hung on their belts. The team had a splendid attack and scored almost at will on the Lebanonites.

Lehigh had little hope of defeating Lafayette, her ancient rival, in the final game of the season, for the big Maroon team, with a heavy, impregnable line, regarded by experts as the best in the country, and a battering-ram backfield, had won every one of their games. Lehigh could do nothing against the line, while the Easton backfield tore through our light defense with ease. The men fought desperately, but Lafayette's plunging tactics were not to be denied. They secured four touchdowns, while Coach Glick's team could cross their line but once. Rote received a forward pass on the three-yard line and carried the ball over for the score. The final count of the game was 28-6.

Review of the Season

THE 1921 baseball season was not particularly successful, nor was it by any means disastrous. With material which was not quite as good as it should have been, Coach Keady built up a team which made a respectable showing, winning nine out of seventeen games. Included in the victories scored by the Brown and White nine were Boston College, Holy Cross (two of the best teams in the East), and Rutgers, while the Penn State and N. Y. A. C. games were lost only by a slight margin.

One of the outstanding problems with which the coach had to deal was the lack of twirlers. Lees, originally a catcher, was broken in as a pitcher, because of the lack of first-class material in that department. He did surprisingly well, and along about mid-season was pitching excellent ball, but the team was undoubtedly weakened by his having to stand the strain of consecutive games without a relief. Several promising players were unearthed during the season, and as most of the members of the team were to be back next year much was gained in the way of developing material for the 1922 season.

Lehigh opened the season on April 2 on Taylor Field, with Vermont as the opponent. The New Englanders, having already played a few games, had little trouble in winning, 7 to 2. After that the nine garnered four consecutive victories over Villanova, Lebanon Valley, Allentown Professionals, and William and Mary, in all of which games the team showed steady improvement. The Ursinus aggregation surprised the Brown and White team into a 3-to-1 defeat, and then Lehigh went North on their annual trip. Three games were played, two of which were won, Vermont being the only one to defeat Coach Keady's men. Boston College and Holy Cross, both excellent teams, were added to Lehigh's list of defeated opponents, in two of the best games of the season.

The remainder of the schedule included a very close, well-played game, in which Penn State just won in the closing moments, by a 5-to-4 score; the Lafayette series, and several other games of minor importance.

The Lafayette series was won indisputably by the down-the-river rivals, whose excellent fielding and slugging was too much for the Brown and White. Lafayette won the first two games by 3-1 and 2-1 scores, and accomplished a final triumph of a 10-1 score in the last game.

The season closed with the Rutgers game on Alumni Day, in which Lehigh had little trouble in emerging a 7-3 victor.

Review of the Season

WITH a record of seven victories and eight defeats, the Lehigh quintet faced her old and bitterest rival, Lafayette, in the closing game of the season on the night of March 11. A victory meant a successful season and Lehigh's prospects were bright because of the fact that in several preceding games Lafayette had been slumping while Lehigh just seemed to be hitting her stride. Lafayette had taken the first game of the series a month before on her own floor, and the Brown and White cagemen were more determined than ever to take her measure.

Lehigh started off with a bang and quickly jumped into the lead. For the first ten minutes of play the close guarding of Henschen and Hartung kept Lafayette out of the scoring game, with the exception of a few free trys from the 15-foot line, which Longacre made. Lafayette soon broke in the scoring from the floor and the half ended Lafayette leading, 18-11. This lead Lehigh was unable to overcome, and the game ended in a 23-18 victory for Lafayette.

Lehigh easily won the annual opening game of the season from Moravian College, 30-19, but dropped the next one to Princeton, 29-17. The two games were played before the Christmas holidays and Lehigh did not get into action again until January 7, when they took on Muhlenberg. The sting of the football defeat at the hands of Muhlenberg was still smarting and the cagemen retrieved the football defeat by trouncing them, 33-26.

The next few games rather jolted the team a bit. Three were lost in succession to Franklin & Marshall, Navy, and University of Pennsylvania. The Navy metted out the worst defeat of the season, taking a well-earned 39-17 victory. The Franklin and Marshall defeat was practically administered by the free toss route, Rhoades, the visitors' forward, caging 18 of 30 points earned from the 15-foot mark.

Bucknell and Ursinus proved rather easy picking, but Albright pulled a surprise by taking a 34-14 victory. Washington and Jefferson and Rutgers administered 19-15 and 43-28 defeats, respectively.

After these defeats Lehigh took a brace and for the first time during the season got in some consistent work. Seton Hall, the strong Swarthmore five, and Fordham were easily vanquished, which victories were only marred by dropping the final game to Lafayette.

Review of the Season

LEADING all other sports at Lehigh in regards to success during the year 1920-21 was the Brown and White lacrosse team. Under the direction of the famous coach, William T. O'Neil, a twelve was evolved which not only won the championship of the Southern Division (a feat which has been accomplished frequently by Lehigh teams), but went further than that by meeting Syracuse, the winner of the Northern Division, and winning the undisputed championship of the United States by the defeat of the Syracuse twelve.

The season was undoubtedly one of the most successful ever enjoyed by a Lehigh team. Nine games were played against the best teams in the country, and the team tasted defeat only once—that at the hands of the crack Crescent A. C. professional twelve.

Coach O'Neil had a squad composed of men of some experience and only a few positions were to be filled by new men. He made the most of his opportunity by developing a team which knew the game from beginning to end; was fast, aggressive, and played a smooth, accurate, heady passing game. Under his skillful tutelage an attack was developed which was the despair of opposing aggregations, dealing ruthlessly with the defense of every collegiate team which met the Brown and White. The Lehigh stickmen ran up a total of 53 points against opponents' 13, six of the latter points being scored by the Crescents. It is doubtful whether Lehigh was ever represented by a more formidable, skillful, and clever aggregation than the lacrosse team of 1921.

Seven of the teams on the schedule were collegiate twelves, while the remaining two were professional clubs. Lehigh opened the season against one of the latter, the New York Lacrosse Club, on April 2, and won a closely-contested game. Three weeks later the Crescents, the other non-collegiate aggregation, handed Coach O'Neil's men their only defeat, clearly out-playing the Brown and White in a 6-2 game.

Lehigh had little trouble with the teams comprising the Southern Division, winning all of the games by safe margins. Stevens and Swarthmore furnished the most opposition, but even these were no matches for Coach O'Neil's proteges. Johns Hopkins, the team which had been expected to give Lehigh the hardest fight for the Southern Division honors, was swamped in a deluge of goals and defeated overwhelmingly by a 12-2 score. With the championship of the Southern Colleges safely tucked away, Lehigh challenged Syracuse, winner of the Northern Division, for the United States title. After some discussion, the Crescent A. C. grounds in Brooklyn were agreed upon as the scene for the national title, and on Wednesday, June 8, the Lehigh squad, with a rousing send-off by the entire student body, left for Brooklyn.

Lacrosse

Review of the Season

The game was a thriller from start to finish. The Orange twelve proved a determined and resolute crew and the contest became fast and furious. Lehigh scored once in the first half, and for a long time after that the game continued without a tally. In the second half Lehigh scored twice more, and then an accident, in which Parker, the Brown and White goal keeper, broke his foot, occurred, which forced his retirement from the field. Syracuse profited by this loss and succeeded in scoring once near the end of the game, but Lehigh's sturdy defense prevented further endangering of the Lehigh citadel. The closing whistle found the Lehigh team the lacrosse champions of the United States—the first team to have won the distinction by a deciding engagement between the Southern and Northern winners.

The victorious team received a rousing reception on their return to college. They were feted by the Bethlehem Chamber of Commerce and praised on all sides by alumni, students and townspeople alike. In an otherwise rather poor season for sports at Lehigh, the lacrosse team stood out as the one brilliant aggregation of the year.

The success of the Lehigh lacrosse team in the last two years has been due, in a large measure, to Coach William T. O'Neil. At one time a famous player himself, he knows every trick of the game, and while at Lehigh has proved himself one of the most sagacious and clever coaches in the country. A man with a warm personality and a delightful whole-heartedness, he has become one of the most well-liked men on the campus. Lehigh students hope for his continued presence here as the coach of the Brown and White lacrosse teams.

Review of the Season

PENNSYLVANIA victory over Lehigh, the first victory scored by a Red and Blue team in the history of wrestling relations, closed one of the most unsuccessful seasons that Lehigh has had in several years. Of the seven dual meets participated in Lehigh was victorious in but one, that victory being garnered over the Army by a margin of one point, the score being 16-15.

Coach Sheridan had a great many difficulties to contend with this season, and in the face of these difficulties he did very well with the material with which he had to work. With but three veterans of last year's squad as a nucleus, it was the task of the coach to build up a representative team. But Lehigh seemed to be in hard luck from the beginning, and broken bones, dislocated joints, sprained ankles, pulled tendons and the ever-present "mat-itch" made such inroads in the squad that in practically every meet a new man made his initial appearance on the mat.

Lehigh was unfortunate in getting away to a bad start. The first opponent was the New York A. C., a team composed of amateur stars. The New Yorkers succeeded in taking every bout, the final score being 24-0.

The next meet was with Penn State, and although again forced to bow to defeat the Lehigh matmen showed considerable improvement. The surprise of the meet was the way in which Shoemaker, Lehigh's budding 145-pounder, gained a fall over the veteran Oehrle, of State. The meet ended in a 17 1-2 to 9 1-2 victory for State, although the meet was more closely contested than the score would indicate.

Columbia, who was represented by one of the strongest teams it has had in years, gained the next victory, 15 to 8. Captain Coxe and Schwartzbach scored for Lehigh, Coxe gaining a fall and Schwartzbach a decision. In this meet, Shoemaker pulled a tendon and was forced out of the game until the Penn meet.

A defeat at the hands of the Navy was no surprise for any team. The only regret that Lehigh had was the fact that she failed to score a point and had to bow to a 27-to-0 defeat. The Cornell grapplers proved to be too strong for the Brown and White matmen and succeeded in earning a 17-to-8 victory.

Lehigh gained her first and only victory of the season over the Army grapplers, 16 to 15. Gihon and Captain Coxe gained falls while Warriner and Carlisle earned decisions, thus clinching the meet.

Lehigh and Penn met in their annual clash and for the first time in wrestling relations, which began in 1912, Penn scored a victory. Penn's victory was practically due to ex-Captain Ashby and Captain Pendleton. With the score 13 to 6 in favor of Lehigh, Ashby succeeded in throwing Carlisle in the 175-pound class, and Pendleton won from Moorehouse on decision in the heavyweight class, thus giving Penn the victory by a margin of one point.

1921-1922 Inter-Collegiates

ONCE in every seven years Lehigh stages the Inter-Collegiate Wrestling Championship Matches and the year 1921-1922 happened to be Lehigh's turn to entertain. This was the Eighteenth Annual Inter-Collegiate Meet and proved to be one of the most interesting and keenly contested meets that has ever been staged in collegiate circles.

Cornell University captured the team honors with a total number of nineteen points, at the same time taking three individual titles. Penn State, deposed champion, was runner-up with twelve points. Yale came third with eleven points, and Lehigh beat out Columbia for fourth place by a margin of one point, Lehigh's total being nine and Columbia's eight. Pennsylvania was sixth with three, and Princeton brought up the rear with two.

The preliminary matches started on Friday afternoon, March 24. In all classes competition proved exceptionally keen, very few falls being registered and many of the bouts going into extra periods.

After a strenuous afternoon's work it was found that Cornell and Lehigh had five men in the semi-finals, Penn State and Yale had four, and Columbia, Penn and Princeton had three.

The men to draw byes in the various classes were: 115-pound class, Capt. Watson, State; 125-pound class, Roberts, Cornell; 135-pound class, Gihon, Lehigh; 145-pound class, Rabinowitz, Penn; 158-pound class, Johnson, Columbia; 175-pound class, Wilson, Princeton; unlimited class, Mackay, Yale.

The semi-finals were held on Friday evening, March 24. Each of the teams were well represented, the maximum number of entries being five and the minimum three for any of the teams. When the evening's fun was over it was found that Lehigh and Cornell were again tie for entries in the finals with four apiece. State has succeeded in bringing through three, Yale had two, and Columbia, one. Penn and Princeton failed to place a man in the finals.

When the finals came along on Saturday afternoon, March 25, Lehigh's stocks were pretty high, for she had an equal chance with Cornell of copping team honors, and a better chance than any of the other teams. The four men to represent Lehigh in the finals were Schwartzbach, Warriner, Gihon, and Captain Coxe, 115, 125, 135, and 158-pound candidates, respectively. Lehigh's hopes were short-lived, for in the opening title bout, Schwartzbach lost to Captain Watson, of State, on a fall, in 5 minutes and 24 seconds. Warriner lost to Wallace, Yale, by a 9-minute time decision. Lehigh still had a chance for an individual champion in Capt. Coxe, her greatest hope, and he was on a fair way to accomplishing the feat when he fractured a bone in his foot. He pluckily finished the bout, however, but lost on a decision.

Review of the Season

THE track season at Lehigh included three dual meets, an interclass meet and the Middle States Intercollegiates. Two other meets, scheduled with Delaware College and N. Y. U., were called off. The team, composed largely of young and inexperienced men, met three veteran teams in Muhlenberg, Lafayette, and Rutgers, and were forced to relinquish the laurels to their opponents in each case. Lehigh was only able to make a poor tenth place in the intercollegiates, tying with Haverford. But the team benefitted a good deal in these meets with superior aggregations, and as most of the men were to return next season the experience thus gained will be of material benefit in the future.

Track activities at Lehigh opened with an interclass meet on April 16. Rivalry between the classes ran high, and the outcome of the meet was in doubt until the very last event. Fourteen events were competed in by about fifty-five men. The meet resulted in a tie between the Sophomores, '23, and Freshmen, '24, while the Juniors, '22, and Seniors, '21, finished in order named.

On April 23, the Muhlenberg track and field men came to Taylor Field, along with a deluge of rain, and the meet was run off in a downpour. Lehigh took a slight lead at the start, but Muhlenberg soon caught up and before long were leading the field. Lehigh's points totaled 48, while Muhlenberg's two stars, Captain Klein and Reinartz, just equaled this total between themselves. Muhlenberg's other competitors gathered 16 points, so that the meet ended in a 64-48 victory for the Allentonians.

Lehigh's next opponent was Rutgers, a formidable aggregation carrying with them the championship of the Middle States. The meet was held on May 7, and perfect weather allowed an excellently contested program. Rutgers' veteran team, seven of whom had participated the previous year, was too much for Lehigh, and the Brown and White succumbed to a 74-38 defeat.

The last dual meet of the season saw the rivals from Easton as opponents on Taylor Field. The result of the meet was never questioned, for Lafayette had a group of athletes who were entirely out of Lehigh's class. The Maroon and White won by a 75½-36½ score. Even at that Lehigh was considered to have done very well.

The 1921 Intercollegiates were held at Johns Hopkins on May 14, fourteen colleges competing. Lehigh collected three fourth places for a three-point total, tying with Haverford for tenth place. The meet was won by Rutgers.

Lehigh was also represented in several indoor meets during the year. In the Newark Central High School Meet, February 12, a Lehigh relay team won third place in the M. S. C. A. A. mile relay, Lafayette, Rutgers, Lehigh, N. Y. U. finishing in the order named. In a dual race at the Johns Hopkins indoor meet on February 26, Lehigh lost to Lafayette by two seconds. Lehigh also competed in the M. S. C. A. A. mile relay at the Penn Relays, but failed to place.

Review of the Season

SWIMMING at Lehigh has been one of the most rapidly progressing sports in college. Inaugurated only three years ago, the Brown and White teams have improved so much in the brief period that this year's team was able to win the team championship of the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association by defeating every member of the league which took the water against Lehigh. For the first time in the history of the sport, the Athletic Committee sanctioned the appointment of a coach, and Paul W. Lukens, a former star on the famous Rutgers team, was chosen to fill the position. Lukens proved himself a wise selection, for it was under his expert tutelage and constant work that the men developed that finish and polish which made the team the intercollegiate champions of the year.

The schedule for the 1922 season included six meets, three of which were won, two lost, and one meet cancelled. The two meets which "went by the boards" were the Army and Navy meets, in both of which Lehigh was forced to yield to superior swimming. The three victories were scored over three of the teams in the Eastern Collegiate Association: Hopkins, Rutgers, and Swarthmore. Stevens, also a member of the league, was obliged to cancel their meet.

Lehigh's two defeats were sustained at the beginning of the season. On January 14, Coach Lukens piloted his squad to West Point, where the Army team succeeded in scattering Lehigh's points, and winning by a score of 35-18. The next meet, with the Naval Academy, at Annapolis, likewise resulted in a defeat for the Brown and White team when the crack Navy team swamped their less-experienced opponents under a 49-13 score.

With the two hardest meets of the season behind them, the squad turned their attention to the Eastern Collegiate Association teams. Johns Hopkins was the first to fall, when on February 11, Lehigh visited their pool and nosed out the Hopkins team, 36-35. The meet was closely contested throughout, and not until the final event was concluded was the victory determined. A first place by Captain Van Nort in the last event, the back stroke, tied the score, and a third place by Harmon in the same event won the meet for Lehigh.

Probably the biggest accomplishment of the season was the defeat of the Rutgers natators by a 49-29 score, in Taylor Pool. Showing the best form of the year, the Lehigh swimmers gradually drew ahead of the Scarlet team, and the end of the meet found Lehigh a well-deserved victor.

The intercollegiate meet to decide the individual championships in the various events was held at Lehigh University on March 11. Lehigh succeeded in winning only one title, Harmon winning the 220-yard dash.

The final meet of the season proved easy work for Coach Lukens' proteges, the Brown and White team defeating Swarthmore handily by a 40-13 score.

Swimming Inter-Collegiates

THE Intercollegiate championship swimming races and events, held under the auspices of the Eastern Intercollegiate Swimming Association, to determine individual honors in the various events, took place at Lehigh University on Saturday, March 11, 1922. Representatives of Rutgers, Lehigh, Swarthmore and Johns Hopkins teams competed for places, with Rutgers men taking the majority of individual intercollegiate titles. This did not affect the team championship which had already been awarded to Lehigh by virtue of the fact that the Brown and White aggregation had registered victories over the other three members of the league.

Lehigh came out in the meet with only one man a champion. Herbert Harmon, the freshman swimming flash, won the honors in the 220-yard swim against a formidable field of competitors, doing the eight lengths of the pool in the record-breaking time of 2 minutes 34 4-5 seconds.

Giebel, of Rutgers, was the outstanding star of the meet. He won first places in all three of the events in which he started and probably would have annexed more laurels had the limit of events for one man to enter not been only three races.

Lehigh made a good showing despite the fact that only one champion crown was acquired. In the dives, Childs, a freshman, distinguished himself by beating the veteran, Galbraith, Olympic star and Rutgers' standby, for second place. Baxter, of Swarthmore, took first place with an exceptionally fine exhibition of diving.

In the plunge, Rutgers entered a "dark horse" in the form of Van Stanley. The big Raritan plunger did 68 feet 9 inches, and although Captain-elect Underwood held the pool record for the plunge at 69 feet, he was unable to beat his rival and was forced to take second place.

One of the closest races of the day was the 50-yard breast stroke swim, in which Rowland, of Johns Hopkins, nosed out Gangewere, of Lehigh, by one-fifth of a second. The 100-yard dash was also a sensational event, Giebel just barely beating Harmon at the finish. Captain Jacobs, of Lehigh, fought his way to a tie for fourth place with Rosetti, of Rutgers.

Rutgers managed to win the relay race without much trouble, although a brilliant sprint by Harmon at the finish brought the crowd to its feet with the hopes of a victory. However, the Rutgers lead was too much and Lehigh had to be satisfied with second place.

Results of Intercollegiates

200-yard Relay—Rutgers (Rosetti, Enander, Ross and Giebel), first; Lehigh (Van Nort, Jacobs, Davis and Harmon), second; Swarthmore (Baker, Holmes, Rauk and Crownover), third.

Review of the Season

THE Lehigh netmen got away to a bad start in the first match of the season, losing to Rutgers by a score of 4 to 2. Although defeated, Lehigh put up a very good game and it was quite evident that Lehigh had the material for an excellent team, and all that was needed was a little more development.

Rain and wet grounds played havoc with the schedule for the next few games. Matches with Pennsylvania, the Bethlehem Tennis Association, and Moravian College had to be cancelled. When they finally did get into action it was against Swarthmore, and they suffered their second defeat of the season, 5 to 1. To be beaten by a team of the calibre that represented Swarthmore, however, threw no reflection on the weakness of the Lehigh team, for Swarthmore is rated as one of the "top notchers" in collegiate tennis circles.

On the Southern trip Lehigh split even, taking a 5-to-1 match from Catholic University and dropping a 5-to-1 match to the Navy.

The most glowing feat of the season was the decisive way in which Penn State was defeated. State was completely overwhelmed and Lehigh scored a 6-to-0 victory. In the first of a series of two matches with Lafayette, the match resulted in a 3-to-3 tie.

Lehigh met some strong opposition in Bucknell and suffered a 5-to-1 defeat. Wentz was the only man to score for Lehigh and then the match had to go to three sets. The worst thrashing of the season was administered by Dartmouth, who handed out a shutout.

In the second tilt with Lafayette the Lehigh netmen were determined to annex a victory, but they had to be content with another 3-to-3 tie. Lehigh had little trouble in taking the last match from the Bethlehem Tennis Association by a score of 4 to 2.

Review of the Season

SOCCKER has made rapid strides in the last few years at Lehigh, and this year saw a marked development in the interest and enthusiasm taken in the sport. For the first time a paid coach was obtained, and the results were extremely gratifying. The team reached a tie for first place in the Pennsylvania State League, and besides this honor, the eleven succeeded in defeating Lafayette, a feat sufficient in itself to make the season successful.

The Athletic Committee secured Harry F. Carpenter, an excellent player and a noted referee, as coach, and a squad of about thirty or forty men reported to him at the opening of the season. Seven intercollegiate games were played during the season, three of which were lost, two tied, and two won. Besides these, a number of practice games with local teams were played at intervals during the year, in which the Brown and White team made a good showing.

The Syracuse eleven, on a Southern trip, was the first collegiate aggregation to oppose the Brown and White. The game disclosed a number of weak spots, but in general the playing of the Lehigh team was good, and Syracuse was considered lucky when they tied the score at 2-2. The next week a more formidable rival was met when the team journeyed to Penn State, to play the Nittany eleven. State showed a superior brand of ball and won by a 3-0 score.

On November 26 the first State League game of the season was played when Lehigh met U. of P. on a rain-soaked field at Philadelphia. Despite the fact that Coach Carpenter's men seemed to play a better game, the Quakers succeeded in registering a 2-0 victory. On the following Saturday the team tied Swarthmore by a 1-1 score. Haverford proved an easy victim to Lehigh's superior attack when the Brown and White registered a 3-2 win on Haverford's field.

Returning from the Christmas holidays, the toe artists were pitted against the bitter rivals, Lafayette, on January 7, the game to decide the latter's claim to the championship. A Maroon and White victory meant Lafayette's undisputed right to the State League honors, while a Brown and White victory meant a tie between Lehigh and Swarthmore for first place. Coach Carpenter's men went into the game with a determination to win and a lone tally by Fernandez in the second half gave them the victory. Lafayette was plainly outplayed and only a considerable amount of luck saved them from a worse beating.

With the league honors resting between Swarthmore and Lehigh, the Brown and White journeyed to Haverford to play off the tie. A snow-covered field made playing slow. Swarthmore slipped a fortunate goal past Captain Brewer in the first period and this single tally decided the championship in Swarthmore's favor.

Despite Lehigh's continued and desperate attack, the Garnet maintained an invulnerable defense. Although Lehigh far outplayed them in the second period, Swarthmore concentrated solely on the defense, and the final whistle saw Swarthmore the champion by a single goal.

Founder's Day Sports

THE annual Founder's Day sports between the Freshman and Sophomore classes were held on Wednesday, October 5, 1921, with the Freshmen emerging victorious in all three of the contests. Along with the victories earned by the deserving youngsters also went the privilege of wearing "honest-to-goodness hats" on Sundays in place of the customary "frosh cap."

The victory of the Freshmen marked the return to the usual order of things, for, with one exception, the yearlings have been successful in Founder's Day sports for eight years. The Class of '24 has been the only class to succumb to the class above in that time.

The trio of games—baseball, football and track—uncovered a number of heroes among the Freshmen athletes. The football game was won by the yearlings in the last ten seconds by the accurate toe of Frank Chiles, who booted the ball over the cross-bar for the only score of the game. The baseball game was also won by sensational work when Harwi, the Freshman backstop, and, subsequently, Varsity player at the same position, clouted the ball over the fence for a home run, winning the game for '25.

All-around good work by the members of the Freshman relay team was the final bit in the complete vanquishing of the Sophs. Astarita, Croll, Burke and Cook, the latter running a particularly pretty race, were the Freshmen who made possible the third victory for the "frosh" in a single day.

A new plan, outlined and conducted by the Arcadia, provided for the augmenting of the three-game series by two free-for-all scraps in the forms of a tie-up contest and a pants-tearing fight. These two classics were held on the Saturday following Founder's Day, between the halves of a football game, and furnished a barrel of enjoyment for the spectators as well as a lot of fun for the participants. Both battles were refereed by members of the Arcadia to prevent the activities from approaching manslaughter.

The tie-up contest consisted in letting an equal number of Freshmen and Sophomores loose, each with a length of rope with which to tie an opponent. After much confusion, and after the dust of the battle finally cleared away, the referees decided in favor of the Sophomores. The pants-tearing conflict, a scrap in which the main idea was to divest one's enemy of the most important part of his raiment, resulted in a long dispute when the referees tried to decide whose pants belonged to whom, but the Sophs were finally awarded the verdict. The two class scraps furnished much amusement for all concerned, and it is probable that they will continue to be in vogue next year and maybe many years after.

FACULTY-SOPHOMORE BALL GAME

Interesting Contest Played at night with "Calculus" as Umpire

ONE of the most thrilling games in the history of Lehigh sports was played at the above time and place when, aided by a myriad of spotlights and the excited rooting of the two rival factions, the team representing the Class of '23 crossed bats with the strong Lehigh Faculty Athletic Club.

The Soph team, after a simple diet at Bob Young's, was taken to Central Park by their coach, where amid the glorious works of nature they spent a restful and quiet evening. The whereabouts of the faculty nine was kept secret.

The Staff photographers were exceptionally fortunate in securing this engraving of P. A. Lambert, M. A., P. A., Fellow in the Krutch School of Curves, Guy in the School of Table Manners, Gink in the School of Plumbing, and Janitor in the School for Disabled Piano Tuners. While engaged in the pursuit of Lost Secant Lines and crooked hyperbolas, he always harbored a desire to be a big leaguer. He worked out in Left field with a plow on the Grange Team, and was a pitcher in the Hay league.

Promptly at 9:45 both teams arrived at the field house and commenced dressing for the fray. Thirty minutes later there was an expectant "Ah!" from the audience and the two teams came on the field.

Town, W. Long, Major, U.S.A., who will probably occupy the mound. "Quibbling over the minutiae," the captain insists, "is indicative of a failure to grasp the spirit." It is this attitude of good sportsmanship which makes the lieutenant so popular with the fans. Corporal Long may be relieved by Doc Cobb.

Allow us to present Mister Percy Hughes, A.M., P.M., Ph.D., B.V.D. and S.O.L. as well as N.O.T. He handles a tennis racquet about as well as a giraffe handles a knitting needle. Mister Hughes says his eminence as a athlete came after diligent pursuit of the neighbor's chickens which helped keep his garden well raked. Mister Hughes eats 3 rings of bologna before going to classes each morn. He teaches psychology because he doesn't understand it, as well as those who he tries to explain it to.

"Inty" Calculus, well known in collegiate sporting circles for his unbiased stand for fairness and sportsmanship, was previously engaged to act as umpire. He was, at the time, especially noted for his ability to differentiate between right and wrong in close decisions, and was counted upon to give a creditable performance. A few minutes after the game started it was easy to see that he was showing partiality towards the pedagogical athletes, and he was accordingly warned. This unfair practice was continued till it was more than the men of '23 could stand, so, with a whoop, they pounced upon him and hailed him before the court.

Calculus Cremation

Raymond Walters, who will catch, and his genial smile. Mr. Walters is typical of the clean, two-fisted, fighting American of whom, it is lamentable, one meets so few.

"Bozey" Reiter (left), guardian of the keystone sack. When interviewed recently especially for this publication, "Boze" gave out the following statement concerning his views of the coming struggle :-

"O-o-oh!
possibilities—!"

At the trial the evidence against him was overpowering, and the jury, after very little deliberation, returned a verdict of guilty on the charge of causing excessive Worry and Fear to the Class of '23. The court then sentenced him to die, and he was accordingly burned at the stake.

Note: The drawings in this article were printed in "The Crematorium," a paper printed and sold the night of the Cremation.

What Lots of Others Do

Stude: What do you do with your old clothes?

Second Stude: Well, when I come in at night, I take them off, fold them up and put them over the back of my chair. Then I get up the next morning and put them on again.

—O—

He Stayed Just a Little Late

Stude: I don't think your father likes me much.

Allentown Miss: You misjudge him. The morning after you called on me last week he seemed quite worried that I didn't treat you with the right courtesy.

Stude: Is that right? What did he say?

Allentown Miss: He asked me how I could be so rude as to let you go away without your breakfast.

—O—

Both of Them Busy, Though

Visitor: Is that your daughter playing?

Father: Yes, that's her.

Visitor: She seems to be playing with one hand.

Father: Yes, there's a fellow from Lehigh playing with the other.

—O—

It Paid Him to Get Hurt

"And will I be able to play the piano when my hands heal?" asked the wounded soldier.

"Certainly you will," answered the doctor.

"Gee, that's great!" the soldier exclaimed. "I never could before."

—O—

Yes, Archibald, one calls a man financially embarrassed because he's so shy in his payments.

Could Easily Show Her

Allentown Lass: Would you cheerfully walk five miles for the sake of seeing me?

Lehigh Frosh: Er—well—of course, love.

Allentown Lass: I'm so glad, because I just heard the last car go.

—O—

First Time in History

Prof.: For what was Abraham Lincoln noted?

Stude: For his great memory.

Prof.: What makes you think his memory was so great?

Stude: Because I saw a monument erected to his memory.

—O—

Maybe in the Stables

A young society light who spent his summers in Newport and his winters in New York was visiting some country friends. To show that he knew something about country life, when he was served honey at breakfast, he said:

"Well, I see you keep a bee."

—O—

For Short Notice Only

His Girl: Oh, yes, I see. Something like a kimono, isn't it?

Senior: I think bookkeeping is a healthy job.

Frosh: Whysat?

KEN ANSWER'S QUESTION BOX

I answer all questions, but we don't guarantee the answers. Questions of the love-lorn and ones regarding the quality of "hootch" are my favorites. I test all bootleggers' samples FREE.

—O—

Dear Ken:

Is it advisable to stay up all night on August 31 to see September Morn?
BENNY FITT.

Ans.: Not if you get around in time to see May first.

—O—

Dear Mr. Answer:

My rival for my girl's hand is a physician. Please tell me how to beat him out.

OMAR CAYENNE.

Dear Ansy:

What's the difference between a cold in the head and a car conductor?

Ans.: One stops the nose and the other knows the stops.

Dear Friend Advisor:

My mother told me love is like photography. Why is that?

DUMB BELL.

Ans.: Because it has to be developed in the dark.

—O—

Dear Ken:

What do you call a man who plays the saxophone?

R. O. T. C. INSPECTED

Royal Order of Tin Cans Passes Mustard

At an inspection held last week the local lads made a fine showing when surveyed by General Nuisance and his lemonade, Major Feetsore. After much preliminary work, which included a P-rade by the whole bitalian, and tent tossing by a few expert in this line, the outfit retired to their respective homes for lunch. After a light repast of beans and hardtack, they reassembled, whereupon they succeeded in recapturing South Mountain from the faculty, who have ruled with a tyrant's hand for the last ten years.

FROSH CLASS HOLDS BANQUET

Social Life of Class of '25 Starts Off With a Bang.

Having duly waited till the three other class banquets were successfully held, the Class of '25 decided it was time that they had a meal en masse, as they say.

Accordingly a committee, composed of football players and ex-gunmen, was appointed by the class president. This august group of men chose the time and place for the feed and then the whole class sat back in his place and waited for the opening date.

Reports have it that three attended.

College Dance Big Success

Six and One-half Couples Attend Saturday Night Orgy.

Promptly at seven-thirty (U. S. Bureau of Standards Time) the orchestra struck the opening bar, and we may say that he did remarkably well, considering that at the time Mr. Volstead was among the chap-erones.

Everything went along smoothly during the entire evening till refreshments were served. These consisted of beer and cheese sandwiches, and one girl started a fight because she had been promised a souvenir. She got it.

LEVI AGAIN VICTORIOUS

Layflat Succumbs to B. & W. Warriors

Our friends from down the dirty river certainly were given the surprise of their shady lives when our valiant tiddley-wink team, playing as they never have before, beat them at a best wink match last Friday held at the Colly.

The final score was six goals and one close one for Levi to four goals for Layflat.

Our players, Mars and Jupiter, started throughout the whole match, and from the time the referee tossed the coin it was easy to see the victorious team would be the winner.

MANY COURSES CHANGED

Faculty Takes Radical Step

After a long and stormy session, the austere faculty of Levi College decided to remove from all engineering Circula the course in Integral Calculus, substituting in its place a new and entirely different one called Nothing. This course will consist of sleeping on the bank in front of Packer Hall when the grass is green; at other times the searchers after knowledge will retire to the fireplaces of Drown Hall, arrangements having been made to have these lighted at the times when Calculus classes were formerly held.

Mary and Her Lamb

*Mary had a little lamb;
Its fleece was white as snow.
Everywhere that Mary went
That lamb was sure to go.*

*Mary had a little lamb;
It's fleece was black as jet.
A skeeter bit him on the leg,
And he ain't stop scratchin' yet.*

*Mary had a little lamb;
She put him on the shelf;
Every time he wagged his tail
He spanked his little self.*

*Mary had a little lamb;
She loved it very well.
She gave it a stick of dynamite
And blew it all to—little pieces.*

—O—

Best Thing to Do

'25: "I've got a date with a beautiful girl from Tennessee for the Prom, but I just found out she has a wooden leg. What should I do?"

'23: "Break it off."

—O—

Probably With a Rolling Pin

Husband (proudly)—"I'm king around home, I am!"

Friend—"Yes, I saw your wife crown you last night."

—O—

Joy-riding, Maybe

Nick (seeing friend loading goods into a moving van): "Whatcha doin'? Movin'?"

Nack: "No; taking my furniture for a ride."

—O—

Economics

Prof.: "Who was Homer?"

Stude: "The guy Babe Ruth knocked out."

Same As Two and Three

First Frosh: "If '2 and 1' is shoe polish and '3 and 1' is oil, what's '4 and 1'?"

Second Frosh: "I dunno. What is it?"

First Frosh: "Five!"

—O—

By Negation

A negro patrolman, recently appointed, met a little brown man carrying a little brown jug on the "avenue." The patrolman thumped the jug appraisingly with his club. It sounded "ripe."

"What you-all got there, boy?" he asked suspiciously. "Ain't corn, is it?"

"'Tain't hay," said the little brown man sullenly.

A moment later the zealous negro patrolman was marching the little brown man with the little brown jug down the avenue. They reached the shadow of police headquarters without a word passing between them. Then the little brown man broke the silence.

"Where's this you takin' me, big boy?" he asked. "Ain't jail, is it?"

"'Tain't church," the patrolman snapped.

—O—

Good Little Boy

The boy stood on the burning deck,
Eating peanuts by the peck,
His mother sat on the other side
Selling lemons, two-for-five.

The boy remained on that burning deck,

Eating peanuts by the peck,
The flames rolled up about his chin,
But still he stuck those peanuts in.

The Rubaiyat of a Junior

*We are a Junior,
Even of the Class of 1923.
We are brimming over with College Spirit.
We believe in Chapel rushes
(When it is the other classes
That rush);
We believed in paddling the frosh
When we were a sophomore.
(Now we are opposed to it,
It is a brutal custom);
We believe in a good scrap
Between the lower classes
(When it doesn't cost us anything);
We believe that the sophomore
Should do all in his power
To keep the freshman
In his place.
If he doesn't, he is Yellow.
If he does, he is
A rowdy.
A year ago there was a fight
In our good old town.
It was a good fight—
We enjoyed it;
We forced the freshmen to it.
But—
Some property was destroyed;
That was rowdyism . . .
The fight is long since over.
Everyone had his money's worth.
The frosh have paid up—partly—
Like men.
But we love our college so much
That we decline to pay up,
For that would make people think
That the great Class of 1923
Approved of such rowdyism.
We are a Junior
Brimming over with college spirit:
Hurrah for the old college
And—the almighty dollar—
Money talks,
So let the eagle scream.*

Mc EPIOTM

Hoodoo H. Spose

WO young ladies just home from college met on the street one day. As ladies are prone to do, they started to talk. The first young lady, who had just completed her freshman year at Jessloaf College, exclaimed at once to the other girl: "Oh, do tell me what you did at your party! I'm just dying to know and wish I could have been there!"

The other girl, a sweet young Sophomore from Y-Worrie University, was not dismayed by the task of telling such a long story and began at once.

"We had a wonderful time! Nearly everybody was there. First of all, there was Isabel."

"Isabel who?"

"Isabel Necessary-on-a-bicycle, you know. Then, you know, Fanny was there."

"Fanny who?"

"Fanny Body-asks-u-hoo-i-am, just tell them, you know. Then Polly and Ima came over from Punkville."

"Polly and Ima who?"

"Why, Polly Technic and Ima Rec; you remember them, don't you?"

"Yes. Were the Litt sisters there?"

"You mean Annie Litt and Merican Litt? Sure, they were there. Then there were Joan and Freddie."

"You mean Joan Aford and Freddie Wealgo, who always go around together? Yes, they were there, and Saul and Sara came with them."

"Who are they?"

"Saul Over and Sara Nack. Don't you know them?"

"No, I don't know them. I guess all your old beaux were there; weren't they?"

"You mean the Fishal brothers?"

"Yes, Artie Fishal and Bennie Fishal. And Tommy and Max, too, I guess."

"You mean Tommy Hawk and Max No-difference?"

"Yes. And did Joe and Len get there?"

"Joe Me-a-nickel and Len Me-a-dollar sure were there. They took care of me most the time.

"Well, who else was there that I didn't mention?"

"Well, you didn't mention Jim N. E. Crickets or Ida Kister or Nick Elsworth. Then there was Floss Me-hat, Lena Gainster, Arthur Mometor, Lois Elle, Jack Natural, Nick Ateene, Harry Sburg, Ida Clare, Jim Nastics and Elsie If-i-can-go."

Just as she finished listing her many guests, two young college men approached.

"Good afternoon, girls," the shorter one ventured. Then he turned to the Y-Worrie student and asked, "What's your name?"

"My name's Emma."

Hoodoo H. Spose

"Emma what?"

"Emma Kootenuf," she replied.

"I'll say so. My name's Obidiah."

"Obidiah what?" she asked.

"Obidiah Adore-u," he answered.

Then the tall lad chimed in. "And, fair one, what do they call you?"

"My name's Jemima."

"Jemima what?"

"Jemima Kissin-u. And yours?"

"My name's Archa."

"Archa what?" she asked.

"Archa Gonna-kiss-me?"

"Fresh thing!" she flared.

"Let's go to the movies," Obidiah suggested.

The plan seemed to meet with the approval of all. They entered the theatre and were directed to seats.

"Cicero?" Jemima questioned.

The usher turned. "Pardon me, madam; did you address me?" he said.

"No," she retorted. "I said Cicero We-sit-in."

After the show was over, they left the theatre. When on the street again, Archa turned to Jemima and asked, "Do you know Olga?"

"Olga who?" she bit.

"Olga Home-with-u-if-u-want-me-to."

He did.

They entered her home and went into the parlor. They sat on the sofa and then she turned the lights a little lower. "Do you know Lena?" she queried.

"No. Lena who?"

"Lena Little-closer, dear."

He did.

She Wanted the Security

He: "Will you keep our engagement for the present?"

She: "Yes,—where's the present?"

—o—

Sure Proof

Soph: I'd get married if I could find a sensible girl.

Frosh: I know a nice girl, but I don't think she wants to marry. At least she refused me.

Soph: She must be a sensible girl. Introduce me, will you?

She: "Yes, but don't treat me like a cafeteria and help yourself."

She: "For once, dear, you're right!"

Prof.: What is the difference between pneumonia and ammonia?

Soph.: One comes in chests and the other in bottles.

Professor: So you said that I was a learned jackass, did you?

Freshman: No, sir; I merely remarked that you were a burro of information.

He: Will you marry me?

She: No! A million times, no!

He: Better be economical with that stuff. I might ask you again.

Employer: "Sorry, sir, but we are not in need of any more work just now."
 Stude (looking for summer employment): "But I'm sure that the little work I'd do wouldn't make any difference."

Just Had to Keep Quiet

A "lovely little student" was coming from Allentown on the car one evening when a slightly intoxicated student got on the car. Much vexed, the little lad inquired of the conductor: "Do you allow a drunk on this car?"

The conductor leaned over and whispered in his ear: "It's all right as long as you don't get noisy."

They Turned in Long Ago

He: I think there is something dove-like about you.

She: Oh, really?

He: Yes; you are pigeon-toed.

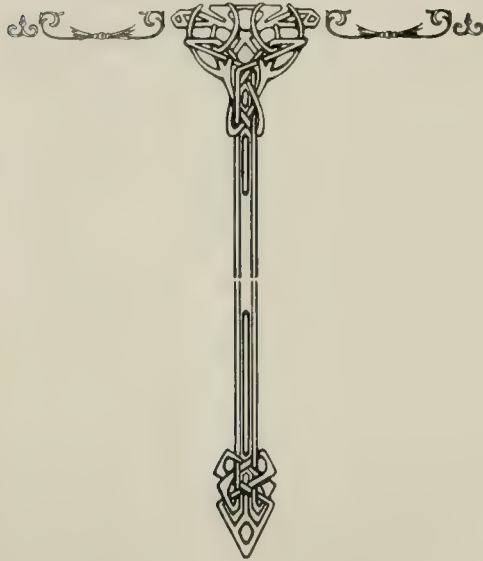

—o—

Maybe It Was Good Advice

Frosh: Is it very serious, Doc?

Doctor: Oh, no; merely a boil on the back of your neck, but I advise you to keep your eye on it.

QUALITY---RELIABILITY

The American Scientific World has come to know that the name Eimer & Amend is synonymous with Quality. The entire efforts of our organization have always been devoted to the practice of two basic principles.

First—To carry enough stock to be able to meet the full requirements of any reasonably large demand and to deliver orders correctly and speedily.

Second—To constantly study the nature of present conditions in order to anticipate the demands of the future. We aim to have a new specialty ready for every new need.

A Gateway to Progress

There it stands—a simple forty-foot gateway but unlike any other in the entire world. Through it have come many of the engineering ideas that have made this an electrical America.

The story of electrical development begins in the Research Laboratories. Here the ruling spirit is one of knowledge—truth—rather than immediate practical results. In this manner are established new theories—tools for future use—which sooner or later find ready application.

The great industries that cluster around Niagara Falls, the electrically driven battleships, the trolley cars and electrified railways that carry millions, the lamps that glow in homes and streets, the household conveniences that have relieved women of drudgery, the labor-saving electrical tools of factories, all owe their existence, partly at least, to the co-ordinated efforts of the thousands who daily stream through this gateway.

No "Freak" Clothes at REED'S—

Our long and intimate acquaintance with men who dress tastefully proves conclusively that they are not attracted by "freak" clothes or garments of "extreme" style—probably the recognition of this important fact is the reason for our success in catering to the requirements of critical and well-informed buyers. We constantly present assortments of Suits, Top Coats and Overcoats that are of the character, style and appearance that forcefully appeal to all well-dressed men. They are moderately priced at $30 and upward and are splendid examples of good value.

Safety Treads

Approximately 15,000 people are killed in the United States each year by falls. The economic waste from this source is over $140,000,000.

About one third of the "Falls" are preventable by the use of safety treads.

The selection of the type of Safety Tread is important.

Treads with a series of grooves parallel to the nosing edge, that are porous, that corrode readily, that have names falsely giving the impression of safety features not possessed, should be avoided.

Be sure the Safety Tread YOU adopt is SAFE; that it is not a germ incubator, absorbent, easily stained; that it has no eye-confusing and heel catching grooves; and that it does not deteriorate on account of corrosion.

Consider FERALUN, ALUMALUN and BRONZALUN treads.
